You Ask: 'What Is News?'
Religion Can Stand It.
Beheading William.
75,000,000 Rings a Year.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

PICKING up a newspaper you ask yourself, "What really IS news?" for instance, that the very Rev. Dean Inge said it may be necessary for the countries of Europe "to combine to draw Shylock's teeth." Shylock is Uncle Sam, who modestly asks Europe to pay part of a ten-billion-dollar debt of honor.

BRITISH clergymen unite to repudiate Dean Inge's statement, and say they like us. That is hardly news.

Our British friends tried the tooth-pulling process in 1776, when Uncle Sam was small; again in 1812. They are probably too kind-hearted to try it again.

That's not important news, except to dogs. A vaccine that would keep dogs from going mad and biting children would be more valuable.

AN Englishman with all of his stomach removed is back at work with "the upper part of his small intestine stitched to the gullet." The digestive glands were left in, so he digests and lives.

WHAT we need in this prosperous country is something to digest all the food we put into our stomachs. Learn from the stomachless Briton that is is important to take care of your digestive glands. Don't tire them out with irregular eating.

MARSHAL FOCH, his courage conquering illness, is out of bed, enjoying the sight of the French people that he loves. That's important news, for if unselfish patriotism and ability constitute greatness, Foch is a great man.

PROF. BARNES told scientists gathered in New York that men must change their concept of God. Now he tells Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborne, head of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and Cardinal Hayes, who rebuked him, and all clergy in general, that religion is out of date, hinders the progress of civilization and is "primitive and superstitious."

IN addition, this professor who teaches history at Smith College says the ten commandments need revision and orthodox religion increases human suffering, being based on "fears and superstitions which obviously have not the slightest scientific validity, but terrorize countless millions."

NEVERTHELESS churches will be open next Sunday and religion will continue to rule the world long after Prof. Barnes travels on beyond, to learn, perhaps, more than he knows now.

FOR two hundred years, William of Orange had stood on College Green in Dublin, on his war horse. Sometimes the Irish Nationalists pulled the statue down and battered it. Then the statue was put up again.

The other day Irish Republicans blew William up with dynamite. While it was being repaired, young Irishmen broke into the repair shop, cut off the statue's head and took it away. It will never be erected again.

THAT'S a pity. Irishmen of all kinds should keep in Dublin a statue of good old William, if only to remind them that when Ireland lost the battle of the Boyne, it was William, a Dutchman, that led the English and an English king, commanding the Irish, that ran away while the Irish were still fighting.

THIS is the day of mass production. The Muskegon Piston Ring Company has orders from the Chevrolet Company for 60,000 rings a day, another order for 100,000 rings a day to supply old model T Ford cars, of which 8,000,000 are still running, and 90,000 rings a day for new Fords and Fordsons. That means 250,000 piston rings a day, more than 75,000,000 a year.

SOME people laughed when Henry Ford said he meant to build 10,000 automobiles. Automobile makers said he would ruin the business, destroying its credit by such extravagant statements. He has since made 15,000,000 cars.

DR. LITTLE, head of the University of Michigan, one of the youngest American university presidents, resigns.

He advocated a "sane form of birth control," didn't want students to use motor cars, objected to an alleged blacklist of the Daughters of the American Revolution that probably would have kept Franklin, Jefferson and surely Tom Paine from addressing the daughters.

Dr. Little will find a job somewhere else—perhaps farther West.

THAT vigorous "little girl," Texas Guinan of the night clubs, has beaten cruel Uncle Sam's effort to prove that she conspired to defeat the Prohibition law. Thirty others arrested and accused are also released, and will live to dispense liquid refreshment another day.

IT IS easy for detectives to get evidence if they have public money to spend getting it. But it seems difficult to convince a judge and jury.

City to Renew Lakes-Canal Fight

COURT AIDS WATERWAY PROJECT

Pittsburgh's canal route to the lakes is now the main stem in Herbert Hoover's proposed internal waterways system, Pittsburgh business men will testify at a hearing before the Board of United States Engineers in Washington soon after Hoover takes office.

A decision of the United States Supreme Court, January 14, denying further diversion of water from Lake Michigan through the Chicago drainage canal, has completely upset the Mississippi-to-the-Lakes canal project via the Illinois River, it was stated Tuesday, and the Ohio River route remains the only practicable outlet from the St. Lawrence watershed.

"With additional data favoring our route and the fact that the Supreme Court has effectually blocked the Mississippi project, enable Pittsburgh to present its strongest case supporting our [illegible] canal system," said William H. Stevenson, chairman of the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal Board.

OUTLOOK NEVER BETTER

"For more than a year we have been gathering new data and this will be in shape for presentation within a few weeks. Pittsburgh businessmen realize now that, from a practical and economic standpoint, the Ohio River-Lake Erie route is unchallenged. Never before has there been a brighter outlook for this inland waterway to the lakes."

According to present plans, a hearing will be arranged in April or May when manufacturers, mining interests and shippers from the entire Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio region would be represented.

Action of the Supreme Court so suddenly blasting the hopes of the builders of the Mississippi-to-the-Lakes Canal came unexpectedly, Chicago waterway advocates, discounting the comparatively small material work to be done in completing the project, had announced that "within two years the whistles of the boats

MR. AND MRS. LOUIS IGOU

FREE ELOPERS ON BAIL

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Igou, of Mingo Junction, O., spent their first night of married life in the Central Police Station.

At the request of the bride's mother, Mrs. Fred Heaton, who telegraphed city detectives, the newly-weds were arrested by City Detective A. M. Maloney as they alighted from a train in the Pennsylvania Station late last night. They told detectives they were married by a minister in Cumberland, W. Va., displaying a marriage certificate which, they said, had been issued a short time before.

Magistrate A. D. Brandon in Morals Court today held the couple over until tomorrow to give the girl's mother opportunity to appear.

"I'll put up $20 bail, Judge, if you'll let us get a little fresh air and see the sights," said the bridegroom.

Brandon granted the request and both were released.

Igou, a millworker, had been boarding at the home of the girl's parents, 153 Ravine street, and became infatuated with their daughter, Edna Heaton, 17. While her parents were attending the funeral of Mrs. Heaton's brother at Chester, W. Va., yesterday, the couple packed up and boarded a train for New Cumberland, 15 miles away.

Edna, a slender brunette was lodged in the matron's department where she cried herself to sleep while Louis paced a cell two floors below.

CITY MAY GET MORE OFFICES

Reports that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company were planning to center their executive activities in Pittsburgh were revived today.

At the East Pittsburgh plant of the Westinghouse Company it was stated that the recent comment of the president, E. M. Herr, that Pittsburgh always had been the "Westinghouse home and in the future would be more so," would indicate that the report bore considerable truth. The announcement that A. W. Robertson, new chairman of the Westinghouse Board of Directors, would make his office in Pittsburgh for the present is also taken as a similar indication.

That the Pennsylvania would transfer its employes back from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh was emphatically denied by local officials of the line. It was stated that such a move would be contrary to all the plans of the last five years. Those employes who were transferred to Philadelphia from Pittsburgh two years ago, officials informed, were only temporary employes of this region.

Squire Jailed For East Deer Election Fraud

Justice of the Peace John J. Gill and Gustave Patz, of East Deer Township, were sentenced to serve 60 days to one year in the county jail today, after they had pleaded no defense to charges of election law conspiracy in Criminal Court. The conspiracy charges against their wives were dropped.

The defendants were accused of altering ballots in the township election of November, 1927, so that the candidates for commissioners on the Citizens ticket were defeated for the candidates favored by Gill and Patz.

Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk reported that some 60 ballots were changed. Subsequent court order reinstated the rightful winners.

"This is one of the most contemptible crimes that could be committed," Visiting Judge John H. McCann, of Cambria County, scored the defendants in pronouncing sentence.

3 Public Service Officers Confirmed

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22—(AP.)—William D. B. Ainey, Montrose, chairman, and two members of the Public Service Commission, S. Ray Shelby, of Uniontown, and Charles H. Young, of New Castle, were confirmed by the State Senate today. The date of their appointment and their terms are Ainey, July 1, 1927, for 10 years; Shelby, July 1, 1928, for 10 years; Young, July 1, 1927, for four years. Ainey and Young are holdovers, having been reappointed by Gov. Fisher. Commissioner Young was chosen to succeed the late John Lammey Stuart.

Question Mark Trip Resumed Today

MIDLAND, Tex., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—With the return of Capt. Ira Eaker from San Angelo today the Army monoplane Question Mark will resume its flight from San Diego to Washington by way of Dallas, Shreveport and Montgomery, Ala. Capt. Eaker was expected to arrive early after a visit at the bedside of his sick father, where he went yesterday, being too late to attend his mother's funeral at Eden, Tex. The plane was forced down here in a heavy fog, narrowly missing a fence.

RAIN COMING TONIGHT, WARMER AFTER SNOW

The snowstorm which swept in from the southwest shortly after noon today is to be followed tonight by rising temperature and rain, according to the weather bureau.

Three inches of snow had fallen at 3 p. m.

The rain, probably light, will be followed by much colder weather Wednesday afternoon and night. Sub-zero temperatures were reported today from the far Northwest.

It is unlikely that the predicted rain will swell the falling rivers, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said. The stage at the Point this morning was 18.7 feet, a drop of nearly five feet from the crest of the secondary rise, 22.2 feet, Sunday noon.

RACKETEER TRIALS CALLED

The first of the "racketeer" cases, indictments for which were made in District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner's recent graft probe, were listed to start in Criminal Court today.

The first two trials to be called were those of George Burnside, charged with maintaining gambling devices, and Michael Crowley and Harry Klein, indicted together on a similar charge.

Assistant District Attorney Earl Jackson was charged with the prosecution.

Alfred W. Forney, alleged head of the slot machine "racket" in the city, is to be called upon to plead before Judge James B. Drew, Saturday.

FACES 15 COUNTS

Forney, who Sunday morning ended a six-month sentence in the county jail, faces a 15-count indictment returned by the probing grand jury. Forty-nine other persons indicted by the grand jury have been notified to appear and plead on Saturday. They failed to appear last week when 141 others pleaded guilty to various charges.

MEYERS CASE DELAYED

The absence of witness and the sickness of one of the defendants resulted in the case of Mickey, Tom, Sam and Joe Meyers being postponed by Alderman Thomas Jones yesterday. They are charged with conspiracy to violate the dry laws. The postponement was made until Monday. The case of Michael DeRosa, Jr., of the East End, also was postponed.

Senator Cleared in "Indian Conspiracy"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—The Senate Indian Affairs Committee today adopted a resolution absolving Senator Pine (Rep.), of Oklahoma, and two Department of Justice officials of charges they entered a conspiracy to "ruin" Charles Burke, Commissioner of Indian Affairs.

Burke made the charges during the committee's investigation of the alleged dissipation of the fortune of Jackson Barnett, Creek Indian.

Dole Flight Winner To Try for Record

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Jan. 22.—(INS.)—Martin Jensen, Dole prize flier, was preparing today to take off at dawn tomorrow in a Bellanca monoplane in an attempt to set a new endurance record for solo flying. If he is successful in bettering the 36-hour mark, Jensen will make a solo effort to beat the 64-hour record set by two German pilots.

Foch "Much Better," On Way to Recovery

PARIS, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Marshal Ferdinand Foch has successfully fought off attacks on his heart and kidneys and today seemed well on the road to recovery, his three physicians stated. His condition was held as "very much better." No further bulletins are likely until Thursday.

Dr. Scarlett Named By Pa. Episcopalians

Sun-Telegraph Offers Auto Show Prizes

When you attend the Auto Show enter the big cash prize contest being conducted by the Sun-Telegraph in co-operation with many of the show exhibitors.

Everyone has an equal chance to win. Make your visit to the show a doubly profitable one.

PEABODY 'HI' GIRLS MISSING

The girls, all close friends, left their homes Friday, three presumably bound for school. Since then they have not been seen by their parents, relatives or girl friends.

MAY BE STAGE-STRUCK

A slender clue held by police is that the missing girls may have been lured from their homes by the promise of a theatrical career. An alleged showman is sought, detectives said.

The three schoolgirls are Estelle Hartnett, 16, 4911 Brown's way; Alice Coleman, 17, 338 Princeton place, and Mildred Spahr, 15, 212 North Negley avenue. The fourth is Patti Evans, 17, 338 Princeton place.

SPAHR GIRL DANCER

Louis E. Spahr, brother of Mildred, said his sister was a dancer and had hopes of some day going on the stage.

A classmate of the missing girls, police reported, claims that about a month ago she overheard the four girls talking of going away.

The theory that the stage may have lured the girls, police said, is based on the fact that they were known to have been offered positions by a man who at times loafed in a small store near the school, and represented himself as a theatrical promoter.

Pleads Guilty in Embezzlement

Charles W. Weisman, 35, pleaded guilty in Criminal Court today to taking $13,000 from the Potter Title and Trust Company in whose real estate department he was employed.

Weisman was charged with embezzlement, counterfeiting and forgery over a period of eight years. It was alleged that he obtained the money by the use of fake repair bills.

In what appeared to be a plea for mercy, Weisman began to tell Judge James B. Drew that his wife was sick, but the jurist stopped him and ordered him remanded to jail for later sentence.

Evan Fontaine Suing Whitney for $1,000,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—"Sonny" Whitney, also known as Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, millionaire clubman, and Evan Burrows Fontaine, are squaring off in the courts again. Supreme Court Justice Glennon today set Thursday for arguments in a resumption of the oriental dancer's $1,000,000 suit over the paternity of her child. Her suit has been defeated in the courts before.

Penna. Asks Hoover To Call Congress

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—A resolution urging President-elect Herbert Hoover to call a special session of Congress for the enactment of upward revisions of the tariff was dispatched to Washington today by the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

VARE'S ILLNESS CHECKED BY REED VOTE PROBERS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The alleged political activity of Senator-elect William S. Vare via the telephone from his invalid chair in Florida to Philadelphia, relative to the dispute over the presidency of the Municipal Court, today was a subject of investigation by the Reed Senate Committee.

The committee wishes to determine whether these reputed conversations are in contradiction to the state of Mr. Vare's health as reported to that body a short time ago.

Mr. Vare's physician recently informed the Reed committee Vare was too ill to take any part in the fight over his seat in the Senate, challenged by William B. Wilson, Democratic opponent.

Yesterday the committee sent John J. McGrain, deputy sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, to Philadelphia with subpenas for witnesses.

Mr. Vare is said to have made an unsuccessful attempt to prevent the election of Charles L. Brown as presiding judge over Judge Leopold Glass.

Divorced

GLORIA GOULD BISHOP

JR. VANDERBILT, GLORIA GOULD END FEUD

RENO, Nev., Jan. 22.—(INS.)—Some 75 years ago, while warring for control of railroads, a rift developed between the paternal heads of the Vanderbilt and Gould families that was broken here for the first time yesterday by members of each family.

Gloria Gould Bishop, daughter of George Jay Gould, was in court to receive her final divorce decree from Henry A. Bishop, Jr., of New York City.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., came into the court as a visitor and was introduced to Mrs. Bishop by Judge George A. Bartlett just before he granted Mrs. Bishop her divorce.

BRIEF TALK AMIABLE

Vanderbilt and Mrs. Bishop had a brief but amiable talk before Judge Bartlett beckoned Mrs. Bishop to follow him into the chambers where the divorce was granted.

In commenting on the introduction, Judge Bartlett said:

"I took it upon myself to end the feud just for the fun of the thing. There was no sense, as far as I could see, of the two families prolonging a quarrel that began years and years ago."

GLORIA GETS DIVORCE

Mrs. Bishop was awarded her divorce decree on the grounds of cruelty. Her complaint recited that Bishop had subjected her to insulting language, and that on one occasion he grabbed her by the neck and shook her. The complaint said they separated a short time after the latter incident.

The Bishops were married in 1923. Mrs. Bishop was awarded custody of their three and half year-old daughter. No alimony was asked.

Chilean Betrothed To N. Y. Heiress

LONDON, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—Application for a marriage license was filed today by Meraud Guinness, 24-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Guinness, multi-millionaire society family of New York and London, and Senor Alvaro Guevara, a 35-year-old Chilean artist. Mrs. Guinness is one of London's most prominent society hostesses.

County Building Site Razing Contract Let

To make way for the new county office building, the commissioners today awarded W. J. Payne, Jr., a contract at $7,080 to tear down the building on the McSwigan property, the Curry building and the old South School in Ross street.

STRUCK BY TROLLEY IN OHIO STORM

BELLEVUE, O., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—At least 17 persons were killed and a number of others injured when a westbound Lake Shore electric interurban car crashed into an eastbound Pittsburgh-Chicago bus of the Greyhound Company in a blinding snowstorm a mile and a half east of here this afternoon.

All the dead were in the bus, which was demolished when struck in the center by the electric car. The driver, who escaped injury, was believed to have been blinded by the snowstorm and failed to see the approaching car.

WRECK PINS BODIES

Four ambulances, all available here, were sent to the scene of the crash and began taking the dead and injured to the morgue and Bellevue Hospital. The bus was so completely smashed that an unknown number of bodies still were pinned underneath the wreckage two hours after the tragedy.

The interurban car hurdled on top of the bus, which was knocked into a ditch by the crossing.

None of the passengers on the interurban car was seriously injured, according to first reports. All available city officers went to aid in extracting those under the wreckage.

LEFT CHICAGO FOR HERE

The carrier left Chicago at 10 o'clock last night with passengers for Cleveland and Pittsburgh. Passengers for Pittsburgh were to change coaches at Cleveland.

Bellevue police announced that the coach driver's name was believed to be Butler.

At the Bellevue undertaking establishment to which the bodies were taken, it was said 15 to 20 bodies were expected.

FOUR WOMEN DEAD

Of the known dead, four were women and 13 were men.

It was reported that the death toll was likely to reach 21.

New Inquiry Asked Into Death in Cell

Council has received another letter asking that an investigation, other than that of the police, be made into the death of Charles B. Dunmire, or "Donameyer," in Central Police Station on New Year's Day. Council received another letter from Fred R. Kleibacker, indicating that he was not satisfied with the report made by police. Mr. Kleibacker was the first to request an investigation. Dunmire was picked up downtown and taken to the police station pending removal to Mayview. Several hours later he died from pneumonia, physicians said.

Thrill-Seeking Students Plead Guilty in Holdup

Three Wilkinsburg youths, scions of prominent families, who today in Criminal Court pleaded guilty to charges of robbery and felonious assault and battery, turned "bandits" for a thrill, without any desire for money, Judge Josiah Cohen was told. The judge deferred sentence until Monday.

The youths were: Frank Osborn, 20, 1519 Foliage street, who admitted taking part in one robbery, and George Taylor, 20, 1305 Singer place, and Richard Phifer, 19, 1318 Wood street, implicated in four robberies. All were listed as students.

The boys have been in jail since about November 20, when they were captured, and bail was not sought for them so that they might be punished, the court was informed.

Fathers of the defendants, who expressed the belief that the youths are contrite, were joined by scores of prominent residents of Wilkinsburg and Pittsburgh, in asking leniency of the court.

The three defendants pleaded guilty to the robbery of $35 from Harry Strahl, taxicab driver, on Laketon road, Wilkinsburg, October 31, near Strahl's home.

5,000 LETTERS OFFER IDEAS IN TEMPERANCE CONTEST

GIVE HIGH PRAISE TO HEARST

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—More than 5,000 letters received to date was the instantaneous and national response received by the Hearst newspapers to the $25,000 prize offer of William Randolph Hearst for the best plan to achieve temperance in the United States.

In the words of the donor of the prize, it is offered "for the best plan to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and substitute in place of prohibition a more liberal and more American measure, which will secure for the public more genuine temperance, with less offensive interference with the fundamental rights and personal liberties of the citizen."

The seven simple rules of the contest and full details concerning the $25,000 offer will be sent to any reader of this newspaper upon receipt of a request to the Temperance Contest Editor. No person should attempt to enter the contest without reading the rules.

The best of the replies received in each of the cities where the Harst newspapers are published will be submitted to the contest committee of eminent American citizens. The personnel of this committee will be announced at an early date.

Meanwhile many prominent citizens have sent words of commendation to the Hearst newspapers, praising the contest as a worthwhile attempt to obtain a practical solution of the temperance problem. Some of these comments follow:

Mitchell May

Mitchell May, Supreme Court justice, Brooklyn, said:

"I think Mr. Hearst's action is splendid. I do not think the plan which won the previous prize is of any practical value in solving the prohibition question in our country. If every other man in the United States declared himself a snooper and a busybody, there still would not be enough men to enforce the measure. There are too many ways in which the Eighteenth Amendment may be twisted and changed to avoid violating it. I believe the solution lies in the amendment itself, and in this I agree with Mr. Hearst."

Dr. Charles Norris

Dr. Charles Norris, chief medical examiner of New York City, said:

"I thoroughly agree with Mr. Hearst that prohibition cannot be enforced and believe that some sound measure that will not interfere with the fundamental liberties of the American people should be substituted.

"My attitude toward prohibition is that it has brought on a condition that is a serious actual public health menace.

"If people will drink——and they cannot be stopped—let them drink something decent. If you close the speakeasies, what do you get? Substitute places for obtaining poorer liquor.

"Call it what you will, new alcohol is no good, and is just as bad as the wood alcohol that causes blindness and death.

"Prohibition should be kept out of politics. Mr. Hearst's suggestion and plan, and the interest created by the prize, will do much to bring the question out into the open where it can be discussed and some remedy for the situation found."

James J. Byrne

James J. Byrne, Borough president of Brooklyn, said:

"I am of the opinion the average citizen of the United States is convinced that this law cannot be enforced for the reason that the people do not want it enforced. The majority of our people believe in temperance, but they do not confuse temperance with prohibition. I cannot, of course, make predictions as to the effect which this question will have on the political future of this country. This would be to assume that the Prohibition question is the predominating question in the minds of the people. I doubt if this is so.

"If it should become so, however, I have no hesitation in declaring my belief, which is strictly in accord with that of Mr. Hearst, that the vast majority of people in the United States will declare for a modification of the present Prohibition law, substituting temperance for 'tee-totalers.'"

Dr. James Empringham

"It is not possible to coerce the people into a way of living. Such attempts will only have the effect of driving people to seek means of evading that coercion.

"The Church Temperance Society has long been aware of this, and it is working in a direct line with the opinion outlined by Mr. Hearst. While I and practically all the members of this society are total abstainers, we do not believe that to do as Christ did—to make wine—is a sin. Furthermore, it is utterly wrong to make a sin where there is no sin. The present Prohibition law will never be a success."

Curran Says Contest Is A Service To Nation

BY MAJ. HENRY H. CURRAN,

President of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. Former President, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

Mr. Hearst is doing a great service to his country in stimulating through his prize contest ideas for a plan to rid our Constitution of an extraneous intrusion and to restore true temperance in the United States. He has recognized, not only that prohibition can never promote temperance, but the existing prohibition conditions being utterly intolerable, it is important to take steps at once toward formulating a plan to take the place of the un-American Eighteenth Amendment and Volstead law. Intelligent and informed Americans will agree with Mr. Hearst's able summary of the evils of prohibition. He has outstripped them in calling for an immediate, definite substitute for the legal travesties that are responsible for all our prohibition ills.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment has expressed as one of its chief aims almost exactly what Mr. Hearst now demands as a practical accomplishment. In a resolution adopted by our directors early last year it was set forth that "in place of Federal prohibition, we demand the installation, by the states, of a method of controlled and restricted distribution which will prevent the exploitation of the liquor traffic for unconscionable profits, and not only do away with prevailing speakeasies and secret drinking, but prevent the reappearance of the old unregulated saloon system and the political iniquities which accompanied it.

In constructing such a method, we shall make a vigorous, exhaustive and deliberate study of the many present and past methods of regulating the liquor traffic in all parts of the world in order to formulate well-considered plans for regulation of such traffic within the several states. During this study we shall ask advice from as great a part of the American people as possible, in order that our recommendations may achieve a high degree of helpfulness in the interest of temperance in the use of intoxicating liquor as a beverage, as well as temperance in the restriction, by local government, of the liberty of the individual to that end.

We have just appropriated for the coming year $100,000 to press research for temperance truth in this country and throughout the world. Already our researchers are beginning to dig up, here and abroad, valuable data that may well prove fundamental in any such plan as Mr. Hearst is demanding. We shall be glad to aid Mr. Hearst or anyone working upon the plans for prohibition substitutes for which he calls.

IL DUCE AND HIS COUNTERPART

ONE IS MUSSOLINI, THE OTHER A NEW YORK BARBER!

Here are Benito Mussoclin, premier of Italy, and his counterpart, Frank Valentino, who is also known as Saverio Della Sicilia, a barber who owns his little shop at 584 Amsterdam avenue, New York City. Il Duce, in far-off Rome, has been annoyed because Frank has posed for news and movie pictures as the "Mussolini of New York," and so Italian diplomats in this country have warned Frank to quit his "insulting posing." Frank replies that he cannot help it if he were created in the image of the great Duce. Benito's at the right, Frank at the left.

SCHOOL RUM SELLERS JAILED

LEWISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The sale of intoxicating liquor to college and high school students was brought to the attention of Judges Albert W. Johnson and J. Warren Davis, in the United States District Court, which continued its session today.

Four defendants charged with violating the prohibition laws were sentenced after testimony was heard which reviewed the sale of beer and whisky to students of Bucknell University and Sunbury High School.

Mrs. Susie Felker, of Northumberland, charged with supplying liquor to Bucknell students, was fined $100 after a plea for clemency emphasized the fact that she is the sole support of two children.

F. P. Kennedy and Charles Moyer, of Sunbury, charged with selling liquor to high school students, were sentenced to serve 15 days in the county jail and the third of the trio, James Rodenbush, alleged proprietor of the place about which the high school principal complained, was to be sentenced today.

Among the other cases included in the 15 involving violations of the dry law was that of Albert Visintiner, Mt. Carmel councilman, who was sentenced to 30 days in jail as a second offender.

CARNEGIE TRIO ACQUITTED

Justice of the Peace A. M. McMillen, his constable, G. W. Archart, and Chief of Police, C. H. Keisling, of Carnegie were ordered acquitted by Visiting Judge John H. McCann in Criminal Court today on charges of larceny and assault and battery preferred by Attorney H. C. A. Hofacker, of Corapolis.

Hofacker alleged that he was attacked by Keisling and Arehart at McMillen's direction, last October 13, in McMillen's office when they forcibly took a receipt from him. The defense averred that the receipt belonged to McMillen.

STATE CABINET TALE DENIED

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—There is no basis to the reports that Secretary of Highways James L. Stuart and Mrs. E. S. H. McCauley, of Beaver, secretary of welfare, will be asked to resign, Gov. Fisher said today.

"I have heard rumors that Secretaries McCauley and Stuart are to withdraw from the administration cabinet," said the Governor. "There is no basis to these reports."

1-MAN CAR BILL PRESENTED

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Prohibition of the operation of street cars by crews of less than two men, a motorman and conductor, is the aim of a bill introduced in the House today by Representative John J. Hefferon, of Luzerne. A penalty of a $100 fine is provided for violation of this measure which would be enforced by the Public Service Commission.

Coolidge Would Keep Radio Board Year

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—President Coolidge favors extending the life of the Federal Radio Commission for one year, beginning March 15, it was said at the White House today. Only one commissioner, O. H. Caldwell, has notified the President he wants to retire. Mr. Coolidge assumes the other commissioners will be willing to continue another year. Legislation to continue the commission is now before Congress.

BANK MESSENGER HUNT, CLUES LACKING, WIDENS

The search for Harold Graham, 19, missing bank messenger, widened today as detectives admitted they had made no progress.

The circumstances surrounding his disappearance Thursday and his description were broadcast from coast to coast.

Although a "mystery note" purported to have been left in a taxicab early last Friday by a man resembling Graham, who alighted at the Sharpsburg Bridge, would indicate the youth had jumped into the Allegheny River, no orders had been issued up until a late hour today to have the stream dragged.

MYSTERY PHONE CALL

The note, telephoned to Louise Browne, 50, Mellon Bank personnel director, 1419 Euclid avenue, with whom Graham made his home, was purported to have been a farewell message addressed to "Peggy," a nickname for Margaret B. Sill, freshman at Margaret Morrison School, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and a friend of Graham. So far neither the note nor the mysterious informant, who claimed to be a cab driver, have been discovered by police.

GIRLS PUZZLED

Graham spent Thursday evening with Eleanor Schneider, 18, of 7462 Penfield Court, Wilkinsburg. He also had an engagement to attend the theater Friday night with Miss Sill in celebration of his birthday. Neither girl could shed any light on his absence.

Officials at the Mellon National Bank where Graham was employed said his affairs were in excellent order.

RENEW FIGHT FOR CANAL

from New Orleans will be heard in the harbor of Chicago."

It was planned to divert sufficient water from Lake Michigan to make a nine-foot channel in the Chicago drainage canal and the Illinois River, connecting directly with the Mississippi and giving uninterrupted navigation to the gulf.

HELD NOT AUTHORIZED

The Supreme Court holds that Congress never authorized the diversion of the waters of Lake Michigan at Chicago and this is the question pased upon in the decision. The Court holds that some flow from the lakes "may be necessary" to keep up navigation in the Chicago river which is really a part of the port of Chicago, but that this amount would be negligible.

Chairman Stevenson recalled that the Mississippi-to-the-Lakes canal had been regarded as the connecting link in the Hoover mammoth waterway project. In their report of surveys between Ohio river points and Lake Erie, United States engineers eliminated all routes except that of the Ohio River and Lake Erie canal. It was declared to be practicable to build, but cast doubt on the "economic value" of the waterway.

"The industrial potentialities of a canal to Lake Erie are almost unlimited," said Chairman Stevenson. "Equitable rates on lake cargo coal for this district would be adjusted automatically and this constant strife about rates, the expenditure of vast sums of money in contesting discriminatory tariffs and the recurring upheavals of labor in the coal industry would be minimized. Our steel industry continues to suffer from discriminatory freight rates, and this condition would be corrected."

Steel Worker Hurt In Foundry Dies

Nick Yankovich, 42, of 184 Thirty-fourth street, a laborer employed at the American Steel Foundries, Thirty-sixth street, died at St. Francis Hospital today as the result of injuries received while at work. He was struck by a piece of steel. He suffered a fractured hip and internal injuries. Death was reported due to shock following the injuries.

Red Coats Coming On Hunters—Maybe

This will be the cry of the embattled farmers of Pennsylvania if a bill presented by E. B. Goehring, Pittsburgh, is approved.

The bill would require all hunters to wear red coats and red caps in order to reduce the fatalities of the hunting season.

ESCAPES FROM 70-MILE TRAIN

DUBOIS, Pa., Jan. 22.—Paul Olaf Narseljeuljee, a giant Polander, en route from Pittsburgh to Montreal, Canada, for deportation, escaped from United States Immigration Officer W. H. Marshall, early today, by leaping, it is believed, from a B., R. & P. passenger train traveling 70 miles an hour, between Sykesville and Dubois.

With three other prisoners in the custody of Mr. Marshall, he left Pittsburgh at 10:30 Monday night. Near Sykesville Narseljeuljee asked permission to go to the rear of the car. When he did not return in a reasonable time, Marshall investigated. The train was inspected, and Dubois police were summoned to meet the train upon its arrival here. It was believed the alien had slipped through the trap door in the vestibule and would be found clinging to the handrails. He was not there when police searched the train and yards.

Oklahoma Governor Out; Lieut. Gov. In

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—W. J. Holloway, lieutenant governor, is acting chief executive of Oklahoma today pending Gov. Henry S. Johnston's impeachment trial, January 28. Gov. Johnston was suspended from office late yesterday when charges of general incompetency and misappropriation of funds were filed in the Senate.

Explosion Sinks Steamer

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The Italian steamer Archangelo sank at her pier yesterday after an explosion in her cargo of caustic soda and carbide. The cargo was burning when the vessel arrived here.

FLORIDA FOLKS GREET HOOVER

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT-ELECT HOOVER TO MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 22.—President-elect Hoover was warmly greeted today as his special train sped down the east coast of Florida toward Miami Beach, where he plans a month's work and play.

The first stop was at Jacksonville before daylight this morning. At Melbourne and at Vero Beach the station platform was lined with people, but the special only slowed down slightly.

A five-minute operating stop was made at Fort Pierce where there was another crowd.

Gen. Vivian Collins, adjutant general of the state, boarded the train at St. Augustine early this morning and officially welcomed Mr. Hoover to the state on behalf of Gov. Doyle Carlton.

Family of 6 Found Unconscious in Home

BELLAIRE, O., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Neighbors today broke into the home of Louis Snyder and found Snyder, his wife and four children, all under 10 years of age, unconscious from gas fumes. The father and two daughters remained unconscious several hours and physicians believed they would die. The family had been in bed since Sunday night.

State Tuberculosis Hospitals Crowded

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22.—Twelve hundred applicants are awaiting admission to state tuberculosis hospitals, it was stated here today in connection with a budget recommendation that $100,000,000 be appropriated for new buildings at such institutions.

PRESENT CLEAN BALLOT BILLS

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—A series of eight bills—three in the Senate and five in the House—will be introduced today, backed by the Pennsylvania Elections Association, to tighten existing laws governing fraud at elections.

One of the bills makes it mandatory upon Courts of Quarter Sessions in second and third class counties to designate central places for the deposit of election boxes after each primary and election. The bill proposes to do away with tampering with the boxes.

Opening of ballot boxes where fraud is suspected would be made still easier under the provisions of another of the bills, an amendment to one passed at the last session. Boxes under the bill could be opened upon petition of three qualified voters of the county, city, town, township or election district. The law now in effect requires petition from either residents of the district in which fraud is alleged to have occurred or of a contiguous district.

More Prosecutors In County Proposed

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22.—Representative Joseph C. Marcus has presented a bill increasing the number of assistant district attorneys in Allegheny County from 12 to 16 and increasing their salaries, which now range from $3,200 to $6,500. The new schedule would range from $4,500 to $7,500.

U. S. Ate 880,000,000 'Hot Dogs' Last Year

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The Packers' and Sausage Manufacturers' Association announces that 880,000,000 "hot dogs" were eaten last year. End to end, they would have surrounded the earth 16 times.

HAROLD GRAHAM

Harold Graham, 20, bank messenger, who disappeared last Thursday night, leaving in a taxicab a note to "Peggy."

SHARPSBURG BRIDGE, PURPORTED LAST PLACE GRAHAM WAS SEEN

On Sharpsburg Bridge, over the Allegheny River, Harold is purported to have been seen last on Thursday. Graham is said to have discharged a taxicab on the bridge and the driver is said to have phoned the bank personnel director of his disappearance and of the note.

ELEANOR SCHNEIDER

With Miss Schneider, 18, 7462 Penfield court, Graham spent last Thursday evening, city detectives have learned in their search.

"Peggy—I Love You"

MARGARET "PEGGY" SILL

Miss Margaret B. Sill, 17, Peabody High School graduate and Carnegie Tech freshman student of 5862 Burchfield street, Squirrel Hill, is the "Peggy" who inspired the note: "Peggy—I love you. Goodby—Harold."

WAYNESBURG COLLEGE GIRLS WILL DRESS AS MEN ESCORTS

HILDUR MORTENSON

Waynesburg College co-eds have decided to get along without boys at the annual prom this year—they resent the boys rushing "outsiders," 'tis said. Here Miss Mortenson, chairman of the decoration committee, gets ready for the big affair.

LUCILLE RIDGWAY

CO-EDS' OWN POSTER!

EDITH LINDQUIST DITZY LAIDLEY

Girls will appear in male costume and act as escorts! Miss Laidley and Miss Lindquist make a a "charming couple." Miss Ditzy wears her brother's "tux."

GIRLS BAR BOYS AT COLLEGE DANCE

WAYNESBURG, Jan. 22.—If you can't get along with the boys—get along without them!

This, apparently, is just what the girls of Waynesburg College have decided to do. This year's co-ed "prom" will be strictly "girl." There will not be a man in the place other than those in the orchestra.

Half of the girls who will attend the "prom" will appear in male costume and act as the escorts of the evening.

The decision of the girls to get along without the boys is explained by members of the Alpha Gamma Theta sorority as a desire on their part to "put across" something new.

Man Hit by Auto, Seriously Injured

Hit by an automobile at Duquesne Junction late yesterday, John A. Schower, of Texas avenue, Duquesne annex, suffered injuries which were considered serious today by physicians in the Homestead Hospital. Schower's skull is believed to be fractured. Daniel Staisey, of North Duquesne avenue, Duquesne, the driver, was released on his own recognizance.

Boston City Editor Dies of Heart Attack

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—William Leonard Dougherty, city editor of the Boston Advertiser, one of the best known newspapermen in New England, died unexpectedly of a heart attack at his home in Watertown today. He was 50 years old and a graduate of Exeter and Yale, class of 1905. Besides his widow, he leaves a daughter, Mona, 10, and a son, William A., 5.

Error in Report Of Suit Corrected

A suit for divorce, on the ground of desertion, has been brought by Mrs. Sarah Y. Heinz against C. S. Heinz.

Through a regrettable error, which the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph made yesterday in two late editions, it was stated in the paper that Mr. Heinz had brought the suit. Mrs. Heinz is the complainant.

Three in Family Saved in Fire By Pet Dog

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 22.—Three members of a South Brownsville family today owe their lives to a faithful black pet dog. The canine scratched on the arm of its master, Charles Goss, to warn him that the house was on fire.

Goss, his wife and son fled in their night clothing, while firemen stood by and watched the place go up in flames because of the lack of water supply.

Damage was estimated at $5,000 including $100 in cash.

B. & O. DAMAGE SUITS SHIFTED

Five suits against the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, with claims for damages aggregating $135,000, were transferred from Common Pleas Court to United States District Court today on petition of the defendant by reason of its status as an interstate corporation.

Four of the suits grew out of a collision between a train and an automobile at the Third street crossing, Braddock, January 3. Joseph Tomko asks $50,000 for the death of his minor child, Anna Tomko; I. N. Hummel asks $15,000 for his minor child, Irene, and $10,000 for himself, as a result of her injuries; James Sohak, $10,000, and Julius Shogan $10,000. The fifth suit, filed by Fred J. Kiefer, asks $30,000 for injuries suffered in a derailment at Ravenrock, January 3.

$140,000 ASKED FOR HOSPITAL

Furnishings for eight of the new buildings at the City Home and Hospital would cost $140,000, according to a letter submitted to Council by Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the Welfare Department.

Funds for the furnishings are available in bond sale proceeds, according to Mrs. Rauh, who explained she had cut the institution's requests from $145,000.

Distribution of the original requests follow: doctor's cottage, $2,848.10; apartment for staff employes, $5,542.75; two dormitories, $22,437.78; two homes for nurses, $28,281.72; attendants' building, $72,555.38; infirmary, $13,622.25.

Farm Hand Slayer To Plead Insanity

CANTON, O., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Edward Kaltenbaugh, 21, farm hand, charged with slaying John Oser, Canal Fulton dairyman, and his wife, Bertha, 28, will contend that he was insane when his trial is called February 18, his counsel has let it be known.

The man who is accused of slaying his employer and Mrs. Oser because he wanted their automobile to impress a girl friend, was arraigned yesterday on charges of first degree murder and he entered a plea of not guilty. Two alienists, Dr. C. G. Hyde, Massillon State Hospital, and Dr. John O'Brien, Canton, examined the youth yesterday.

WOMEN WIN ALL DAY'S "I'M THE GUY PRIZES"

I'M THE GUY starts off today on the second week of judging wise cracks!

And if the bright, snappy answers continue to pile up as they have, I'M THE GUY will have an awful headache and will have to continue doing without sleep.

I'M THE GUY found Monday's mail bag chuck full of some of the cleverest letters and telegrams he has ever received. He and his many assistants spent all day yesterday and most of last night looking each one over carefully and trying to do the almost impossible task of picking the best six wise-cracks from the floor of clever answers.

FIVE DOLLAR WINNER

"I'M THE GUY that knows no OTHER can take the place of mOTHER."—By Mrs. Nellie Sabosky, Karns City, Pa.

ONE DOLLAR WINNERS

"I'M THE GUY that put the ACHE in green peACHES."—By Mrs. S. M. Rosenthal, 929 Lilac street.

"I'M THE GUY who made an OAR out of a bOARD."—By Eleanor Beymer, 820 Penn avenue. . . .

"I'M THE GUY who told the CUR to watch his TAIL or I would have to CURTAIL it."—By Mrs. A. J. Martin, 1200 Maple avenue, Turtle Creek.

"I'M THE GUY who does lots of OWING when borrOWING." — By Rose Goodside, 1231 Fifth avenue.

"I'M THE GUY who reduced the poliCEMAN to an ICEMAN."—By Fern Freeman, 233 Aisworth street.

No—I'M THE GUY is NOT favoring the girls. But he does admit that in Monday's mail their answers deserve the prizes. It's up to the men to show I'M THE GUY they're just as clever as the so-called weaker sex. Perhaps tomorrow's prize winners will tell another story. We'll see!

Writing I'M THE GUY wisecracks is easy. Try a couple now and mail them to I'M THE GUY Editor, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh.

Everyone has an equal chance to win. The names of the winners are published each day in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

GIRL, 9, IN COMA AFTER BEING STRUCK BY AUTO

A 9-year-old girl, able only to whisper her name, "Margaret Domino," was believed dying in the Presbyterian Hospital this afternoon from a crushed chest, suffered when she was run over by an automobile at Ridge avenue and Fulton street at noon.

The girl lapsed into unconsciousness before she could tell hospital attendants where she lived.

She was believed on her way home from school when she was struck by a car driven by Milton Geisinger, 29, of 376 American avenue, Bellevue.

He was arrested, charged with reckless driving, and was being held at the North Side Police Station.

Street Car Company Proposes New Loop

The Pittsburgh Railways Company has asked Council for permission to construct curve tracks at Loretta street and Greenfield avenue, Loretta street and Murray avenue, and Murray avenue and Hazelwood avenue. The company proposes to construct a loop that will eliminate a "Y" switch which adds to traffic congestion, it was stated.

Child's Bank Among Loot of Robbers

Jimmying a side window in the home of Grover C. Williams, 1236 Brushton avenue, thieves carried away a child's bank containing $4 and clothing and jewelry valued at $400 yesterday afternoon. Williams discovered the robbery when he returned home last night and notified police at the Frankstown avenue station.

WOUNDED 'PEN' GUARD TO LIVE

Stabbed by a prisoner at the Western Penitentiary, T. W. Kidd, 47, a guard at the prison, was reported out of danger today at the prison hospital. John Graham, 38, the Negro prisoner who ran amuck in a corridor of the prison was shot and killed by one of three guards with whom he fought.

B. J. Gerstlauer, 39, and O. Donahue, 39, guards, were cut slightly by Graham. The Negro was insane when he ran amuck, Deputy Warden W. E. Rucker said. T. R. Fisher, another guard, shot the prisoner who attempted to kill his captors, the report states.

Bust of Hamilton Is Found Buried

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The bust of Alexander Hamilton, which was taken from its place in the Hall of Fame at New York University, is back on its pedestal today. It was found buried in a vacant lot near the university campus by a newspaper reporter who had received a letter signed "Homo," directing him where to dig for it.

Campus gossip said it was taken as a prank by university students.

VOTE MACHINE BILL READY

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—Senator Frank J. Harris said this afternoon that he will introduce the voting machine enabling law as soon as it is returned to him by Gov. John S. Fisher, who is studying the measure.

The bill, which has the support of the Pennsylvania Elections Association is expected to have the aid of the Fisher administration in its drive through the Legislature.

It will provide, unless changed, that voting machines must be installed in any county, borough, city or township on petition of 1 per cent of the voters who took part in the preceding election. If such a petition is presented, the County Commissioners must install the machines. If they fail to do so, the state will install them, charging the bill to the county.

County Commissioners, councils or similar bodies will be authorized to have the machines installed without the necessity of a petition from 1 per cent of the voters.

All of the ballot boxes in Allegheny County, now kept in the office of the nearest alderman or justice of the peace, will be stored in a central place, under the terms of a bill to be introduced by Harris. His bill applies to Allegheny, Lackawanna, Luzerne and Westmoreland counties. Boxes already are stored in a central depository in Philadelphia. All unused ballots and other election forms would have to be preserved for one year, another Harris bill rules. A third Harris bill would permit any citizen, under proper safeguards, to inspect election records and obtain certified copies on payment of a system of fees outlined in the bill. All of the bills are sponsored by the Pennsylvania Elections Association.

The adjournment of the Senate today made certain that the voting machine bill will not be introduced before next week.

SUN-TELEGRAPH CARRIER BOYS PROUD OF EARNINGS

No dissatisfied boys will be found among those who sell the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph evenings and Sundays in Trafford City. They are so well pleased with their earnings and working conditions that every last one of them has turned a deaf ear to the blandishments with which they have been tempted to drop the Sun-Telegraph, which they handle exclusively, of the Pittsburgh evening and Sunday papers, and sell another paper instead.

Like scores of other youngsters who have been questioned as to how they like handling the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, the Trafford lads answered that they had no complaint of any sort to make.

Working after school, selling papers on the street and delivering copies to subscribers on carriers' routes, they make enough money to help their mothers with household expenses, to pay for their clothes and fun, and have some left over to put in the bank. Nearly all have savings accounts in school banks.

Eight boys average $3.50 a week wages, plus the profits from the sale of papers.

Little Clair Detrick, 8, of 433 Cavitt avenue, a third grade school boy, stated he had $23 in the bank, which he had saved from his earnings by selling papers after school.

Johnnie Marshall, 15, of 757 Seventh street, makes $4 a week.

Ronald Marshall, 17, of Gilmore avenue, averages from $5.50 to $6 a week delivering papers to subscribers. Ronald is saving money to buy an automobile, with which he hopes to get the job of carrying mail from the train to the post-office.

The Trafford boys are served by the Trafford News Company, on Fifth street, of which Paul Detrick is manager. They are loyal to Detrick and said they intended to sell more Sun-Telegraphs than ever before.

FORMER LOCAL GIRL SOLOIST

Charlotte Griffith Ryan, Metropolitan Opera soprano, former Pittsburgh choir girl, will be the feature soloist and Eugene Goossens will conduct the third concert of the Pittsburgh Symphony Society in Syria Mosque February 3. Mr. Goossens, conductor of the Rochester Philharmonic Society, frequently has appeared in Pittsburgh.

"Rhythmic Dance," one of Mr. Goossens' own compositions, will be a feature of the program.

The program for the concert, though not complete, will include Mendelssohn's "Italian Symphony," a group of short numbers including "Andante Teneramente," by Hanson, "On the Steppes," by Borodin and Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Caprice Espagnol."

N. Y. Aims to Keep Aged in Own Homes

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—A charity project, designed to keep aged couples united and in their own homes instead of being maintained in separate institutions, is to be inaugrated by New York City.

John T. Eagan, executive secretary of the Board of Child Welfare, is preparing data, and legislation is pending at Albany to bring the reform into being.

Council to Take Up Tax Rebate Bill

The Councilmanic Finance Committee, today, will consider a resolution exonerating Edwin M. Hill and E. Bruce Hill from payment of $1,229.87 taxes for 1928 on property at Twenty-eighth and Railroad streets, Sixth Ward. The property assessment of $196,200 has been reduced to $163,500 by a court order, it was stated.

South Side Saloon Raided, Three Held

Three men were arrested and homebrew valued at $500 and a gallon of moonshine were reported seized when prohibition agents raided a saloon at 503 Climax street yesterday. George Kohleck, 42; John Koller, 61, and Peter Schon, 35, were arrested and released on bail bonds, according to the raiders.

GIRLS ORDER DINNER, THEN AID BANDITS HOLDUP CAFE

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—Memories of "Ida the Goose," and other of the New York underworld skirted characters were revived today as police searched for two pretty girl bandits.

The girls, one a plump redhead and the other a trim brunette, aided three men companions in holding up a restaurant. The red-haired girl entered the restaurant and helped her henchmen take $285 in cash and two gold watches from the guests. The brunette also entered the place with the party, but returned to the street, where she got behind the wheel of a green roadster and acted as a "lookout."

The bandits entered the restaurant, took a table, placed their orders, drew guns and then held up the place.

They fled in a rain of bullets fired by two patrolmen.

Guards to Carry Coal to Boats Held in Ice

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Jan. 22.—(INS.)—Capt. William Preston, of the coast guard station here, today was organizing a crew to carry two tons of coal and provisions to the crews of the Bertha G. and C. J. Bos, two stranded local fish tugs, held in the ice.

The coal will be trucked to within a few hundred feet of the shore. The coast guard men will take canvas bags holding 75 pounds on their backs and trudge over the ice field to the boats.

The rough snow and ice makes sledding impossible.

14 QUAKES ROCK ALASKA

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Residents of Fairbanks and vicinity were slowly recovering their composure after experiencing a terrifying four hours during which the city was shaken by 14 earthquakes. The damage was slight.

Quakes also were felt at Anchorage, Cordova, Nenana and Curry.

Many clocks here were stopped by the first temblor, which continued for several minutes. A heavy rumbling in the earth added to the terror of residents, most of whom rushed into the streets.

Many Reported Dead In Quake in China

PEKING, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Chinese newspapers today said that many persons had been killed in an earthquake on Sunday in Suiyufan, north of the great wall in Shansi province. Buildings collapsed and railroad tracks were destroyed.

Weather Conditions.

A low pressure area of marked intensity and extent is now centered over the central plains, lowest barometer, 29.54 inches, at Wichita. It is producing cloudy weather from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic coast, and rain, sleet and snow from the central plains to the Appalachian Mountains. It has also caused a marked rise in temperature over the central and southern plains and throughout the central valleys.

High barometer has developed over the Canadian Northwest and projects southward over Montana and the Dakotas to Wyoming. It is causing much colder weather throughout its area. This high will follow the rainstorm eastward, causing much colder weather over the Plains states and eastward over the Ohio Valley states by Wednesday night or Thursday.

Two $10,000-Year Secretaries For Hoover

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Herbert Hoover will have two $10,000-a-year private secretaries when he becomes President, if Congress approves.

In reporting the independent offices appropriation bill yesterday, the Senate Appropriations Committee added $10,000 for the salary of an additional private secretary.

The present White House staff consists of Everett Sanders, private secretary, with a salary of $10,000 a year, and Edward T. Clark, and Stuart Crawford, assistants, with smaller salaries.

That's how we stay slender"

LUCKY STRIKE "IT'S TOASTED" CIGARETTES
Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.

EVERY woman who fears overweight finds keen interest in new-day and common-sense ways to keep a slender, fashionable figure. Overweight must be avoided. "Better to light a Lucky whenever you crave fattening sweets."
Toasting does it. Toasting develops and improves the flavor of the world's finest tobaccos. Lucky Strike satisfies the longing for things that make you fat, without interfering with a normal appetite for healthful foods. That's why Luckies are good to smoke. Toasting makes Lucky Strike the healthy cigarette for you to smoke.
Many men who carefully watch their health discovered this years ago. They know that Luckies steady their nerves and do not slow up their physical vigor—prominent athletes have gone on record that this is so. They know that 20,679 physicians have stated that Luckies are less irritating to the throat than other cigarettes.
A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—
"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

Germs Are Here With Winter Ills
This laxative that tastes like candy, protects health.
DOCTORS tell us that many winter ills, including the "flu", could be avoided if the body were kept free from intestinal poisons that ravage resistance. Mothers know this, too. They keep Ex-Lax on hand.
Children love Ex-Lax. It tastes like candy. It is chocolate treated with a tasteless, non-habit-forming laxative agent that relieves constipation, sweeps poisons from the body, and so protects good health.
And Ex-Lax is as delightfully effective in adult cases. Without griping or upsetting the stomach it brings grateful relief. Ask your druggist for Ex-Lax and keep it always on hand. Three sizes, 10c, 25c and 50c.

Sleep-Sleep
One good night of sleep will go a long way to repair the inroads of time and disease. Make certain that you do not take dope. You will find Wheeler's Nerve Vita-Lixer is a dopeless, safe treatment for sleeplessness. It does not contain Alcohol, Chloral, Morphine or any harmful or habit-forming drug. It acts directly on the nervous system—causes sleep—relieves nerve spells. Sold at drug stores at $1.10 a bottle, but if you will send your name and address with 10 cents for packing to J. W. Brant Co., Dept. 72, Albion, Mich., they will send you a large sample bottle free. It works wonders.

For Rent
IT'S time now to pick your new home. Don't put this important matter off. Moving time will soon be here. While there is yet time, choose the location, the house and the rent that will be most satisfactory. You will find a long list to choose from in today's Classified Section.

WAR ON SMOKE TO BE TOPIC OF CLUB SESSION

H. B. Meller, superintendent of the Bureau of Smoke Regulation, is to address a group meeting at the Congress of Women's Clubs tomorrow afternoon, as part of the campaign of education in the war on smoke.

Efforts also are being made to have a speaker from the Bureau of Mines address the Allegheny County Federation of Women's Clubs to be held Friday at the Congress of Clubs.

These talks are being arranged by Mrs. Charles Watkins, chairman of the speakers' committee of the recently formed Smoke Abatement League.

Civic and social organizations here, aroused to the necessity of smoke elimination, formed the league.

One of the objects of the league, Mrs. Watkins said, was to educate housewives in the proper handling of fuel. While natural gas is smokeless, she pointed out its high cost except for kitchen and laundry. Oil requires special equipment and if improperly fired, produces smoke and a disagreeable odor, she said. With a good draft and frequent firing, she said, bituminous coal can be burned with the minimum of smoke and coke, with care in handling, is smokeless.

The purpose of the league is to co-operate with the Bureau of Smoke Regulation and the Mellon Institute in the anti-smoke campaign. Leaders of the movement believe there should be a constant effort to keep smoke abatement before the public. All clubs and organizations interested in the problem are asked to get in touch with the league at 1501 Peoples Bank Building.

N. Y. TAKES SPEED-LIMIT OFF CARS IN TIMES SQ.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—Mayor James J. Walker and many theatrical producers today congratulated Police Commissioner Grover Whalen upon the success of his plan to unravel the traffic congestion in the Times Square area and enable theatergoers to start for the theater after instead of before dinner.

With Whalen in charge the plan was tried out for the first time last night on what once were the most congested streets in the world. It was said that cars moved through the theater zone twice as fast as previously.

Whalen's plan eliminates all right and left turns in the theatrical district, prohibits commercial vehicles, restricts parking and makes it necessary for empty cabs to keep moving.

The first jay-walkers were arrested and dismissed in night courts. Parked automobiles were towed to police stations where their owners were handed summonses. A no-speed limit was in effect for vehicular traffic. Under the new "stagger" plan, musical shows began at 8:30 p. m. and other plays at 9:50 p. m.

Y. W. C. A. DRIVE, SHORT $10,000, CONTINUED

Falling short of their objective by less than $10,000, team workers in the annual budget appeal of the Young Women's Christian Association of Pittsburgh, at a dinner meeting in the Central Branch building in Chatham street, voted to continue their efforts toward obtaining the full $135,000 by Friday afternoon.

With $85,417 pledged as result of a week's solicitation throughout the city, additional subscriptions totaling $39,641.67 were reported last night, bringing the grand total to $125,059.32. The report included subscriptions from the Center Avenue Branch of $1,190 and the Business and Professional Women of $1,022. The special gifts committee, through Mrs. John R. McCune, chairman, reported $21,900.

Mrs. Walter S. Mitchell, general chairman of the budget committee, presided. Dr. A. E. Robinson, pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, asked the invocation. Community singing was led by Will Davis. The final meeting will be held at 3:20 p. m. Friday at International Institute, Forbes and Atwood streets.

Electric Engineers Will Convene Here

The midwinter conference of the Association of Iron and Steel Electrical Engineers will be held in the William Penn Hotel tomorrow and Thursday. Martin J. Conway is chairman. Addresses will be delivered by leading engineers of the country on various features of combustion engineering.

4 CITY BANKS IN NATION'S FIRST 100

Four Pittsburgh institutions are on the list of the nation's 100 largest banks. Three of these are Mellon institutions.

The list compiled by the American Banker shows that the Mellon National Bank, largest of the Pittsburgh group, stands thirty-seventh on the list with total deposits of $157,082,112.

The Union Trust Company is forty-third from the top with the deposits of $141,946,388. The First National Bank at Pittsburgh is in seventy-seventh place with $74,539,138 in deposits. The Farmers Deposit National Bank with deposits of $61,812,551 is number 94.

The table shows that two banks are in the billion dollar class. The National City Bank of New York tops the list with $1,349,024,386 while the Chase National is a close second with $1,126,781,646.

The dominant banking organizations are divided between New York and Chicago. These cities claim all of the first 16 banks except two. These are the Bank of Italy of San Francisco which is number five and the First National of Boston which is number 11.

Former Dry Raider, Fugitive, Captured

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Jan. 22.—Edward Rowe, former Tuscarawas County dry raider, fugitive since he was indicted by the Federal grand jury at Cleveland January 28, 1927, for raiding John Amistadis' home near Dover, after three alleged ineffectual attempts to secure money from Amistadis, was captured at Cadiz by Police Chief Martin Myers, of Dennison, O., and will be taken to Cleveland today.

Orphan Boys Flee Like Huck Finn, Nearly Drown

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 22.—Charles Gatrill, 16, and George Lisc, 14, inmates of an orphanage near Warren, O., emulating Huckleberry Finn following their escape, were thrown into the icy water and nearly drowned at Edenburg, a few miles west of this city, when a raft they had made and on which they had started down the Mahoning River was crashed against an island.

County Detective William G Fleming took them in charge and held them until H. W. Olds superintendent of the orphanage, came and took them back.

Fight Over 25c Bread Costs Man $70

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 22.—A quarrel over 25 cents worth of bread resulted in Frank Belinsky, of Eldersville, paying a fine of $20 and costs totaling more than $50.

Belinsky sent his little girl to the store of John Hanson, at Eldersville, for $1 worth of bread and lard. She returned with lard only. Belinsky became incensed when Hanson would not substitute bread for a part of the lard and is said to have tried to attack him with a hammer.

Your Corn Comes Off in 3 Minutes

Without the Slightest Pain

There's a new, marvelously easy way to end a corn or callous—you can do it in only 3 minutes.

Just get a 50 cent bottle of Shur-Off of May Drug Company Stores, or of any other good druggist; wet your corn with it. Immediately all pain and soreness stop. Then after two minutes you can remove the corn or callous—root and all.

Doesn't hurt a bit; positively won't make your foot sore. Instead Shur-Off takes out the soreness and pain and you can walk, work and play in comfort. Get rid of that corn or callous today. Get a bottle of Shur-Off now.

Famous Recipe For Stopping a Severe Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, soothes away the inflammation, and loosens the germ-laden phlegm. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

SUCCESS . .
Surpassing All Records* in motor car history

THERE is no gainsaying the tremendous popularity of the new De Soto Six. The public has heaped upon this magnificent Chrysler-built six a record of success without precedent or parallel in the industry.

From August 4—when the first announcement was made—to December 31, more than 35,000 De Soto Sixes were built and shipped from the factory, and demand is insistently calling for more.

Thus De Soto Six comes to its first automobile show with a record of success never before attained by any new car in its initial five months of production. Again, the public pays eager tribute to the beauty, comfort, performance and value that only Chrysler can give in a car so moderately priced.

MAGISTRATES' PAY INCREASE PROPOSED

A 100 per cent increase in the salaries of six police magistrates and a 50 per cent incerase for the other two is authorized in an ordinance to be considered today by the Councilmanic Finance Committee.

Six of the magistrates now receive $3,000 a year while those sitting in Traffic Court and Morals' Court are paid $4,000. The ordinance proposed yesterday would fix the salaries for all uniformly at $6,000 annually.

The measure was presented by Robert Garland, chairman of the Finance Committee, who, automatically, is credited with all ordinances involving expenditure of funds. The bill is believed to have been drawn at the request of the magistrates.

The ordinance is expected to get scant consideration, at least until Council determines a policy on a proposal to increase salaries of employes receiving less than $2,040 a year.

None of the sitting magistrates would be eligible for the increase as the ordinance states the boost would apply to magistrates appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by Council after passage of the ordinance.

In the remote eventuality that the ordinance would pass, it is generally considered unlikely that any of the present "judges" would resign and risk appointment and confirmation in the face of a recent case.

'HEX' DISCUSSED BY PITT MAN

Dr. J. F. L. Raschen, theologist, head of the department of modern languages at the University of Pittsburgh, discussed "hexing" and its origin yesterday in an address before members of the Hungry Club at their weekly luncheon in the Fort Pitt Hotel.

"What one group may accept as Divine, another regards as superstitious belief," he said. "One group ridicules another for its sincere faith in what they regard as Divine, and this is the line of demarcation between religious faith and superstitious belief. Until we get a bit of common sense and teach our children the control of fear, we will still be potential witchcraft believers," the speaker said.

P. & L. E. Asks Action On Street Widening

J. B. Yohe, vice president of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company, has sent Council a letter requesting prompt action on the proposed widening of West Carson street.

The company owns property on the northerly side of West Carson street from Smithfield street to the city line at Chartiers Creek, the letter stated, and contemplates improvements running into millions of dollars, on which immediate begining is delayed until Council makes a decision on the widening proposal.

Statesmen Expected At McKinley Dinner

Prominent statesmen from Washington are expected to attend the twenty-seventh annual McKinley Day dinner in the William Penn Hotel next Tuesday night. County Commissioner E. V. Babcock has been in Washington for several days arranging for speakers. The dinner will not only mark the anniversary of McKinley's birth, but will memorialize the recent death of the club's founder, Edward H. Swindell.

At a meeting of the Pittsburgh Clearing House Association held on the seventeenth day of January, 1929, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

The Pittsburgh Clearing House Association profoundly regrets that it is called upon to record the death of one of its outstanding members.

By a formal resolution, it hereby declares that few men have made a more wholesome impression on this community from the time he first became a part of it.

He had native talent which instinctively fitted him for large affairs.

Through wide experience and devotion to every duty that confronted him he equipped himself for that splendid service which added distinction to his name in the financial world, where his foresight and industry impressed themselves from day to day upon his contemporaries.

Success was the goal for which he strove, and sincerity was the mainspring of every act that marked his life.

He was blessed with a personality that made his companionship one of the rare pleasures of a lifetime.

He was never colorless, never commonplace, but always a vigorous figure that imparted the spirit of confidence to those about him.

His influence will long survive his presence in our councils.

As the years went by, as he surmounted obstacle after obstacle, they left no frown, but beneath his silver hairs there was a wholesome smile that told the world that the spirit of youth was preserved in the mature man that he was.

It was fitting that amidst his work he fell upon the hillside where his head was pillowed by the fallen leaves—out there where he was that day dreaming and doing for the boyhood of America.

His departure deprives us of the cherished companionship of one for whom we had mingled admiration and affection.

9:00 P. M.—Eveready hour.

"EVANGELINE."

"Evangeline," gentle heroine of Longfellow's classic poem, will be the subject of the program.

Fashioned on the play based on Longfellow's poem and written by Thomas W. Broadhurst, the presentation will unfold the love of Evangeline, the young Acadian maiden, for Gabriel, their separation during the forced exile of Acadians from Grand Pre, their wandering through the southern United States in search of Gabriel, and their final reunion in Philadelphia at the hour of Gabriel's death.

Rosaline Green, the Eveready hour's leading lady, will enact the role of Evangeline, with Reginald Barlow as the narrator, reading Longfellow's verse between the four episodes, in explanation of the intervening action. Others in the cast will include Frederick Forrester, Ed Thompson, Richard Abbott, Jack McBryde and Marcella Shields.

The musical setting for the program will be provided by the orchestra, under the guidance of its conductor, Nathaniel Shilkret.

—by conquering the usual cause—too much acid—or as doctors call it—"acidosis."

ACIDINE, the most powerful known enemy to acid, kills toxic acid at its source in the stomach and kidneys and literally strangles it, relieving you from further damage from its relentless ravages.

IF ACIDINE FAILS TO RELIEVE INDIGESTION and its results—gas, sourness, sleeplessness and sick headache in the quietest, most soothing and immediate manner you have ever known, every penny you have paid will be refunded by your druggist.

IF ACIDINE FAILS TO PREVENT COLDS AND THE FLU, or fails to relieve them within twenty-four hours, then back goes every penny you have paid.

IF ACIDINE FAILS TO RELIEVE RHEUMATISM WITHIN THIRTY DAYS when taken after meals as directed, then your druggist will cheerfully refund the cost of the trial.

A cure all you may say? No indeed, just one of the latest scientific discoveries of a famous research laboratory. ACIDINE is the most powerful known enemy to acid wherever found in the human system. ALL THESE TROUBLES RESULT FROM TOO MUCH ACID, AND NATURALLY ACIDINE IS THE MOST EFFECTIVE AGENT FOR FIGHTING THEM.

Remember, we take the risk. A trial costs you nothing if it fails. Buy ACIDINE today, and find out for yourself why in a few short months it has become perhaps the most priceless, the most useful of all home remedies. Your druggist has it and recommends it.

THE RECORD-BREAKING NEW NASH "400"

is the only car exhibited at the show with all the outstanding features shown below as regular equipment at no extra cost....

Twin-Ignition Motor

Far more power and speed with greater economy of gasoline than possible with single ignition. At every speed this new Nash Twin-Ignition motor delivers wonderful performance. Instant, alert get-away and surpassing smoothness through the full range of power and speed.

Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication

Press a pedal and 21 points, including all spring shackles are oiled automatically and instantly under 100 pounds pressure. Saves both time and money. One of the greatest features of convenience and economy ever presented to motorists.

Houdaille Shock Absorbers

These Houdailles are especially engineered by Nash to the new "400" with outboard mounting, new to the industry and exclusive to Nash. They are double-acting—softening the action of the springs both when depressed and on the rebound and giving you fullest riding ease.

Front and Rear Bumpers

These are the finest bumpers built, exceptionally beautiful and strong. They are integrally designed by Nash to harmonize perfectly with the new "400" Salon body design. As regular equipment at no extra cost they contribute to the remarkably low Nash price, delivered, in this city.

World's Easiest Driver Control

We challenge the world on this new "400" feature. Nowhere is there another car so marvelously easy to steer and turn and park, or with such effortless clutch action as the new Nash "400". Nash is far ahead of the industry in ease of driver control.

7-Bearing Crankshaft

This is the world's finest practice—expensive but worth it—because of finer performance than is possible with fewer bearings. Each connecting rod is given maximum support by big bearings on both sides. This is the modern type of engineering.

Refreshing Comfort

The deep, soft cushions, form-fitted to the body, the wide seats, the roominess of the Nash "400" interior, all help to bring you to the end of every ride refreshed beyond anything in your whole motor car experience. On the longest trip you rest as you ride.

Costly Car Interior Finish

Costly upholstery and luxurious craftsmanship distinguish the new Nash "400" interiors at once from competitive cars. You can see the difference the instant you open the door. Nash "400" interior finish is matched only by the very highest-priced cars.

"Cold Coming"

WHEN you feel that cold coming on—head it off with Bayer Aspirin. Almost everybody knows how these tablets break-up colds—but why not prevent them? Take a tablet or two at the very first sign of a cold and spare yourself a lot of inconvenience and suffering. Do the same when a headache threatens, or when you feel the least twinge of neuralgia, neuritis, rheumatism or similar pain. Bayer Aspirin is sure relief, as many have discovered. It is quite harmless, as physicians have long declared. It does not affect the heart, so you may take Bayer Aspirin freely. Use as a gargle for sore throat, to remove the infection. You can get the genuine at any drugstore. Bayer Aspirin. Bayer on every package and on each tablet identifies the genuine.

Because she loves this creamy Cod Liver Oil

You don't have to coax any child to take this cod liver oil. They all love it. Actually take it as readily as milk. It is good to the last drop.

Genuine Cod Liver Oil

Yet Scott's Emulsion is made of Norway's choicest cod liver oil. The purest known to medical science. It is emulsified for easy and rapid digestion by youngsters. Its mist-like globules of oil duplicate Nature's butterfat in cow's milk. Its flavor is simply delicious.

Physicians Recommend It

For 60 years physicians have recommended Scott's Emulsion because it increases resistance to sickness, colds and grippe. Children thrive on it. Cheeks become rosy with health. Little legs fatten up and grow straight and strong. Appetites are better. Sleep is peacefully deep and long.

All druggists have Scott's Emulsion in two handy sizes. A few cents' worth a day is a powerful guardian of health.

J. W. DAVIS STIRS INTEREST HERE IN TAX SUIT

The hearing of the suit of the Diamond Alkali Company of Pittsburgh, seeking to recover more than $1,000,000 in taxes from the government, being heard by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson, is attracting much attention from attorneys. The real interest of many of the spectators is centered upon Attorney John W. Davis, of New York, Democratic nominee for president in 1924, who heads a large array of attorneys for the alkali company.

The government is represented by Attorney John A. McCann, Pittsburgh representative of the general counsel, Bureau of Internal Revenue, and other government attorneys.

The hearing, which started Monday morning, will last several days. The court, in ruling against the "special assessment" feature of the bill of claim last week after arguments on preliminary points of law, greatly cut down the length of the hearing. Under the "special assessment," the complainant company sought to recover approximately $400,000.

The alkali company avers collection of taxes after running of the statute of limitations; that the government allowed insufficient depreciation on the plant of the company and that there were insufficient deductions for amortization of war facilities.

SEEKS LIBERTY ON WRIT

Claiming that he has committed no crime, Edward Kulikowski has filed a habeus corpus petition in Common Pleas Court against Superintendent A. H. Leslie, of the Allegheny County workhouse. Judge Harry H. Rowand set tomorrow afternoon as the date for a hearing when it will be decided whether the man shall be set free.

Kulikowski claims that while reporting a stolen automobile at Penn Avenue Police Station, he was arrested, charged with being a suspicious person. He says Magistrate John W. Orie, sitting in Morals' Court, committed him to the workhouse January 18, on the suspicious persons' charge, despite the fact that he had committed no wrong.

Hit-and-Run Auto Driver Hurts Girl

Struck by a hit-and-run motorist at Craig street and Center avenue, Sylvia Troianowski, 15, of 3548 Butler street, suffered lacerations of the head and body last night. She was treated at the office of Dr. Anthony Mallek, 2625 Penn avenue, and then taken to her home. Witnesses furnished police with the license number of the car and the officers began a search for driver.

Bus Line Hearing Plan Told Council

Council has received notice that the State Public Service Commission will hold a hearing at 9:30 a. m. Wednesday, January 30, on an application of the Pennsylvania General Transit Company for permission to operate a bus line between Pittsburgh and Brownsville, Pa., by way of California, Charleroi, Donora and Monongahela.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

ENGLISH SWEET PEAS

By Laura Reid Montgomery

RUTH glanced up as the car stopped at her gate. The young man who came up the flower-bordered walk looked very fit and well-groomed, indeed. His yellow hair amost matched the marigolds as the late sunlight shone on it.

"I've noticed your wonderful sweet peas," he was saying, "and I'm glad to see you are cutting them, for I want you to enter them in the county flower show."

Ruth smiled faintly. "I wish I could but I—that is, it is impossible."

He looked amazed. "Surely you'd like to win a prize with them. Nowhere in Rivertown have I seen such blooms. Where did you get the seed?"

"An Englishwoman brought them over from Sussex and she gave me some of her seeds. I'm very proud of them for they are rather difficult to start. They have no scent, though."

He lifted a great blossom of rose and examined it. "Lovely. Do change your mind and let me take that hamper over to the hall for you. I've called here twice before, but you were out."

"I'm sorry," she said briefly.

"Well, will you sell me that hamper?"

"No."

"Good gracious, Ruth," cried Elaine, running across the bit of lawn as the car speeded off, "why didn't you let him have those flowers? Likely you'd have won a prize—and he was hurt at your refusal."

"I'm taking them into Chicago, early."

"For the Flower Mission?"

Ruth nodded. "These are so nice for the invalids, much more delicate than the marigolds, and I have so little to give to the unfortunate ones. I couldn't keep these for my own gratification."

"He was awfully handsome. He admired you, too," said Elaine.

Ruth, however, cared nothing for the new man in town. All her thoughts were upon Peter. Peter had left her with a hasty word of anger and, when he had written trying to make up the silly quarrel she had permitted her pride to dictate a stiff answer, had refused to wear his ring. The long, hot summer had tried her strength and the break with her fiance had been a poignant sorrow she could not live down.

The Union Station was thronged with harried travelers as Ruth bore her large, flat hamper of cool green towards the booth maintained by the Flower Mission.

When the flowers had been carefully lifted out from the cool nest of wet leaves Ruth took the empty hamper. Turning to go she slipped and would have fallen had it not been for the help of a large woman who dropped her bag and caught her.

"I'm surely grateful," cried Ruth. "I'd have had a bad fall there."

The soft, yet clear notes carried, and a man with a briefcase turned. As his eyes fell upon the heap of sweet peas he paused and then saw Ruth.

"Ruth," criew Peter, careless alike of the curious stares of the large woman and the long-lashed gaze of the volunteer charity worked who presided at the booth. "Ruth, what luck! I went to your house last week and you wouldn't see me. I vowed I'd never take the first step towards making up again, but Fate took it for me. Will you take back your ring? Why did you send down word you wouldn't see me. I—"

Ruth's old-time laugh interrupted. "I was away last week, Peter, but," she flushed, then went on frankly, "I'm glad we met here. I guess the sweetpeas brought me a prize, anyway," and this cryptic remark she refused to elucidate.

Don't Neglect a Cold Now, Is Doctor's Advice

Don't neglect any cold nowadays. Colds are so weakening; and in a weakened condition, you are so susceptible to more serious troubles.

When you find you are catching cold, take care to keep the bowels open. That's the first precaution every doctor advises. That's the way to avoid the congestion which makes you feverish, achy, half-sick, miserable.

Millions know the quick way to open the bowels, keep them active, is with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin. Every second of the day someone, somewhere is going into a drug store to get a bottle of this splendid medicine, made from simple laxative herbs and pepsin by the formula Doctor Caldwell found so effective during his 47 years' medical practice.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin is mild and gentle in its action, but it is promptly effective on the most robust constitution. Containing neither narcotics or opiates, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it gladly.

For colds, fevers, biliousness, indigestion, headaches, heartburn, nausea, bad breath, loss of sleep—any troubles caused by poor digestion or faulty evacuation. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin will prove a blessing.

Its overwhelming success and popularity is based on real merit—on one satisfied user telling another. Your drug store sells the generous bottles on a positive money-back guarantee to give satisfaction.

RADIOLA SUPER-HETERODYNE

SO amazing is the performance of the Radiola Super-Heterodyne that it gives the complete illusion of a full orchestra in your home.

Musical critics and concert artists choose the Super-Heterodyne for broadcast reception because of its remarkable tone fidelity and musical range.

Radio engineers use it in the laboratories and in their homes as a standard with which to measure the performance of other instruments.

The RCA Super-Heterodyne of 1929—with the refinements and improvements of ten years of research—is a much finer receiver than the first models of its type.

And it can be sold at much lower prices, because larger scale production has reduced the cost of manufacture. The latest models of the Super-Heterodyne cost little more, in fact, than ordinary radio sets of much inferior performance.

It pays to buy a genuine RCA Radiola—and if you want the finest receiver known to the art, then it's the Radiola Super-Heterodyne.

HURT IN CRASH, ASK $40,000

Claiming the entire family was injured through their automobile colliding with a truck parked without lights and extending too far out from the curb, V. D. Beard, his wife and Charles, their son, filed suit for $40,000 damages in Common Pleas Court yesterday against Leon Baskin, Federal street, owner of the truck.

Federal Employe Poll Tax Proposed

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22.—In order to enable federal employes, who do not own property, to vote in Pennsylvania, Senator W. D. Mansfield introduced a bill fixing their poll tax at 50 cents in all counties of the state. The courts have ruled that the occupation of a federal employe cannot be taxed. Without an occupation tax receipt they cannot vote in this state.

KLINE TO GET HIGHEST HUNGARIAN DECORATION

Mayor Charles H. Kline will be decorated Friday in City Council Chamber by Dr. Louis Alexy, Hungarian consul, with headquarters in Cleveland, O., with the Order of Merit and the Diamond Star, the greatest distinction the Hungarian government can confer upon a foreign citizen.

This is in recognition of Mayor Kline's and the city's warm welcome accorded Hungarian pilgr.. s who visited Pittsburgh last March.

Mayor Kline will give a luncheon in the William Penn Hotel after the ceremony.

During the pilgrim. ge more than 300 of the most distinguished Hungarian officials and noblemen visited this city and were officially received by the Mayor and Council.

The city officials were hosts to the visitors at a banquet in the William Penn Hotel.

Stay at home to find an apartment. Consult the Classified Section of the Sun-Telegraph and use your telephone. This plan will save you endless worry and countless steps.

Swiss Professor To Lecture Here

A series of three public lectures on "Spectra and the Theory of Groups," will be given by Dr. Hermann Weyl, of the National Institute of Technology, Zurich, Switzerland, beginning tomorrow night at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. Lectures are scheduled also for Thursday and Friday nights. Dr. Weyl, who is the Thomas D. He has been professor of mathematics at the Zurich Technical Institute since 1913.

21ST PRISONER DIES AT PEN

The death of Howard Gadley, 34, at the Western Penitentiary yesterday from pneumonia brings the deaths from all causes at the prison to 21 since December 22. Most of the deaths have been attributed to pneumonia. He was serving a three-to-six year sentence from Forest County on a charge of shooting with intent to kill. He was committed December 17, 1928.

An inquest into Gadley's death and into other recent deaths at the prison will be held Friday at the penitentiary by Coroner W. J. McGregor.

New Lower Prices—with Quality Unchanged— are focusing public attention on Plymouth and winning even more enthusiastic recognition of its outstanding dollar-value.

Comparing the Plymouth with other cars at its price, people are convincing themselves it offers greater intrinsic value and lasting economy.

Economy with Full-Size: Buyers are turning to this car in ever-increasing numbers because in point of size and seating space, it overshadows every other offering at its price—is the outstanding full-size car in the lowest-priced field.

Economy of Operation and Upkeep: It is obvious that Plymouth has all the economy advantages of a simple, sturdy four-cylinder engine, resulting in substantial savings in gas, oil, tires and freedom from upkeep expense.

Economy with Modern Engineering: Designed by Chrysler it embodies all the recognized advantages of modern engineering including such important developments as rubber engine mountings, aluminum alloy pistons, large main bearings, torque reaction neutralizer and positive pressure-feed lubrication.

Economy with Power and Safety: It is a joy to drive the Plymouth—to note its typical Chrysler alertness, responsiveness and smoothness of performance—to feel the positive safety of its hydraulic four-wheel brakes (internal-expanding, front and rear) which are found on no other car near the Plymouth price.

See the Plymouth! Drive it. You are bound to recognize the wisdom of popular judgment in rating it the biggest value and the soundest economy among cars selling under $850.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Junior League Opens Exhibit of Members' Craftsmanship

WHILE the march of social events has slowed down to a virtual crawl here in Pittsburgh, in many other cities, in fact most of them, the season is still "on" and is likely to continue until, perhaps, as late as Lent. We are so accustomed to this post-holiday cessation of activities that we think little of it—until we read about all the parties other folks are giving.

But even though we're not having many parties, there are other matters holding the interest of those of out social group who are still in town. For example, the Junior League exhibit opened today in its rooms in the Woman's Exchange Building and is attracting quite a few patrons. These young society women are displaying samples of their craftsmanship all the rest of the week, from 11 to 3 o'clock each day. Mary Rhodes, of Sewickley, is chairman of the arts and crafts committee, and she is assisted by Helen Leovy.

Then there is the Stage and Play Society production set for February 6. You remember, don't you, my telling you what the plays are to be? Now I can give you the names of those who are going to take part. For "The Snake," written by the president of the society, Carroll Fitzhugh, the cast consists of Madeline McClintock, Mrs. J. L. Dawson Painter, James Macfarlane, who directed one of the plays given the last time, and Fielder Clarke, treasurer of the society.

There are just three characters in Arthur Schnitzler's play, "The Farewell Supper," and these parts will be taken by Mr. and Mrs. E. Martin Browne and Harold Geoghegan. The Brownes, you know, are connected with the Carnegie Tech drama school, having come over a couple of years ago from London, where Mrs. Browne was a well-known actress.

In the third play, "Mis' Mercy," one of this season's debutantes, Helen West, will have a role. Also in the cast will be Mrs. John Henry King Burgwin, vice president of the society; Ray E. Hurd, C. F. C. Arensberg, Jr., and George Kountz. This is a Harvard workshop play and was written, I understand, by Louise Whitfield Bray.

TOMORROW morning, one of the morning musicales sponsored by Mrs. Taylor Allderdice will be given in her home in Murrayhill and Wilkins avenues. The hour is 10:30 o'clock, I believe. The newly-organized Twentieth Century Club choral is going to sing, and there will be numbers by Miss Jean Webster, pianist, and Miss Julia Miller, violinist.

There will be another of these musicales in February, and in charge of that one will be Mrs. Howard Noble.

AMONG the local folks who are away from home just now are Dr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan and their daughter, Peggy, of Irwin avenue, North Side. The Milligans are in Europe, and I believe that Peggy is studying there during the winter. Peggy is one on the list of expected-to-be debutantes for next season, although I have heard nothing definite concerning coming-out plans.

Mrs. James Francis Burke and her daughter, Mrs. Donald Scott Rodgers, with Mrs. Rodgers' two small sons, are at Palm Beach now. They have taken "Sea Gull Cottage," which was formerly occupied by Mrs. Henry R. Rea, and expect to spend the entire winter there. Mr. Burke, I understand, plans to join them in Florida this week. He left Washington yesterday with President-elect Hoover, and for the next couple of months will be a regular commuter between Palm Beach, Washington and Pittsburgh.

Later on in the season the Burkes will have their son and his wife, the Scott Burkes, as their guests.

THERE will be two interesting speakers tomorrow night at the dinner to be given in the Keystone Athletic Club by the Pennsylvania Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Ganson Depew, nephew of the late Chauncey Depew and president general of the national society, will talk on "The Future of America," and Harry F. Brewer, of New Jersey, past president general, will discuss "US-Americans." John L. Walker is president of the Pennsylvania Society, and the reception committee for tomorrow night consists of Dr. S. B. Linhart, chairman; Gen. A. J. Logan, Capt. Harmar D. Denny, Jr., Capt. J. Bernd Rose, William E. Gamble, George L. Jenks, Dr. George L. Hays, W. H. Stevenson, Thomas Mellon and Capt. Andrew B. Berger.

THE marriage of Miss Rita Helen Gelder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gelder, of Northumberland street, and Bernard Friedman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Friedman, of Beechwood boulevard, was solmenized Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock in the Hotel Schenley by the Rev. Dr. S. H. Goldenson. Mrs. Max Loevner was her sister's matron of honor and her cousin, Miss Rose Gordon, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Sylvia Coplon, Miss Dorothy Gerector, Miss Selma Racussin, Miss Beatrice Goldman, Miss Irene Frankel, Miss Flora Koch and Miss Stephanie Diamond. Townsend Friedman was his brother's best man and the ushers included Harold Friedman, another brother; his cousins, Dr. Townsend Baer and Howard Baer, Leroy Williams, David Silverblatt, Allan Davis, Saul Lasner and Ivan Gelder. Mr. and Mrs. Friedman have left for a trip to Florida and Havana.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the marriage of Miss Anna B. Altman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Altman, of Rossmore avenue, Brookline, to Israel C. Gellman, of Rock Island, Ill., which was solemnized January 13 in the El Tower Hotel by the Rev. Morton Goldberg, of Fall River, Mass., cousin of the bride. Mrs. M. B. Altman, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Fannie Altman was maid of honor. Henry Rissman, of Chicago, was best man. A dinner for 50 guests was followed by a reception. After an eastern trip, Mr. and Mrs. Gellman will be at home in Rock Island.

Angell Addresses 20th Century Club

"WE can not carry on our everyday work without organization; we must have rules, codes, laws, constitutions and organizations in order to live together at all. It is the price we pay for civilization. Yet when we come to nations, we abandoned all this and assume we need no organization. We expect anarchy to work when we know it will not work with individuals. If we never have an organized society we shall always have war."

This was the main theme of a splendidly stirring address given yesterday by Norman Angell, English author and lecturer, before a large audience in the Twentieth Century Club—an audience that was raptly attentive and apparently loath to be dismissed.

Mr. Angell was speaking on "Illusions of Current Political Thought," among which he mentioned the "illusions" that no international organization is necessary; that preponderance or armament means peace and prosperity; that the victor in a war can take things from the conquered to his own advantage.

With a fine note of sarcasm, Mr. Angell spoke of both Great Britain's and America's "defensive wars," not one of which had been fought on their own soil or to repel an invader. "All have been fought," he declared, "in the defense of national interests and the right to be judges of our own rights, which means to be judges of others' rights as well." If preponderance of armament is to insure peace, then peace will come when everybody is stronger than everybody else, he argued. Great Britain's unemployment and her dire industrial situation today, on the very morrow of victory over her greatest economic enemy, shows that it is a false assumption that the conqueror is economically benefited, he declared. If man were fit to be the judge of his own rights, there would be no need of churches, laws nor courts. But these are constitutional attempts to deal with the shortcomings of man and to guide his instincts and his passions. "It is a false assumption that as long as the heart is sound, it doesn't make any difference how thick the head is," Mr. Angell went on. "We must realize that we get out of our trouble by intellectual sweat—by intelligence. Armies are not glorified police forces. Armies are established to fight other armies; police to prevent individual men from being the judges of their own rights."

THE ball room of the Penn-Lincoln Hotel was crowded yesterday for the very fine program which the music department presented for the Woman's Club of Wilkinsburg. Under the department's auspices, Helen Bell Rush, Cass Ward Whitney and Earl Mitchell gave an afternoon that for sheer enjoyment has probably never been surpassed in the club. Miss Rush included Cecconi, Boito, Mozart, Freire, Ronald, La Forge, Nevin and Cadman in the composers from whom she chose her numbers, while Mr. Whitney sang from Handel, Haydn, Schubert and Richard Strauss, Rogers' stirring "War," a Negro spiritual and several less important songs. Mr. Mitchell, in addition to giving his usual faultless accompaniments, by request, played "Kammenoi Ostrow" as a solo.

FAY EHLERT'S prize playlet, "Undercurrents," was read yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the drama department of the Aspinwall Woman's Club. Mrs. E. M. Duckwall, Mrs. T. S. Dickey, Mrs. D. V. Limborg, Mrs. J. W. Munsell, Mrs. E. A. Blaisdell and Mrs. E. W. Jones comprised the cast.

"Folks, how can I make Whoopee up here ... when down in front the 'coughers' are whooping?"

"Maybe the audience would be grateful if I stepped to the footlights some night and voiced the above protest about the 'coughing chorus' down in front.

"But that wouldn't be kind and it wouldn't be just. The cougher doesn't cough in public on purpose. He can't help it. It embarrasses him as much as it annoys his neighbors.

"What he needs, to avoid that throat tickle, is an introduction to OLD GOLDS."

BANDITRY in China is caused by the appalling poverty, believes Maurice Hindus, who spoke before the Sewickley Valley Woman's Club yesterday. "Asia Aflame" was the subject of the address in which Mr. Hindus told of a visit to the Gobi Desert and of conditions in China. Bolshevism has not yet made much headway among the Chinese, but trouble is in the perspective if the line between the white and yellow races is not less tightly drawn, he insists. There is no sense of individual nationalism among the Chinese, the speaker declared. As to feet binding, it has not been abandoned outside the cities and chest binding continues as well.

Gigli Here to Sing At Mosque Tonight

Beniamino Gigli, the celebrated tenor of the Metropolitan Grand Opera, arrived in the city last evening, and will delight his many admirers in the fifth May Beegle Concert at Syria Mosque tonight. Gigli will sing the great tenor arias from Pagliacci, Tosca, Rigoletto, Boheme, and Martha tonight, as well as groups of songs, including the favorite Neapolitan airs. Gigli is considered one of the greatest tenors before the public today, and is singing the roles formerly sung by Caruso at the Metropolitan. Margaret Shotwell, the young American pianist, will share the program with Mr. Gigli.

Philadelphia PEPPER POT
As William Penn served it

Famous in Philadelphia since Colonial days, millions elsewhere are just coming to know the delights of the real Pepper Pot. Now you can enjoy this same savory soup made by Campbell's, from a favorite old Colonial recipe.

No other soup is like it. A rich stock, velvety smooth and hearty. Piquant with savory spices—thyme, sweet marjoram and ground black peppercorns, sweet pimientos, diced carrots and potatoes, fresh parsley. Enriched with wholesome macaroni dumplings.

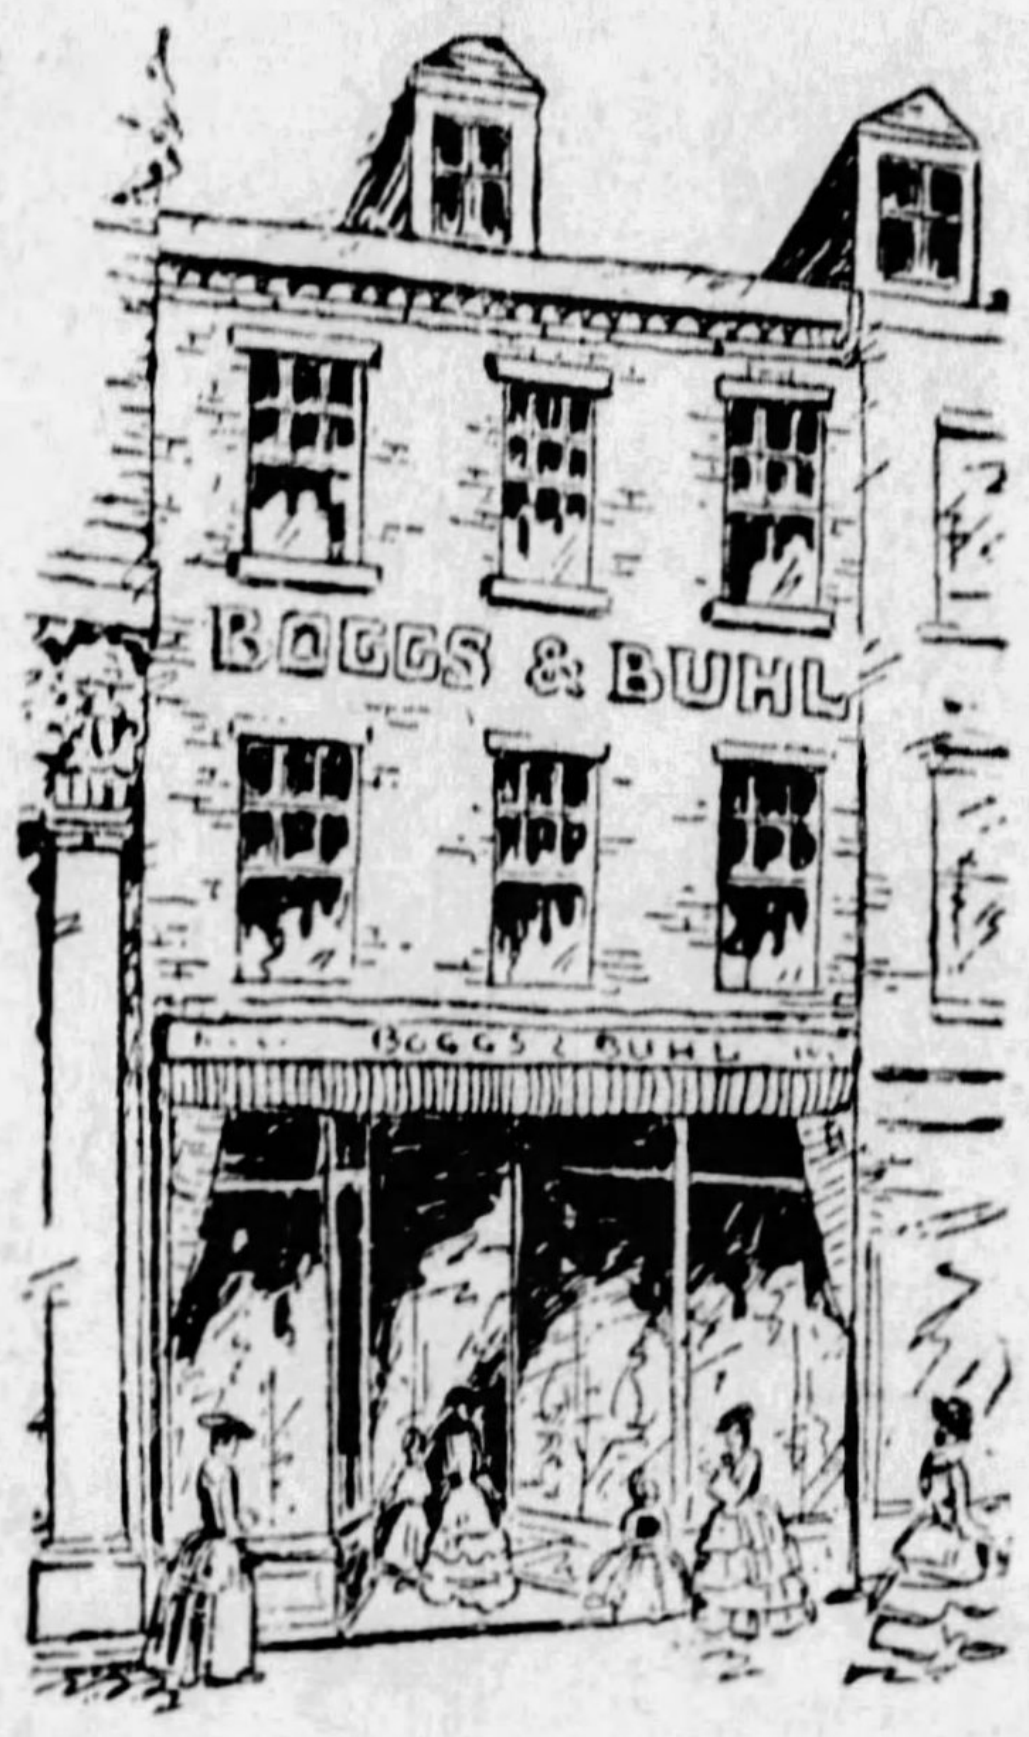
TETLEY TEA [In individual tea-bags, too]

The first of a series of advertisements published in connection with the celebration next Friday of the 100th semi-annual Remnant Day at Boggs & Buhl

the story of remnant day



Boggs & Buhl held the first remnant day in America, Friday, January 31, 1879—and they hold their 100th (semi-annual) and greatest, Friday of this week

FRIDAY Boggs & Buhl will open its doors to another of its far famed Remnant Days . . . but this time a Remnant Day of deeper significance for it will mark the occasion of the 100th Remnant Day in this store.

IT HAS been a fascinating task to trace back over a half century to the first Remnant Day, which was not only the first Remnant Day at Boggs & Buhl, but the first in America! It is no exaggeration to say that the story of Remnant Day is an unfolding of mercantile history in this country. It goes back to the shirt sleeve days of the founders of this store. Days when the names of Marshall Field, John Wanamaker, R. H. Macy, and such pioneer storekeepers were in the making.

ONE personality has dominated this store's Remnant Day—R. H. Boggs. From the day in the original one-room store where he conceived the idea... confronted with the problem of what to do with the hundreds of odd lengths accumulated from the firm's flourishing dry goods business, he said in his simple direct manner, "These are good goods but shorts or odd lots, so we will clear them out—just about give them away. Plenty of people will want them when they see how they are priced"... and from that day Remnant Day has grown to be an institution in American business.

THE first Remnant Day was held January 31, 1879. The idea was as new then as television is today. Every hamlet store has since had its remnant days. The great city department stores have had their remnant sales... but to Boggs & Buhl clings the distinction of having the first and the greatest Remnant Day.

BOTH Mr. Boggs and Mr. Buhl lived to see their store given the prestige of their keen vision and merchandising alertness. Today, to the best of our knowledge, no store anywhere conducts a remnant day that equals Boggs & Buhl's.

REMNANT Day has a serious task to accomplish ... it clears out every odd lot (all remnants) of merchandise in the entire store and gives the people Goods and Prices they don't forget. Remnant Day could never have climbed to its pinnacle of success by any other route than its celebrated Red Ink prices.

TOMORROW we are going to continue this story of Remnant Day and tell you about the thousands of people who come miles to attend the sale and why they do so.

3 PILOTS LOST IN FOG GUIDED TO LANDING

Unable to find a landing place because of the dense fog that covered the Pittsburgh district yesterday, pilots of three planes flew about the city more than an hour yesterday. They were finally guided to Bettis Field by local pilots who had been waiting for them. One of the planes had fuel for only 20 minutes more when it landed.

The visiting pilots were Chauncey Young, of Cincinnati, and Eddie Connerton and Lew Gower, of New York. Young was flying a monoplane and the others each had tri-motored Fokkers. Herbert Putnam and Frank Jardone were the local men who directed them to the landing field. The Fokker planes carried crews of four men each.

Putnam and Jardone, pilots of the Aircraft and Airways of America, Inc., had been on the lookout for Young, who had started here from Cincinnati. Knowing of the poor flying conditions, they were preparing to start a search for Young when East McKeesport residents called Bettis Field and said a plane had been seen over the district for some time.

Upon going aloft, the local men discovered all three planes flying about in search of the field. The visitors followed the local plane to earth. The Fokker planes are equipped with broadcasting horns for advertising purposes but the apparatus was not connected during the flight over this district.

Coal Men End Fight Against Control Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The National Coal Association yesterday closed its case in oposition to the bill to regulate the bituminous coal industry before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee. The United Mine Workers will have an opportunity today to add to previous testimony in favor of the measure.

The labor organization expects to complete its rebuttal testimony within two days and will close after that.

Real Estate

Work of razing the buildings on the site purchased by Sears, Roebuck & Company on the east side of North Highland avenue between Station and Rodman streets, East Liberty, will be started no later than April 1. Chicago architects are working on the plans for the $3,000,000 store.

A six-family apartment at 5113-15 Liberty avenue, East End, has been traded through the Franklin Realty Company and the Union Real Estate Company to Harry Katz in exchange for 14 houses at 7129-555 Harrison avenue, Swissvale.

The Commonwealth Real Estate Company and R. G. Rowbottom sold for Flora McKnight Pierce to the Electropure Sales Corporation 70x100 feet vacant at the southeast corner of Liberty avenue and Thirty-seventh street, Sixth Ward, for $5,250. A new building is planned on the site.

A house in Cutler street, North Side, lot 16x96 feet, has been sold by August Gravant to Felix Wojan.

A property in Wylie avenue, Third Ward, lot 27x128 feet, has been sold by Rose Muff to George C. Hasis.

Building permit applications included:

Fourteenth Ward—R. G. Hood, three brick dwellings and garage, 221-35 Gladstone road, $21,000; C. Max McCullough, stone dwelling, 549 Glen Arden drive, $20,000.

Twenty-sixth Ward—C. G. Claybaugh, two brick dwellings and garages, 3013-15 Norwood street, $12,000.

Twenty-ninth Ward—F. Schravone, brick and tile dwelling, 2616 Brownsville road, $7,500; A. W. Young, brick dwelling, 414 Olivet street, $5,500.

Twenty-eighth Ward—W. J. Schatz, brick dwelling, 1625 Oakwood road, $6,800.

Chicago Milk Strike To Be Arbitrated

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Chicago's milk strike, with its attendant displays of violence, was ended at a conference of producers, distributors and city health officers early today. Dr. Arnold Kegel, commissioner of health, announced that the two factions had agreed to submit their differences to arbitration.

The conference was called after 300 striking dairymen last night seized two Soo line milk trains at Lake Villa, Ill., and destroyed 160,000 pounds of milk. It was the chief outbreak of a day of violence in which truck drivers were kidnaped and beaten and 272,000 pounds of milk dumped.

KONJOLA RECEIVES PRAISE FROM MANY LOCAL RESIDENTS

MR. BRUCE DOUGLAS

A promise of abundant health and deliverance from the common health disorders was made by the Konjola Man when he first came to Pittsburgh from unusual successes at Chicago, Philadelphia and other large centers of population. He has established headquarters in the McCulloch Drug Store, Penn Ave. and Sixth Street, this city, where he is meeting personally all seekers of health and explaining the methods of Konjola and its merits. Volumes would be needed to carry all the voluntary indorsements of this medicine—an undeniable proof of its exceptional merits. Konjola is not a medicine of promises, claims or theories. It is one that brings results, accomplishments. At the very peak of its powers in cases that have defied all medicines and treatments, this super-remedy goes to the seat of the ailments, strengthening and invigorating the ailing organs to a more normal, healthy action. What it has done for thousands of others, it will do for you, as in the case of Mr. Bruce Douglas, 1006 State street, Erie, Pa., who recently sent the following remarkable statement to the Konjola Man now in this city:

"What Konjola did for me still surprises me, for I had no idea there was such a medicine in existence. For years I suffered with neuritis, severe attacks coming on after taking cold or engaging in violent exercise. I tried everything to prevent or relieve these attacks but without success. A few weeks ago, while on a train, I was telling of my neuritis to a chance acquaintance, and he said 'take Konjola and get rid of it over night.' I thought he was 'kidding' me, but he told me of scores of cases that Konjola had completely and quickly relieved. Others in the smoker overheard our conversation, and it seemed like all of them knew about Konjola and were eager to recommend it. When I stopped over in Cleveland, enroute to my home in Erie, I laid in a supply of this marvelous medicine, and determined to see if the fellows on the train knew what they were talking about. Well, they certainly did. Five bottles knocked out the neuritis, and my stomach and bowels are in wonderful condition. I am well through and through, feeling like a new man. I hope you publish this, so that my friends of the train ride will see it, and know what they did for me by tipping me onto Konjola. I had neuritis so bad that I could not sleep for the pain, but today no one in the world feels better than I do. I'll tell the world that there is just one real medicine in it—and that's Konjola."

Those who have the ill fortune to suffer from the tortures of neuritis will find hope for relief in this voluntary statement. This is by no means an unusual case; Konjola is famed for results, quick and permanent.

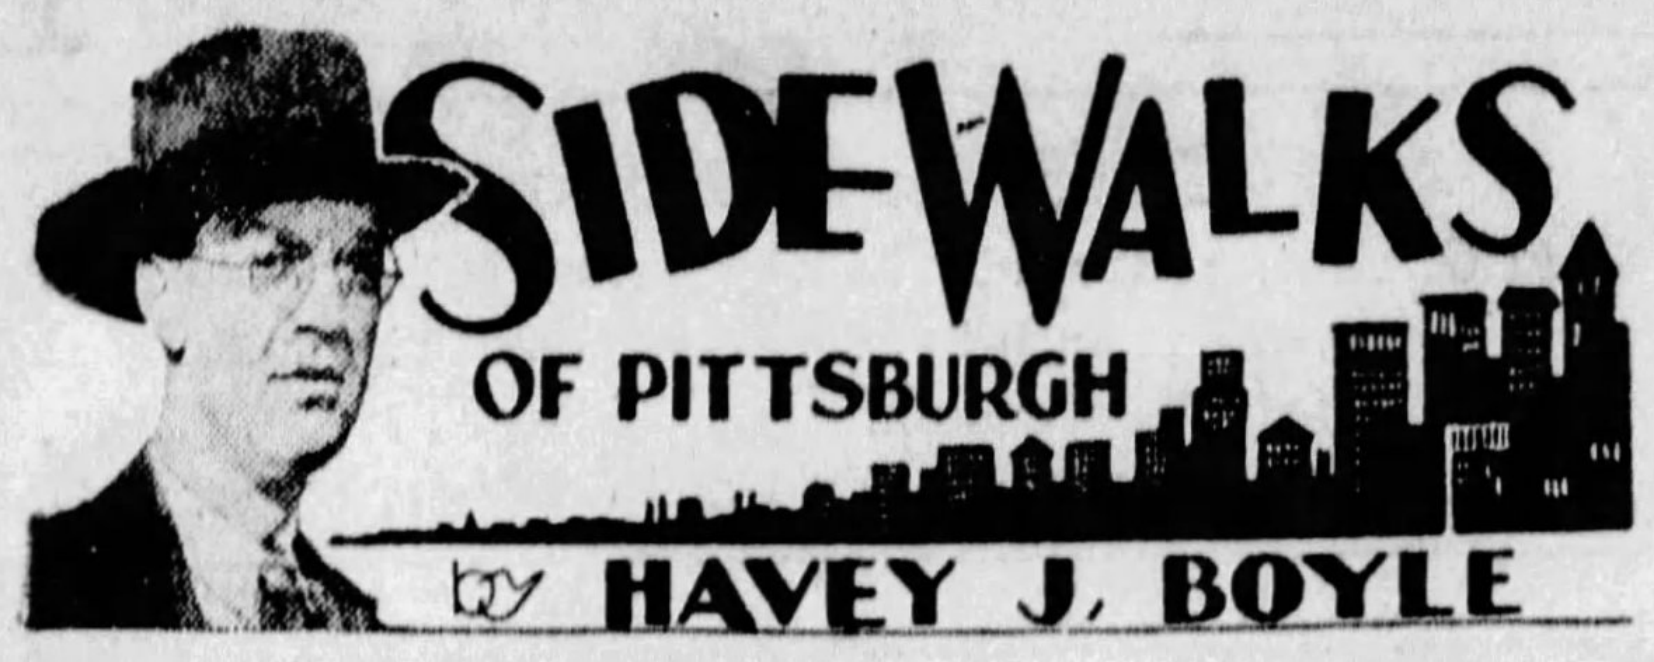
Metro Aid Sought to Curb Squires



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

IN a local divorce suit the other day the wife charged that her husband drove her bridge club from the home to make way for a poker gathering he was interested in.

If the husband had been thoughtful he would have gone slow. There is quite a bit of preparation necessary for entertaining a ladies' bridge club and the girls deserve consideration.

A noted dealer in linens told me that the bulk of his business comes directly from bridge parties, feminine gender. He sells what are known as fancy towels and bridge parties increase his sales curve because the bridge party without a large supply of embroidered and initialed and monogramed towels on display would be something unthinkable.

I just read where an unlucky husband was found unconscious in his home with the finger of suspicion pointing at his wife. A shrewd detective clapped the lady in jail upon investigating the premises and discovering that a fancy towel had on it the finger prints of the husband. Apparently, the husband had been rash enough or thoughtless enough, to dry his hands with a fancy linen.

How any husband can possibly object to a girls' bridge is difficult to see. They have a lot of innocent amusement. You give any group of young matrons a chicken salad, about four cream puffs each, and a goodly supply of pickles and they'll cause no one any harm.

The poker-playing husband might have had a grudge against bridge, but doesn't he know that the girls are only kidding about that bridge game? How can you play much bridge with so many interesting and entertaining topics on tap? I am broad-minded enough to believe that husbands should beat bridge-playing wives only on days when the wife doesn't win the prize. Isn't it funny how the same one always seems to win. Of course, it's just luck. I always say you have to get the cards.

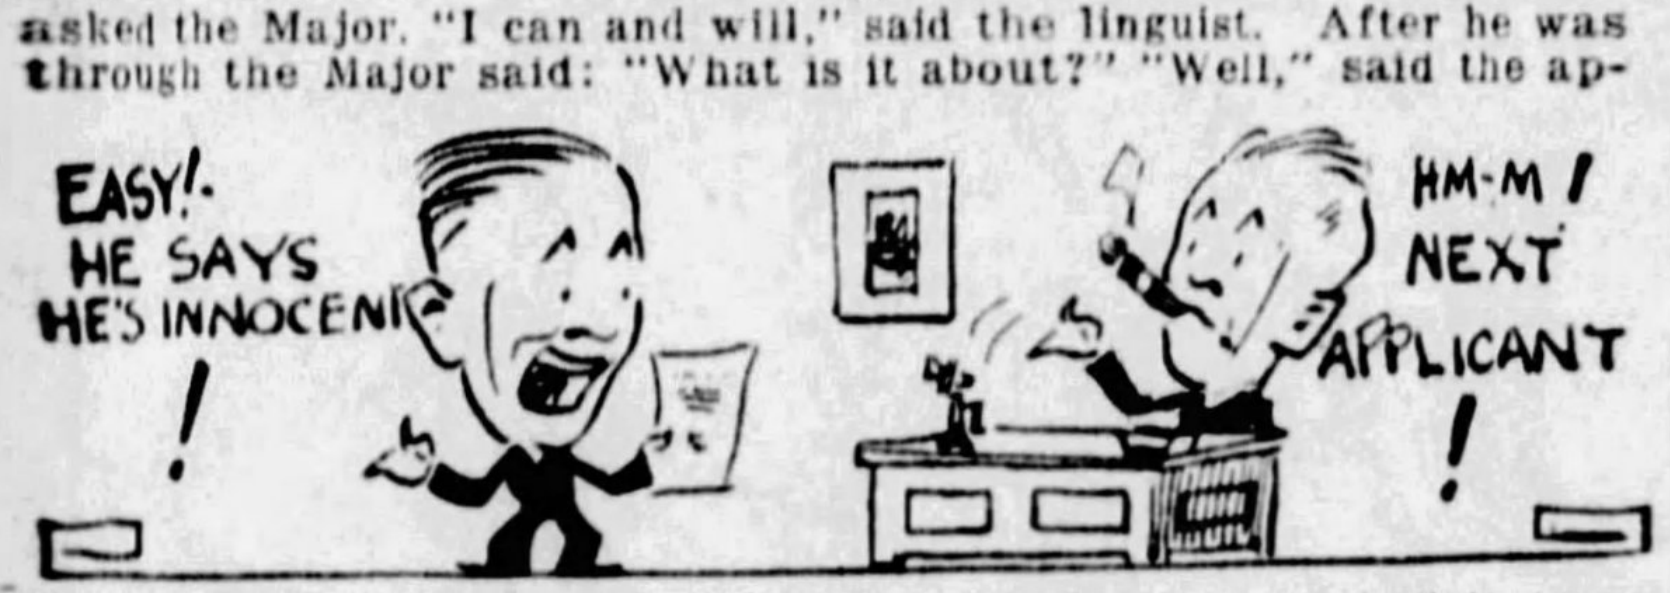
MAJ. JOHN H. SHENKEL, chief clerk in the Quarter Sessions Court, interviews applicants for jobs as court interpreters. A linguist visited Maj. Shenkel the other day and said he could speak and read something like 12 languages. To say that he was well-satisfied with himself is putting it mildly. Maj Shenkel had a letter in French, recently received from (you have guessed it) Paris, and he handed the letter to the applicant. "Can you read this?" asked the Major. "I can and will," said the linguist. After he was through the Major said: "What is it about?" "Well," said the applicant, "this man says he didn't do anything but he had to run away for some other reason. He says he is innocent."



EASY!- HE SAYS HE'S INNOCENT !
HM-M! NEXT APPLICANT !

Maj. Shenkel dismissed the applicant. The letter in question was something about the French war debt.

At that, the applicant must have been a court interpreter once. It seems here, after having heard testimony in foreign tongues interpreted, that nearly always the court interpreter says: "He says he was in New Kensington that night and and that it was his cousin's gun that was found in McKees Rocks."

My Dear Sir: I have noticed with amusement and concern the difficulty you have in referring to yourself. You seem to have adopted the words: "The Column," as the most modest way of saying "I." I don't see why a man who would put his picture at the top of the column should be so shy as you seem to be. I think your readers (if there be any others besides me) should suggest a better name than "The Column." Why not "The Sidewalker?" Yours truly, Sidewheeler.

AVALON BUSES NOT FAVORED

Slight prospect of extending the proposed Bellevue bus line to Avalon was held out today by Thomas W. Noonan, general manager of the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company.

"Any change in the route, approved, even to the extent of one street would have to be submitted to the state Public Service Commission and the entire route reconsidered," said Noonan. Avalon officials and residents contemplated sending a committee to the railways company to ask that the line be extended.

"We went about as far as we could go in Bellevue on side streets. Our aim is to avoid the principal traffic arteries and thus provide a speedy, safe service. When we get onto the main thoroughfares we lose speed and that is one thing our patrons want," said Noonan.

Noonan said orders have been given for chassis of half a dozen cars for the Bellevue route which will end at Orchard avenue and North Jackson street, but that details in plans were temporarily delaying placing of an order for the car bodies.

"We are hopeful of being able to start the Bellevue line by March 1," said Noonan. "Five cars operated regularly and with a sixth in the garage for emergency will be sufficient at first," he asserted.

OIL CITY, Pa., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Taylor Ileman, of Rockland, is convinced that even thieves strive to be obliging.

Ninety-nine of his flock of 100 chickens were taken from his coops one night. Ileman said he couldn't understand why the thieves did not take all the fowls, as it would be almost as much work to keep one as 100.

The next morning it, too, was gone.

TWO BOYS HELD IN ROBBERIES

Two South Side boys were held for court on 22 charges after they had confessed their guilt in Morals Court today.

Joseph Kapec, 16, and Frank Husack, 18, of Cabot way, confessed to four robberies and holdups. Detectives estimated the loot at $3,000.

Their activities included stealing $2,200 worth of tobacco from the Terminal Warehouse, and a $70 holdup of the Struntz Soap Company, Bingham street, while several clerks looked on.

NEW TRAFFIC ORDERS IN EFFECT

Effective today, a 60-day trial period will be established for further limitations to automobile parking on certain streets in the downtown district, according to a letter submitted by Safety Director James M. Clark for consideration today by the public safety committee of Council.

The new proposals are:

No parking at any time on the south side of Water street from Ferry street to Penn avenue.

The committee also will consider ordinances making Cecil way from Penn avenue to Duquesne way open only to south-bound traffic and Diamond street from Ross to Smithfield streets open only to west-bound traffic. Further parking restrictions to be considered are: No parking, Spring way, from Eleventh to Twelfth streets; Boulevard of the Allies from Forbes street to Craft avenue; Emily street from Craft avenue to Halket street; Wilmot street, from Halket street to Parkview avenue; West Carson street, from Point Bridge to South Main street; Knox avenue, from Hartford street to Orchard street and on the east side of Knox avenue from Orchard street to Suncrest street. South-bound traffic only would be permitted on Knox avenue between Orchard street and Suncrest street. No parking would be allowed on Mt. Washington boulevard; Grandview avenue from Ulysses street to Bigham street and on the south side of Ashlyn street from Mozart street to Landis street.

CHURCH FUND $42,652

A total of $42,652 has been pledged toward the objective of $75,000 to permit the construction of a new $200,000 auditorium for the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church, it was announced at a meeting of team-workers in the church last night. The meeting, the first of a series of five to be held this week, was addressed by Louis C. Clark, general chairman. The campaign opened Sunday.

With reports of subscriptions totaling $8,946, the team of C. H. Arnold, led. H. Bainbridge with pledges totaling $5,617 was second. Next in line were J. C. Lowe, with $4,404; A. L. Jacobs, $3,881; Roy A. Clark, $3,618, and W. H. Jenkins, $3,556. The special Gifts' Committee, through its chairman, M. R. Collins, reported $12,630. The second report meeting will be held tonight.

LATEST MOTOR STYLES ATTRACT SHOW VISITORS

By H. W. DIETRICH, Automobile Editor.

This is the one week in the year that the average Pittsburgher cashes in on his dreams, or that he does things that he dreams about for the 51 weeks that follow.

And for 75 cents in the evening, or for 50 cents in the afternoon, Mr. or Mrs. or Miss can get enough thrills and fun to provide parlor conversation for the next five years.

All this is by way of telling you that Pittsburgh's 1929 Automobile Show, which opened in Motor Square Garden last Saturday, is being continued every afternoon and and night of this week.

There are thrills there for every one, even for automobile editors, for didn't one of the Chrysler salesmen (he must be new to the trade) try to sell me one of those new custom-built Chrysler Imperials yesterday?

WHAT'S NEW

What is there that is new about the show this year? In the first place, more Pittsburghers are trying to see these new cars at the same time than ever before. Saturday and Monday attendance figures showed an increase of 33 per cent over last year, which was a record year for attendance. At this time it should not be amiss to give this tip: If you want to see the cars in comfort and inspect them leisurely, go to the Garden in the afternoon. The program is the same as that for the evening, and you save 25 cents in the admission price.

As for the cars, they are brilliant, with color schemes that give a pride of ownership never before known. And another thing, every car in this year's exhibition will travel up most of the hills about Pittsurgh in high gear, and that is something to talk about.

Vest button manufacturers should do a good business with at least five of Pittsburgh's well known automobile distributors this year. I refer to George Reed, C. A. Rehtmeyer, George Hoeveler, Guy Rea and G. H. Seagert.

George Reed and George Hoeveler have two new cars of the show, and they are not just new cars in the ordinary sense of the word.

Reed's new car is the Windsor White Prince, a truly regal car. One of the models is of the roadster variety, finished in a cream color shade. It is a four-speed transmission car and has those swagger European lines.

Hoeveler's car is the Black hawk. Its immediate claim to popularity lies in its being a companion car to the Stutz, and in the "No-Back," a device which prevents a car from rolling backwards on a grade. It is shown on an incline, with a sign that informs all that it is not being held in position with the brakes. This also is a four-speed car. The mechanical details of these two cars are so numerous that it would take pages to explain them.

ULTRA-MODERN

Ultra-modern. This best explains the newest cars being shown by Guy Rea and G. H. Seagart, who distribute the Willys-Knight, the Stearns-Knight and the Whippet. But the outstanding car of their exhibit is the Willys-Knight Big Six. In the style of its lines and in the use of colors it far surpasses any car ever built by the Willys-Knight organization. Aluminum, red and black are used in the color scheme, in a manner that is daring, but at the same time most attractive. The Stearns and the Whippets also come in for a large share of admiration.

Just opposite the entrance and underneath the balcony where the orchestra and the Silver Masked Tenor lord it over the humble show-goer, you will find the Pontiac Big Six, with what now may be said to be its companion car, the Oakland All-American Six. This is C. A. Rehtmeyer's display.

When I say that the Pontiac is a new car, I mean just that, for it is new in every line and it is new in virtually every bit of its mechanism. It has been fashioned along the same lines as the Oakland All-American, which is one of the most fashionable cars along Automobile Row. Mechanically it is a revelation.

Bill Owings and his fellow automobile men are the distinguished personages of the East Liberty district this week. Today they were the attraction at the luncheon-meeting of the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce in the Far East Restaurant. President E. S. Bayard, of the Chamber, invited Bill, who is the show manager, and in between shows pinch-hits as secretary of the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, and J. R. Pierpoint, who is president of that association when he isn't selling Hudson or Essex automobiles, to arrange the program for the luncheon. And they did.

Police Dismissals May Be Investigated

A special meeting of the McKees Rocks police committee may be held this week to investigate the dismissal of two veteran policemen. The men are said to have been asked to resign when they refused to accept changes in beats. The policemen are Paul Thomas and Alexander Jednak. Both are said to be election officials in the borough. Their positions were filled by Michael Metz and Sol Roth.

Dormont Officials Back From Parley

E. O. Garrett, Dormont's borough manager, and William F. Vegeler, engineer for Dormont borough and Mt. Lebanon Township, returned this morning from Cleveland after attending a convention of the American Builders Association. They witnessed an exhibition of road 1 municipal equipment and heard a series of lectures pertaining to road building.

Mt. Lebanon Church Names New Vestry

In the congregational meeting of the St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Mt. Lebanon the following men were elected to the 1929 vestry: Roy Anderson, Hoyt S. Drake, Stephen F Elkins, Dudley R. Gibb, Clarence F Hoppe, Harry B. Johnston, Paul H Magnus, H. A. Pantaenius, Joseph E. Salisbury, Alan B. Wells, William E. Wilcox and Ralph York.

HITS AUTO ROOF IN CRASH, DIES

Thrown against the roof of an automobile in which he was riding when it collided with another machine at South Highland avenue and Walnut street early today, W. Glenn Waddell, 22, of 706 Lincoln way, McKeesport, suffered injuries which caused his death a short time later in the Homeopathic Hospital.

Robert C. Gorman, of 2100 Beaver avenue, McKeesport, in whose machine Waddell was riding and James T. Mullen, of 209 South Craig street, driver of the other car, were arrested. Neither was injured.

$1,000,000 Apartment For Center, Aiken

Council has received a resolution asking Mayor Charles H. Kline to instruct the Safety Department to issue a building permit to Sumner Sollit Company, Chicago, for the erection of a $1,000,000 apartment house at Center avenue and Aiken street upon payment by the contractor of $150 of the building fee. The Aiken Apartment Corporation, which promoted the apartment house and later sold its assets to the present promoters, paid $850 of the fee, it was stated.

VICTIMIZING PRISONERS CHARGED

A committee representing foreign-born citizens of Allegheny County, meeting with the Metropolitan Plan Commission yesterday, asked radical changes be made in the minor court system under the Metropolitan Plan.

Charges were made that foreign-born citizens, ignorant of the law, are victimized by justices and aldermen.

"DOUBLE-DOSE" RACKET

Attorney Piekarski said in many cases assault and battery charges are disposed of by magistrates in police courts and the defendant later arrested and taken before a justice of the peace or alderman on the same charge. Abolition of the fee system and the substitution of a salary would make minor courts places of justice, George Szecskay said.

Among those appearing before the commission yesterday were Attorneys Frank A. Piekarski and Gregory Zatkovich, George Szecskay, editor of the American Hungarian Daily; Councilman Michael J. Yuhasz, Homestead; Alex A. Kohary, Henry Flaszter, Stephen J. Gross and Joseph A. Prokopovitsch.

A commission of nine, and the employment of a city manager to handle the affairs of the entire county was proposed by the Civic Club of Allegheny County at a meeting with the commission. The club committee recommends that the commissioners be elected from eight districts, with one at large, whose title would be mayor, and who would appoint the city manager, the appointment to be ratified by two-thirds of the remaining commissioners.

Changes Proposed In One-Way Streets

Council has received an ordinance removing the one-way traffic rule on Irwin avenue, from Pennsylvania avenue to North avenue, and on Buena Vista street, from North avenue to Taylor street.

The measure restricts traffic to south-bound only on Blevins street, from Chateau street to Beaver avenue, and to north-bound only on Nixon street, from Beaver avenue to Chateau.

No parking would be allowed at any time on Jacksonia street, from Garfield avenue to Federal street, under the ordinance.

ARTILLERY UNIT INSPECTED

Representatives of the United States Army and the National Guard of Pennsylvania began their annual inspection of the various batteries, ammunition trains and detachments of the One Hundred and Seventy-sixth Field Artillery last night at the General Logan Armory, Bayard and Thackeray streets, Oakland.

Maj. H. Taulbee, of the Field Artillery branch of the Regular Army, is conducting the inspections for the War Department and Lieut. Col. William H. Zierdt, of the inspector's section, Division Headquarters, Pennsylvania National Guard, is inspecting for the state. Col. I. C. Jenks, of the Regular Army, is also here with the inspectors.

The officers last night inspected Battery A, recently placed under the command of First Lieut. Carl M. Wolter. Inspections of the other units of the regiment, the "old Duquesne Grays," will continue for more than two weeks, one unit each day. Sunday afternoon the inspection of the artillery band under the direction of First Lieut. Isadore Cervone will take place.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.

This fellow Whalen is really trying his best to do something with this traffic situation in New York and everybody is hoping he gets away with it. For the first time in New York, he is making pedestrians act like an automobile.

Now whether they know that much depends on the people. Pedestrians must hold out their hand when getting ready to turn. Continually doing this is going to be hard for just a few of us here in New York.

Taxicabs must go over to New Jersey to turn right, and to Long Island to turn left. Your theater ticket is good for any theater you happen to pass by.

Yours, WILL.

"NANCY DEANE" by ROY L. FOLEY

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Dean, golden-haired, dark-eyed, who has lived her 18 years with David and Margaret O'Day, foster parents, in Washington, learns she is the granddaughter of the wealthy and aristocratic Montgomery Deanes in Pittsburgh, who disinherited her father and do not even know of her existence. Through John Blair, an upstanding young man, she has learned to admire, she secures a letter to Howard Wescott, manager of the Wear Ever Mills in Pittsburgh. On the train she meets Ginger Varden, a style model who takes her to her boarding house and introduces her to her friends. One of these, Vic Flemming, makes love to her and asks her to marry him. She finally securs a job in the knitting mill where Wescott, attracted by her beauty, offers her a place in the office. She is naively delighted, but both Ginger and Vic characterize Wescott as a "big bum." That same evening while Vic, Jerry Durant, Ginger and Nancy are dining and dancing at the Golden Pheasant, Wescott comes in; Vic picks a quarrel and they have a rough and tumble fight and are arrested. The papers are full of the episode; Ginger hails it as good publicity and insists on getting Nancy a job at modeling with Ziegelbaum, her employer. Mrs. O'Day, in alarm at the paper's account of the fight, telephones to Nancy, who reassures her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIV.

NANCY never felt as embarrassed in her life as she did when she pulled open the heavy door to the offices of the Wear-Ever Knitting Mills later that morning.

"I've simply got to go through with it and face the music," she said. "I know just what it will be. Howard Wescott will look me over from head to foot, contemptuously. Then he will tell me to get out."

But that is exactly what Howard Wescott did not do.

To Nancy's surprise he was already at his desk when she arrived, though it was still before 8:30. Miss Crosby hadn't come in. The door to the inner office was open when Nancy appeared and her entrance made him look up. Before she had time to hang up her coat and hat he got up from his desk and came into the outer office.

"Good morning, Miss O'Day," he said. "Hope you're not so disturbed by the unpleasantness of last night that you can't see the day through."

He laughed and came forward, putting his hand on her arm and squeezing it. Nancy noticed that there was a patch of black and blue under one of his eyes and that there was a cut just in front of his right ear. He made no reference to his injuries, whatever. In a suave, self-possessed manner he carried off the situation so well that no one would have suspected that he and Vic Flemming had fought over the girl who stood before him, less than 12 hours before. That within that short time he had been arrested and his name emblazoned in the newspapers.

His grooming was perfection, his linen immaculate. All these details Nancy noticed at a glance, before she answered him.

"Mr. Wescott, I'm terribly sorry. I wouldn't have had this thing happen for the world. This Mr. Flemming is—"

"Don't try to explain," Howard Wescott said. "I know all about Vic Flemming. I've had run-ins with him and his kind before."

He came closer, looked down into Nancy's face, so searchingly, that she was half afraid. His eyes feasted on her hair.

"This man Flemming—"

The two of them heard a gentle cough, and both whirled to see Harriet Crosby standing in the doorway. Nancy could feel what the other girl was thinking, though Miss Crosby's face was quite expressionless.

"She's thinking I'm common; that I'm just a vamp who's forced her way into this office," Nancy thought.

That's just what Harriet Crosby did think. As yet, Nancy had no way of knowing that Harriet, despite her thick lensed glasses, her plain hair, and her dowdy clothes was so thrilled every time Howard Wescott's hand happened to touch hers in the handling of papers, that her heart pounded like a steam engine.

At once Wescott was all business. "I was just explaining to Miss O'Day what her duties are to be," he began, "I think you girls will get along very nicely. After you show Miss O'Day what's to be done Miss Crosby, I have some mail I wish to get off at once."

He walked into his office and closed the door. Miss Crosby turned to Nancy.

"My goodness, but he's brisk. Wouldn't think what I read in the paper this morning is true. You certainly got into a lot of print yourself. S'pose the whole factory, the whole town, for that matter, is talking about it. You must be a much faster worker than anyone would believe, looking at you. Tired, I suppose, after your hard evening at the road house!"

Harriet Crosby started opening her typewriter desk as though she had had her fling of words. The papers she handled crackled as though charged with electricity.

Nancy was at a loss to know what to answer—or whether to answer at all.

"I don't know just what you mean by a fast worker, Miss Crosby," she said. "If this factoy and every factory in the city is buzzing with what happened last night, it's no affair of yours. And right from the beginning I'll thank you to attend to your own affairs and not trouble yourself about how tired I am."

It was a poor way to start her first day Nancy thought, as soon as she had uttered the words. But things were happening so fast now she hardly knew what she was saying or what she was doing.

Miss Crosby started dusting her desk as though it were the most important operation in the world. "Ever do any filing?" she finally jerked out.

Nancy had to admit that she had not, that everything in the office was new to her.

"Well, come here, I'll try to explain the system we use."

Nancy didn't like her tone, but beginners can't be choosers, and and she tried hard to grasp the directions.

After all, the filling was simple enough, though Harriet seemed to make a great task over it. Nancy sighed with relief when finally she let her continue alone with the heap of letters, took up her pencil and notebook and entered Wescott's private office.

How glad she was to be alone. It was the first minute she had been alone for days and days it seemed. The beautiful office, its thick rug, the plainness of its dark paneled walls, were restful both to her eyes and her spirit.

The papers rested idly in her lap. Suddenly she was back in Washington in a little cottage on Maple avenue where she knew a troubled old lady, her Mud O'Day, must have been worrying herself sick. Weeping probably.

Nancy jumped to her feet.

"Can't be day dreaming this way," she said, and started to file her letters twice as fast as before. She stood there, filing, filing, until her head ached, long after Harriet Crosby had come out of the inner office, her book full of shorthand notes. Harriet pounded away on her typewriter the rest of the morning, offering no suggestions.

Just before noon Howard Wescott rang for Harriet, and through the half open door Nancy heard him giving her directions for an errand far out on the other side of town.

"I'm sending you instead of an errand boy because it's important and I must be sure it's done right," Nancy heard him say.

Hardly had Harriet left when the door of Wescott's office opened and he stood there looking very sporty in a light overcoat, pulling on his gloves.

"Well, how did it go this morning?" he asked.

Before she had time to answer he said: "Miss O'Day I'd like very much to have you go to lunch with me. I want to talk to you."

Nancy's first impulse was to say no, but something stopped her. The same old daring, reckless feeling that she had experienced so often of late, welled up within her. She remembered Ginger's advice about getting along in the world.

"Very well, Mr. Wescott," she answered.

Five minutes later they were seated in Wescott's roadster, speeding through the streets and out of the city.

When Nancy saw that they were nearing the outskirts she plucked up enough courage to ask where they were going. Howard Wescott laughed, stepped on the gas, and said:

"Afraid you're getting kidnaped, eh? Well, you're not. I just thought we'd take a run to The Chalet, a nice eating place near Mt. Lebanon."

While Nancy was thinking it was rather unusual for a business man to go 10 or 12 miles for his luncheon, she found that the roadster had left the city behind and was speeding along the road.

"The Chalet," set in a grove of glorious trees high up on a bluff, was just about the quietest, most restful, loveliest spot in the world. Nancy thought. They pulled up beside the cafe. Wescott jumped out and slammed the door of the car before Nancy could alight.

"You just stay here a minute while I order the dinner. It'll take a little while and while it's being prepared we can take a stroll around," he said, his dark eyes shining.

How handsome he was, Nancy though. Often she had said she didn't care a rap whether or not a man was handsome, if he were only wholesome looking and manly. Now, for the first time in her life she was being thrilled by masculine beauty of a man who seemed to grow better looking every minute. For no reason at all that she could see, she found herself comparing this man's looks, his manners, with those of John Blair.

Wescott was as handsome as a movie actor, black eyed, smooth haired, dominating, compelling. John Blair was less sleek, never so faultlessly dressed. There was always a touch of the bashful about John.

Nancy couldn't imagine Howard Wescott as anything but perfectly groomed. The first time she had seen John Blair he had red clay on his boots. His fingernails were far from polished.

No, Howard Wescott wasn't a man to have clay on his boots. Not the kind who wore boots.

She had never known, never been close to anyone quite so elegant. She thought of this while he was hurrying up the steps into the cafe.

While he was gone she gazed about her, looking this way and that, trying to decide which view was most beautiful. Toward the east, down through the pines, she could catch glimpses of sapphire blue water. The wind in the branches above her sang a song, melancholy and sweet. At this odd hour she guessed that she and Howard Wescott were the only dinner guests that the remote cafe could boast.

"Now, then, how about a little walk before dinner." The words startled Nancy. She had been gazing at the trees thinking of Longfellow's lines—

"This is the forest primeval . . . the murmuring pines and the hemlocks."

Howard Wescott held out his hand to help her from the car. How different his hand was to either the hand of John Blair or Victor Fleming. It seemed that she was getting to be quite sensitive to the feel of people's hands. John Blair's hand was rather a rough hand, big and strong and warm to the touch. Vic's hand was soft, too velvety. Howard Wescott's hand was like neither.

Nancy only knew that a little shiver ran up and down her spine when she placed her fingers in his. His grip was masterful, compelling. At that moment she was not sure she wanted to go strolling through woods, over the carpet of brush that had accumulated there with the years, but she could not refuse.

Her heart was singing now. The clean, fresh air dashing into her face while they were riding had reacted like a cold shower. Now, under the pines, in the soft shadows, she began to feel a delightful languor. The strenuous happenings of the last few days and nights seemed to fade away and she only knew that now, for a brief hour, she could rest both her tired body and tired brain.

They walked toward the south, away from The Chalet, and soon found a narrow path, hardly wide enough for two to walk together, through great banks of ferns nearly as high as Nancy's waist. Many of them had begun to turn brown, and here and there, like a dash of gold on a canvas of green, there would be a yellow frond.

Howard Wescott stooped over and picked one of the golden ferns, handing it to Nancy, "It's as gold as your hair," he said, and before she could answer he had grasped her arm, pulling her to him, almost roughly, tipped back her head and kissed her.

Surprised as she was, Nancy wanted to laugh. She did laugh.

"Well, little girl, what's so funny about that?" he asked, with a look of chagrin, as though he wasn't in the habit of having girls laugh at his kisses.

"Mr. Wescott," Nancy said. "I'm laughing at myself—at you. Being grabbed and twirled about until I half stagger into the arms of you men is getting to be quite a common experience with me. It's the fourth or fif—"

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that here it is noon and a hungry man with a cut forehead and a bruised eye is making love to me," Nancy said. "That's what I am laughing at mostly, but it strikes me funny, too, that your methods, and the methods of another man I recently met, are so much alike. You both kiss so suddenly, without warning. I'm laughing to think that I've been in your office just one morning, and in your factory just one day, and you've started to make love to me. Honestly, I'm beginning to think I'm an actress in the movies."

It seemed to Nancy that she never felt more sure of herself than she did now, never more able to stand on her own two feet and say what she wanted to say. When Vic Flemming had kissed her and tried to make love to her she wanted to cry. Now the music of her laughter went echoing in and out of the trees. She leaned her back against a tree looking straight into the eyes of Howard Wescott.

JIMMIE MORRIS

Penn. Mother Knew Answer

"Yes sir, I am certainly proud of my little boy," says Mrs. Agnes T. Morris, 272 South 57th St., Philadelphia. "He's the picture of health as you can see, and I feel like he'll always be that way as long as I can get California Fig Syrup. I have used it with him ever since he was a year old. I know what to give him for constipation and his feverish, upset spells because Mother used California Fig Syrup with all of us as children. I have used it freely with my boy and he loves it. It always fixes him up, quick."

In many homes, like this, the third and fourth generations are using pure, wholesome California Fig Syrup because it has never failed to do what is expected of it. Nothing so quickly and thoroughly purges a child's system of the souring waste which keeps him cross, feverish, headachy, bilious, half-sick, with coated tongue, bad breath and no appetite or energy as long as it is allowed to remain in the little stomach and bowels. Fig Syrup gives tone and strength to these organs so they continue to act as Nature intends them to do, and helps build up and strengthen weak, pale and underweight children. Over four million bottles used a year shows its popularity. The genuine, endorsed by physicians for 50 years, always bears the word "California."

Drastic Pre-Inventory Clearance

FUR COATS

WE have more Fur Coats on hand right now than ever before in the month of January. And we must take Inventory on February 1st.

Unseasonable weather is one reason. If winter had set in two months ago, we would not now be facing this situation. But regardless of what the reasons might be, we must readjust these stocks.

It's no longer a question of what the coats cost us—or how much profit we might have made on them. We are interested only in selling them—and selling them quickly.

We have gone through all of the cases of our better coats—and selected a large portion of them—enough garments to fill every rack in our second floor Fur Department. And have reduced every one of them to $100.

"PORGY," OUT OF CATFISH ROW, SHOWS LIFE OF NEGRO AS IT IS LIVED

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

GEORGE SEIBEL

LIFE is the raw material of literature, but after awhile the raw material is refined out of all resemblance to life. Not so with "Porgy," the drama of the Guliah Negroes of South Carolina, written by Dubose and Dorothy Heyward, and presented by the Theater Guild last night at the Nixon Theater. Here is life, raw—and too fresh for the refining touch of thought. And so it is art, which is ever close to life.

The stage director, Rouben Mamoulian, has done the same thing as the dramatists. Apparently he has taken his actors and told them not to act. It is acting that spoils most actors. The Negroes who form the cast of "Porgy," all except three or four white characters, do not act—they just seem to live their parts as if their places of residence were Catfish Row.

Here we have the main secret of this great Theater Guild success. It has kept far from the theater, close to the soil. It seems to be a real crap game that is going on in the first scene; the two murders that vary the singing of spirituals seem to be actual killings, so it is no wonder the grief at the "wake" has a real ring.

The other secret lies in the fact that this is a piece of primitive life. Emotion has not been veneered by civilization so-called. These people "don't pollute whisky wid water"—as Maria of the cookshop tells the drunken Mingo. But they "have mixed their Voodooism with Christianity, and the result is a picturesque compost of both. When Mingo has spent for rotgut the money he should have paid the conjure woman, we hear the lament that now the sick Bess "won't have nothin' but Christian prayer." In such a society the people still feel deeply and act as they feel. The result may be murder, but it's not hypocrisy. And it's also touchingly human in all its phases of blind groping after light and love.

LOVE AND THE BEGGAR

Porgy is a poor cripple whose sources of income are begging and the bones. When Crown, the stevedore, commits a murder, Porgy falls heir to Crown's woman. When Crown comes back to get her, and taunts Porgy with not being a man, Porgy turns murderer. But while Porgy is in jail as a witness, Bess disappears with another tempter—and Porgy in his goatcart starts off to New York to find his woman. This is the simple story of the tragedy that plays in Catfish Row. It is filled with movement and character, which the Heywards depict with the gusto of a Dickens among the darkeys. The Honeyman, the Crabman, and the Lawyer are gems of humorous portraiture.

Instinct rules in this world of primitive creatures. As soon as a white man appears on the horizon, they scuttle into their holes. Whatever he is after, they have seen nothing. They have a philosophy of life, and it's this: "'Tain't nacheral fur luck never to change." They have a craving to be respectable, and so Bess and Porgy buy a divorce from the lawyer for a dollar and a half, made legal by the seal of the steamboat company. But above all things they live, and the expression of their life is rhythmic and harmonious. In their spirituals it finds expression and communes with the dark powers behind their universe. Jesus and the demons of Voodoo are one as real to them as the other. Both work miracles of healing by faith.

A DIFFERENT PLAY

Enough has been said to indicate that here we have a play, "Porgy," which is different from anything we have seen in the theater for years. It doesn't smell of the stage at all. There is no creaking of technique, because apparently there is no technique; nothing but life unfolding in pity and terror. There is no criticism of the acting called for, because apparently there is no acting. Frank Wilson as Porgy and Evelyn Ellis as Crown's Bess might be those very people. Leigh Whipper as the Crab Man did not get his round of applause for acting. The band which leads the crowd to the picnic is a real band from an orphanage in Charleston—and the large audience that filled the Nixon Theater was ready to accept every person on the stage as himself, imported from the Guliah belt and slightly translated to make things comprehensible to the people out front.

"Porgy" is not only the best thing the Theater Guild has brought to Pittsburgh—it is such a throbbing, vital, true slice of life that it reaches to the very highest regions of art.

Emil Bootlegs In Grand Film

Emil Jannings, talened German actor, is on the Grand screen this week as the latest example of movie evolution. This time the erring bank cashier of "The Way of All Flesh" and the mad czar of "The Patriot" is a saloonkeeper and a bootlegger. His new picture is "Sins of the Father." In it Jannings makes the rounds on the wheel of life, beginning as a waiter and ending just that. In the interlude he meets gayety, wealth and power, and tragedy. The crash comes when his own son, the victim of the father's poison whisky, goes blind. The cast includes Barry Norton and Ruther Chatterton. Sound screen specialty acts and news pictures are on the bill.

Veidt, Philbin Regent Stars

"The Man Who Laughs" is being shown for the first time in East Liberty in the Regent. This Universal production, co-starring Mary Philbin and Conrad Veidt, was directed by Paul Leni. It is based on Victor Hugo novel. Members of the supporting cast are Olgo Baclonova, Brandon Hurst, Josephine Crowell, George Seigmann and Stuart Holmes. In addition to the feature, the program includes short Vitaphone and news reels.

GOLD MANIA VIVIFIED IN PENN

"The Trail of '98," based on Robert W. Service's novel of the Klondike gold rush, is worth while, extremely worth while, merely as a picturesque reflection of the gold craze that swept the country with the discovery of the precious metal in Alaska. Add to this the thrills and romance of fiction that could have been actuality and the photoplay, as presented on the Penn screen, becomes a vivid and gripping exposition of one of the most colorful periods in history.

The craze itself is authentically duplicated. Then the rush—that mad frantic rush to get aboard a boat sailing for Alaska. Then the terrible battle of the argonauts, adventurers of all types, all ages, both sexes, with the cold and mountains, the dreadful Chilcoot Pass and the terrifying White Horse rapids. Finally the triumph—to be told to go back, that not one out of a thousand ever found gold, that there were 100 men for every job. That is the foundation on which the story is built and what the story is doesn't matter much.

REALISM IMPRESSES

The details count most and tell their own tale. The snowslide, with blood-chilling roar, that buries gold-seekers, appalling its realism. The shooting of the rapids, with gigantic waves engulfing frail craft and sending gold-seekers to eternity. These are as impressive as if one saw the actuality.

The melodramatic story reaches its climax with the boy coming back with gold to the girl he had left in Dawson City and she hurling it in his face because it was too late—because Dawson had transformed her into a different kind of a girl. Of course, there is a fight—no Klondike story since Rex Beach's first to reach the screen has been complete without one.

Dolores Del Rio and Ralph Graves are effective as the romantic leads. Tully Marshall and Karl Dane, in character roles, give the comedy relief.

"JUST KIDS" ON STAGE

On the stage Ad. Carter, cartoonist, appears with the "Just Kids" revue, bringing to life the characters in the Sun-Telegraph comic strip. Mr. Carter's part is to draw rapidly the well known kids and grown-ups of his strip and he does it amusingly. In the songs, dances and comedy of the little revue all the kiddies appear, including Mush Stebbins, Fatso Dolan, Pat Finnegan, played by Anna Chang, little Chinese girl, also grownups, including Officer Branner. Al Gale, as Mush Stebbins, is featured and is popular with his songs and comedy.

Aldine Offers McLaglen Film

Victor McLaglen, the rough and ready boy of the movies, takes a tumble in the Aldine this week. In "Captain Lash," sound photoplay, he "falls" for a pretty blonde and gets involved with a gang of jewel thieves. Victor is seen as the boss stoker on a trans-Pacific liner. Giant among men, he rules the ship's coal dugout with a ready fist. He knows men all right. But women keep him guessing. And there is one especially who fools him badly. She is the above-mentioned blonde, who is portrayed by Claire Windsor.

BOOB RESCUES BLONDE

Claire is a passenger of the liner. He saves her from being scalded by steam, but is injured and is placed in the ship's hospital. Daily she visits him and sends him flowers. He, booblike, thinks she loves him, when, in reality, she is using him as a tool for getting some stolen jewels ashore for her when the ship reaches Singapore. Lots of things happen before the final fadeout. One being a grand fistic encounter, with our Victor vanquishing three or four armed men.

The sound screen presents a Metro-Movietone Revue, offering dance, song and comedy; Lynn Cowan, community singer, and Conlin and Glass in "Sharps and Flats." There is Fox Movietone News also.

Thurston Bill In Last Week

Howard Thurston began the third and final week of his engagement in the Pitt Monday night. Thurston, foremost magician on the stage at present, mixes much comedy with his sleight of hand and illusions. Some of the latter are most elaborate. Of that nature is the instant vanishing of an automobile with seven girls in and on it. A spirit cabinet is mystifying and spooky. There are two Thurston's in the entertainment, the other being Jane, daughter of the wizard, who sings "My Dad's a Hocus-Pocus Man," and other songs, dances pleasingly and does a magic act also. There is a lot of wholesome amusement in a Thurston show.

STAGE AND SCREEN -:- PLAYERS -:- IN CURRENT BILLS

SONGS, TALK IN STANLEY PICTURE

Fannie Brice, making her motion picture debut, has brought her old songs, her inimitable stage personality and "her man" to the Stanley screen this week. Her picture is "My Man" and Guinn Williams appears as that somewhat faithless individual.

And right here we might as well tell you that without Miss Brice there would be no picture. She, practically, is the whole show.

In the drama, Fannie, as the heroine, has stage ambitions. She also has a desire for a man—a strong, sort-o-dumb-looking fellow, who appears as a demonstrator in a drug store window. She weaves romantic dreams about him and one day meets him—in a public park as he is about to be arrested for vagrancy. It seems he was fired from the drug store act. Then she feeds him and sings to him: "I'd Rather Be Blue Thinking of You, Than Happy With Someone Else."

NAUGHTY SISTER

The man gets a job and Fannie "almost can smell the wedding cake." But on the eve of her wedding, Fannie loses "her man" when he topples for the wiles of her naughty sister. Broken-hearted she sends "her man" away. Pathetically she stands and sings her well-known "My Man" song to a group of friends who have come to wish her a happy married life.

About 500 camera cranks later, Fannie has reached stardom on the stage. Out she comes, a breath of spring and comedy, and sings her "Spring Song." Up in the gallery "her man" and the sister are having a quarrel. Then the final appearance of Fannie, singing "If You Want the Rainbow, You Must Have the Rain."

SOME DIALOGUE

The production, in addition to numerous songs by Miss Brice, has quite a few dialogue sequences. But it isn't an all-talkie. The song interruptions and some of the talking parts jolt and disconnect the story. But Fannie makes you forget about that.

There is a stage presentation, "Hodge-Podge," and other screen entertainment.

Enright Film Stars Colleen

Colleen Moore, as a little girl who wants to sin, furnishes lots of laughs in "Synthetic Sin," ner new starring photoplay. It is the current feature in the Enright, East End.

Colleen is seen as a sweet, innocent Southern maiden, who dreams of being a Bernhardt. She gets a chance to portray a "bad woman" on the stage. But she proves a dismal failure. It takes experience with sin to play such a part, she is told. So she sets out for New York and the underworld to get the experience.

"SIN" IS HUMOR ONLY

She wants to sin right away, the subtitles tell you. But the sin expedition turns out to be a humorous excursion for the audience. As for Colleen, the playwrighting Antonio Moreno convinces her she'd make a better wife than an actress.

The film is offered with synchronized musical score and sound effects—the latter being quite feeble.

Ivan Bankoff and Company display keen dancing and neat clowning in a stage act. The stage also offers songs by Miss Welcome Lewis. Two entertaining Vitaphone specialty acts, an organlogue and orchestra music complete the bill.

Academy Has Gladys Clark

"Girls, from the Follies" is this week's burlesque attraction in the Academy. Features of the show are "The Three Lovers," a travesty, and "Here and There," a revue act. Gladys Clark, singer, dancer and instrumentalist, is prominent in the cast. Sam Raynor heads the comedy group. He is assisted by John Crosby, Italian character comedian; Lew LeRoy and Frank Mallahan. Other players include Zona Duval and Mae Raynor. Fay Tunis, dancer, aided by a dozen or so girls, is seen in dance numbers.

William Penn Shows Talkie

The William Penn, North Side, is presenting the talking picture, "The Home Towners," the first three days of this week. It is based on the George M. Cohan stage comedy. The cast includes Richard Bennett, Doris Kenyon and Gladys Brockwell. The sound screen also presents several talking and singing acts. "The Hit of the Show" will be presented the last three days of the week.

"THE DESERT SONG," IN ALVIN AGAIN PLEASES WITH ITS MUSIC AND ROMANCE

"THE DESERT SONG," operetta with fascinating music by Sigmund Romberg, set to a romantic story of a French Robin Hood who casts his lot with the Riffs of Morocco, returned last night to the Alvin, where it was one of the pleasing productions of the earlier part of the season. The same company, with one exception, that appeared here previously again was seen on the stage. Bernard Granville, agile dancer and comedian, did not appear in the part that carries the fun element and inquiry elicited the response that the droll chap was left in Chicago suffering from illness.

The young man who played the character of a society reporter assigned as a war correspondent, Granville's part, can be credited with an earnest attempt to fill another man's shoes, but Granville certainly was missed.

LEADS SING PARTS WELL

Alexander Gray again sang and played the romantic male lead, that of the son of a French general whose sympathy for the Riffs led him to espouse their cause and lead them in battle against the French so effectively that he became known as the Red Shadow. Bernice Claire also is back again as the pretty young woman the youth loves and whom she merely tolerates, believing him to be a mollycoddle, as he pretends to be when he is not red shadowing. It is these two who sang "The Desert Song," title piece of the operetta, having a haunting melody. They sang it well, too.

GIRL CARRIES THE COMEDY

Sally Sloan, cute little comedienne, supplied most of the pep of the show, sav'ng the "It" song and dance number from being a complete disaster. This, with Granville on the singing end, was one of the hits of the piece on its previous presentation. Edna Torrence, as a native dancer, continued to put much intensity in her interpretation of a girl seeking revenge because of the inconstancy of a French officer also in love with Margot, Miss Claire's character.

Other's prominent included Philip Ryder, Pittsburgh actor, Carlotta Miles, Harold Stanton, Albert Baron and Ben Hendricks, who looked and acted the real thing, in the part of a French general, as Ryder did in his role of native chief.

From the romantic and musical standpoint "The Desert Song" is as good as it was on its first showing here—that being very good indeed—and it was so accepted by the audience, but it suffers in comparison in the matter of comedy.

Sheridan Bill Has Norworth

Jack Norworth, Peter Higgins and "Mother Machree" are on the bill in the Sheridan Square the first three days of this week. "Mother Machree," the photoplay, suggested by the song of that name, features Belle Bennett, Victor McLaglen, Phillippe DeLacey and Neil Hamilton. Jack Norworth and Dorothy Adelphi offer their comedy skit, "The Nagger," followed by songs by Jack. Peter Higgins, who is a Pittsburgher, is heard in a song act. Marie Bergman and her boy friend present a mixture of song, dance and comedy. The Bennett Brothers offer a novelty act. Talking picture effects also offer Will Mahoney, in a skit, "The Croonaders."

Tech Drama School To Give Four Plays

Four short plays will be produced by the Department of Drama of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, in the theater of the College of Fine Arts. The group of plays include: "The Intruder" by Maurice Maeterlinck; "The Mountains of Bether" by Carroll Fitzhugh; "The Unsensible Lovers," by E. Martin Browne and "The Proposal" by Anton Tchekov. The plays will be produced by Lee Mitchell, Elizabeth Schrader, E. Martin Browne and Theodore Viehman.

Railroad Officials Honored at Dinner

Archie W. Miller, of Toledo, former city passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here, and Milton N. Luthl, of Williamsport, Pa., former chief clerk to the general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad here, were guests of honor last night at a dinner in the Keystone Athletic Club, held by the Pittsburgh Passenger Club. About 200 members were present.

JIMMY SAVO SHINES IN DAVIS

In a bill of varied entertainment in the Davis that irresistible clown, Jimmy Savo, is funnier than ever. He can probably extract more laughs from nothing than anybody else on the stage—and besides he has a good voice, which he knows how to use on the rare occasions when he uses it. There are other good voices in the Davis, notably that of Rosalind Ruby, the "shop girl prima donna," who sings some bravura passages from "Boheme" and "Traviata" in a way to win storms of applause.

TOM WARING PLEASES

And Tom Waring also is a pleasing singer, with his "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Girls Are Marching"—a skit on the damsels who walk home from joy rides.

Trixie Friganza is the headliner, and is the same as ever, only there's more of her. She is a cyclone of mirth, having learned perfectly how to capitalize her surplus. Another bit of rich comedy is supplied by Harry Watson, Jr., in a telephone scene and as a prize fighter—both uproarious slapstick stuff.

GASPS FROM FALLS

Archie and Gertie Falls provide some gasps by their knockabout scene, while Jim Toney and Ann Norman have an amusing sketch full of laughable lines.

Adeline Bendon furnishes the dancing act of the program, and displays dash and grace, while four clever young men furnish the masculine background. But really the speediest and most thrilling act of all was that of the Dack Shing Company, Chinese acrobats, a family of five, whose contortions, balancing and tumbling deserve the word sensational. It was an effective climax to a very good bill.

IRISH DRAMA ON HARRIS SCREEN

"Mother Machree," a photoplay suggested by the song of that name, won applause yesterday when it opened a three-day engagement in the Harris. The picture seemingly has caught much of the spirit of the song and is good entertainment. Mother love, of course, is its central theme. The early part of the drama is laid in Ireland. Later the scenes shift to New York. There's a brief war interlude.

Belle Bennett, as usual, does a fine piece of work in the title role. Other players also satisfy, including Victor McLaglen and Neil Hamilton. The production is a sound picture, a feature of which is the singing of the theme song by young Mr. Hamilton. Phillippe DeLacey, child actor, who is prominent in the early sequences of the photoplay, deserves plenty of acclaim.

VAUDEVILLE BILL

Berk and Saun, on their first Pittsburgh engagement, prove one of the features of the vaudeville bill. This pair do a wooden soldier dance, offer some other steps and songs and end up with sort of a burlesque on the song, "My Night With Baby." The Fantastic Studio presents four feminine violinists, two dancing girls and a tall body who is good at the steps. Two youthful banjo players open the vaudeville portion of the show and get quite a "hand" with their "Medley of Overtures." In an acrobatic act of a sort a big slim fellow—on stilts it is assumed—tosses a little fellow about.

A sound screen specialty is the appearance of Will Mahoney, who does some of his vaudeville specialties. An organlogue and news pictures also are on the bill.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Sophie Irene Loeb, social service worker and author, left more than $100,000, largely in real estate, when she died last Friday, the filing of her will shows.

Her mother, Mrs. Mary Simon, of Miami, Fla., is the principal beneficiary, receiving the life use of the residuary estate. Mrs. Mary Flynn, housekeeper, receives $500.

The other legatees are Mrs. Jennie Bennett, of New York, a sister, and two brothers, A. M. Simon, a McKeesport attorney, and I. A. Simon, of Pittsburgh.

The principal is to go to six nephews and nieces at Mrs. Simon's death. One of her nieces is Aline MacMahon, stage star.

Woman in Buggy Hurt by 'Hit-Run'

Mrs. Mary Antolones, 38, of Walkers Mills, near Carnegie, was injured slightly last night when a hit-run motorist struck a buggy she was driving in the Noblestown road, near Fort Pitt. She was treated at a nearby physician's office and taken home.

Ban on Calliopes, Radios Indorsed

W. H. French, secretary of the Fifth Avenue Association, has forwarded to Council a letter indorsing a pending ordinance forbidding calliopes to use city streets and prohibiting the placing of radio loud speakers in store windows and doors opening on the sidewalks.

FIGHT OVER DRY FUND SPLITS TEMPERANCE FORCES

BACKING GIVEN MELLON BY M. E. BODY

By KENNETH CLARK,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A Senate amendment, which its sponsor believed would command unified support of prohibitionists, has split the organized dry ranks wide open.

Senator Harris (Dem.), of Georgia, little thought when he offered a $25,000,000 increase for prohibition enforcement that the proposal would precipitate one of the sharpest rows among the drys since the early days of the temperance movement. But it has done that. The ramifications may extend deeper.

The fight has centered chiefly in the country's two most militant prohibition organization—the Anti-Saloon League and the Prohibition Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

MELLON'S REASONS

Shortly after Harris introduced the amendment, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon came out strongly against the increase, saying the federal prohibition unit couldn't use the money to advantage at this time, chiefly because the courts are now so clogged they can't handle the present cases arising under the dry law. He proposed that a survey be made to determine the unit's exact needs, and suggested the Department of Justice might well use an increase to speed up prosecutions.

He drew sharp censure from Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Richmond, a leader in the fight against Al Smith in the South; Bishop Thomas Nicholson, president of the Anti-Saloon League, and E. L. Crawford, secretary of the Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. They said unless he approved the appropriation the nation would feel he wasn't "eager" to enforce the law.

BACK SECRETARY

Before Mellon had a chance to answer, the Methodist Episcopal (North) Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals issued a statement upholding the views of the treasury chief. Thus the cleavage was sharply drawn with its colleague of the southern church.

An equally sharp division was revealed among officialdom of the Anti-Saloon League. The result is that a fight already is brewing to oust some of the present leaders.

F. Scott McBride, who assumed the mantle of the late Wayne B. Wheeler as general legislative manager of the league, declared in a statement that he opposed the extra money until such time as the treasury had a definite need and use for it. Thus his views were in direct opposition to those expressed by Bishop Nicholson.

South Sea Dances To Feature Play By Permas Club

Several score members of the Permas Club, 3881 East street, are rehearsing for "South Sea Moon," a musical comedy to be given February 6, 7 and 8 in Perry High School auditorium. Impersonations, all by male members, range from Hula-hula girls in grass costume to wild men and sailors of the United States Navy. Fred C. Hopton is general chairman of the committee in charge; William C. Horst, vice president, and William Bollen, secretary-treasurer. Leading parts will be taken by Henry Sens, Orval Draper, John Baldinger, L. G. Maier, William Zeigenhein, Charles Zoller, George A. Edgin and William English.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 20 years of study.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes sold yearly. 15c, 30c, 60c. All druggists.

DOCTOR GAVE HER MIXTURE TO STOP COUGHING SPELLS

Coughed So Bad People Stared—Began to Worry Family.

HAWKED AND SPIT UP PHLEGM EACH MORNING

"A person with a bad cough is a fool not to see their doctor right away," declares Mrs. D. R. Shadwell. "I coughed in church, in the office where I work and at the movies so bad people would stare at me. Mornings I was a nuisance around the house, coughing up phlegm and mucus. At night I breathed through my mouth and mornings my mouth was dry and tasted awful.

SAW HER DOCTOR

"Our old doctor met me on the street and noticed I coughed every minute or so. I told him 25c cough remedies did no good and I couldn't take cold liver oil. He laughed and wrote down the name 'Linonine' and told me it was a nice-tasting Flaxseed mixture with Eucalyptus, etc., far better than Cod Liver Oil and quicker, too.

WONDERFUL RESULTS

"Only the bigger downtown stores had Linonine but it's worth going miles to get. My cough loosened up and vanished almost like magic. Since then a dozen friends who were wheezing and coughing around have taken Linonine and even the kids in the neighborhood like to take it when they get a cough or cold. It builds you up, too."

A cough is a nasty, annoying thing to have and dangerous, too, this time of year. A 50c or $1.00 bottle at home does the work. Well stocked druggists have Linonine, made by the nationally known Kerr Chemical Co.

Pittsburgh Council Bill Up in Senate

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—The bill of Senator William D. Mansfield, McKeesport, to equalize salaries of Pittsburgh councilmen, was before the Senate for second reading today. It repeals, so far as Pittsburgh is concerned, the law prohibiting changing salaries of city officials during the term for which they were elected. Some of the Pittsburgh councilmen are serving with higher salaries than those whose terms did not expire with the last municipal election.

GASOLINE TAX BOOST THREATENED IN STATE

By W. I. GRUNDISH,
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—The demand of Pittsburgh and other cities for a return of a portion of the motor vehicle license fees received no consideration in the administration budget presented to the Legislature by Gov. John S. Fisher.

While the Governor recommended that the state take over the maintenance expenses of about 390 miles of city streets over which state highways pass, and of approximately 1,800 bridges on the road system, he made it clear that this action could not be taken without some method being devised to increase the revenue.

MORE GAS TAX

The method adopted probably will be an increase of one cent in the gasoline tax which would bring in an additional $10,000,000 a year, according to Highway Department estimates. The present tax is three cents per gallon, of which one cent is an emergency measure expiring May 31.

The budget is based upon the promise that this emergency cent will be continued for at least two more years.

The increase would be in addition to this, making the total tax 4 cents a gallon.

Any move to increase the gasoline tax will be bitterly fought here. Charges already are being hurled that the budget figures presented by the Department of Highways do not tell the whole truth about its financial condition and that plenty of money is available for its activities, without any increase in either the gasoline tax or motor license fees.

The department estimates that $120,372,150 will be available for the next two years, not including the continuance of the tax on anthracite, which amounts to about eight cents a ton, and which brings to the state about $12,000,000 a year. The fight for the repeal of that tax already has been started by the hard coal bloc, some of the members of which are advocating a tax on the capital stock of manufacturing corporations as a substitute. That proposal will be opposed by Joseph R. Grundy, head of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, and his associates, who, to date, have been successful in keeping such a law off the statute books.

BUDGET INCREASE

The administration budget suggets to the Legislature appropriations totaling $167,666,302, an increase of $22,536,147 over the amount appropriated in 1927. In addition proposed expenditures from special earmarked funds will bring the total cost of the state government during the next two years to $301,676,830 as compared with $296,163,167 during the past two years.

The estimated revenues will not be able to take care of the $167,000,000 appropriation the Legislature is asked to make, according to the budget, the difference will come from a treasury surplus estimated in the budget at $23,540,302.

High spots in the budget were:

The appropriation of $1,000,000 to the University of Pittsburgh, the same amount as last year, as part of a total appropriation of $79,814,500 to Department of Public Instruction.

The appropriation of $10,000,000 for new buildings to the Department of Welfare which lost a $50,000,000 bond issue for the purpose in November.

The total sum set aside for this department is $35,377,500, an increase of $6,000,000 over 1927. An increase of $528,000 in the state police appropriation to enlist additional men as part of the Governor's program to curtail the use of coal and iron police.

The failure of the budget to take cognizance of the drive to increase judges' salaries. The increase would cost about $250,000 annually.

The setting aside of $2,250,000 for new buildings at Pennsylvania State College, which lost a bond issue of $8,000,000 for the purpose.

The total appropriation for State College is $6,211,000 for all purposes.

A $5,000,000 bond issue for the purpose was defeated.

The setting aside of $1,025,000 for the new department of revenue, which will handle all tax collections.

Appropriation of $175,000 to the Bureau of Aeronautics, created two years ago without provisions for funds.

Announcement that specific recommendations for prisons, hospitals and homes will be made later, $8,448,000 being set aside for penal institutions, $9,725,000 for insane hospitals, $5,500,000 for the West Penn, Allegheny General and other state-aided hospitals, and $650,000 for state-aided homes.

Appropriations of $1,000,000 for purchase of forest lands, an increase of $500,000 over 1927. A $25,000,000 bond issue for this purpose lost.

A recommendation that $2,085,000, discovered during an audit, lying unused in special funds, be transferred to the general treasury.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22.—A bill was introduced in the Senate today by Senator Leslie, Allegheny, appropriating $13,855,219 out of the motor license fund for payment of sinking fund charges; appropriating $5,000 to the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal board; and giving $250,000 from the motor license fund for elimination of grade crossings.

53 INDICTED TO PLEAD TUESDAY

The 53 defendants indicted by the special federal grand jury at the last session will be arraigned to plead next Tuesday, United States Attorney John D. Meyer announced today after a conference with the judges.

The number includes 25 North Siders indicted as alleged members of a rum conspiracy, 12 indicted for alleged evasion of income tax and 16 indicted for alleged violation of the prohibition act in the Union Hunting and Fishing Club.

Meyer said when the special term of court convenes February 4 the tax-evasion cases will be called first, the so-called rum conspiracy cases second and the Union Club cases third.

$18,000 Estate Left In Trust by Woman

Mrs. Prudence Horrocks Simms left an estate valued at $18,000, according to her will filed for probate today. The estate is left in trust for the maintenance of her parents, her husband, Dudley S. Simms, and a minor son, William H. Simms. The entire estate goes to the son when he becomes 35. The Bank of Pittsburgh and Dudley S. Simms are named executors.

Separated

BLANCHE SWEET

A "for sale" sign has been posted on the lawn of the home of Marshall Neilan, film director, and his wife, Blanche Sweet, and his friends have confirmed the report that the couple have separated. Friends of the family say Mrs. Neilan had told them a reconciliation was impossible.

KEEP YOUR STOMACH YOUNG AND SWEET

Every bite of food you eat MUST be digested, and the waste matter eliminated. That's sure. If your stomach is sluggish and old, from the excessive acids which keep eating away the gastric juices, you must dissolve them, or you never will be free from indigestion, sour risings, bloating and drowsiness after you eat.

Get a package of Pape's Diapepsin from your nearest drug store and chew one of the tablets after meals. Instantly the distress is relieved, it dissolves the acids, sweetens the stomach and you will have an appetite again like you had when a child.

All drug stores have Pape's Diapepsin. More than 5 million packages are used a year.

WONDERFUL WAY IT HELPED HER

Says Local Designer, After New Medicine, Ten Herbs, Ended Health Troubles.

"After trying almost every kind of medicine without finding any relief, you can imagine how greatly I was surprised when your wonderful herbal medicine, Ten Herbs, ended my health troubles," was the recent statement of Miss Catherine Francis, 259 Melwood Avenue, Apartment 206, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this famous new compound to crowds of men and women of all ages and walks in life.

MISS CATHERINE FRANCIS

"I am a designer by profession, and due to lack of exercise I became troubled with constipation," Miss Francis continued. "Indigestion caused me to have severe gas attacks. At times I had terrible headaches. Such awful dizzy spells would come on me that sometimes I could not see to draw, and there would be days at a time that I could not take care of my business. I had about given up hope of ever finding relief.

"I had read and heard a great deal about Ten Herbs, but I was so discouraged that I had little faith in it. Finally a friend, who had used Ten Herbs with very good results, induced me to try your medicine. Now I feel like a new person. I am free of gas and bloating, and constipation has been entirely relieved. Headaches and dizzy spells are gone, I sleep soundly all night long, and when morning comes I am filled with energy and ready for work. I have gained weight, and my complexion has improved wonderfully. Many of my friends are asking what caused this great change in me, and I gladly give all credit for my glorious health to Ten Herbs. I can honestly advise others who may be troubled as I was to give your medicine a trial, for I feel sure that it will benefit them."

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

TEACHERS' PAY BILL IN SENATE

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22.—The schedule of pay increases for teachers in Pittsburgh, suggested recently by a citizens' committee studying the matter, is made effective in a bill presented by Senator William D. Mansfield, Allegheny. A second bill would provide the increased millage necessary providing that in 1930 and 1931 the millage shall be not less than 2¾ mills and not more than 3¼ mills, and thereafter shall be not less than 3 mills nor more than 3½ mills.

Woman, 83, Fatally Burned at Stove

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 22.—When her clothes ignited as she lighted the gas in the range in the kitchen of her home in North Pittsburgh street to prepare dinner, Mrs. Emma Lytle, 83, was fatally burned.

C. OF C. FAVORS HEALTH BILL

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce has adopted a report of its public health committee indorsing the Ransdell bill, now before Congress, providing for a national institute of health under the administration and control of the surgeon general.

The chamber also adopted a recommendation from the city and suburban transit committee, proposing relocation of the Lincoln Highway from Wilkinsburg to the city via Rebecca, Edgerton and Reynolds streets to Beechwood boulevard. Similarly, a report indorsing a readjustment of retirement pay for postal employes, "regardless of postoffice receipts," was adopted.

Have you all of your own teeth?

Unless you take preventive measures now, the day is coming when you may know, to your sorrow, that the true meaning of the phrase "artificial denture" is often the extravagant price of self-neglect—false teeth. Here's the reason and the way to help safeguard health against the coming of this day.

Teeth are only as healthy as the gums. And gums, undernourished and under-exercised, soon surrender to dread diseases that ravage health and often destroy teeth. To prevent this, avail yourself of the best care that modern dentistry offers. Place yourself in the hands of your dentist at least twice a year. And brush your gums when you brush your teeth, every morning and night.

Best for this purpose—use Forhan's for the Gums . . . the dentifrice designed to help firm gums and keep them sound, thus protecting them from the attack of disease.

Use Forhan's regularly. You'll be delighted with the way it makes your gums look and feel. In addition, you'll notice that it effectively and safely cleans teeth and helps to protect them from decay. Get a tube of Forhan's—today!

Modernizing Marriage

Lots of sophisticated young women declare there is no reason why an enlightened girl should marry, these days. And lots of cynical young men retort that there never WAS any reason why an enlightened man should marry. So there!

* * *

HELEN ROWLAND

But the cabinet-makers still continue to turn out hope chests, the jewelers go right on making platinum wedding bands and the clerk of the marriage license bureau still continues to look all fagged out around the end of June!

The truth is that dear old marriage has had its face lifted and its skirts shortened and become so rejuvenated that we don't recognize it any more! It is no longer STANDARDIZED. It is modernized.

* * *

You can no longer spot a wedded pair by "that married look." You can't even tell the matrons from the debutantes, or the husbands from the bachelors, at a country club dance.

There is no such thing as a typical married woman—plump, resigned, dowdy and complacent looking. And no such person as the old-fashioned standardized husband—serious, overworked, home-broken and seedy looking. Marriage doesn't come dressed in bombazine, any more. It comes in a thousand attractive disguises, like soda water.

* * *

We don't even marry for the same old, standardized reasons, today. Fancy a modern man marrying in order to acquire a cook and a housekeeper! Or an up-to-date girl marrying in order to get "Mrs." on her calling cards and a lifelong meal ticket!

* * *

We may marry for any one of a thousand reasons—for companionship or for romance; for a life-work or for an adventure; for experience or for inspiration; for love, for money, for a playmate, for a yoke-mate or for a working partner.

* * *

We may marry on a shoestring and we may marry on an impulse.

* * *

But the point is, that today, yesterday and forever, we KEEP RIGHT ON MARRYING!

Marriage may be changed, diluted, disguised and "improved." But it is still the only union that satisfies the human soul. And no life is complete without it!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Rapid Fat Reduction Is a Menace to Health

IN the course of a year thousands of letters come to my desk asking about weight reduction. Nobody wants to be fat. Everybody who is fleshy wants to know how to reduce.

DR. COPELAND

For a good many years I have been watching the efforts at and the effects of fat reduction. As a result certain convictions have been taking form in my mind. Perhaps you will be interested in some of them.

There can be no doubt that there are disadvantages to overweight. It is not alone because of the appearance of the victim, but because of its effects upon health, that we disapprove of surplus flesh.

Many times I have reviewed the testimony of a committee of experts who studied the records of several large life insurance companies. These men reached the conclusion that overweight was a distinct menace to health. At the end of their survey they stated, among other things, that a man 50 years of age who is 50 pounds overweight has lessened his expectation of life by at least 50 per cent.

Fat is not laid on the outside of the body as plaster is laid on the walls of a house. On the contrary, it is distributed throughout the body, involving all the organs and structures of the body. The fat may replace in part the muscles of the heart. It may choke the kidneys and liver. It may interfere with and weaken all the functions.

With this picture in mind, you can appreciate its bad effects. It will be seen without further argument that health and vigor will suffer if fat is permitted to accumulate and produce such effects. It is clear that it is your duty to yourself to avoid this evil.

But what about the person, particularly the woman, who has taken on a lot of surplus fat and has suffered from overweight for years? What should she do?

The abdominal organs, notably the stomach and intestines, and the pelvic organs, particularly the uterus, require certain supports. Nature has provided this in the ligaments and other devices planned for the very purpose of holding them in place.

If fat is deposited in the tissues in large quantities the localized accumulations of this substance serve as additional supports to the organs. Indeed, the fat may take from the anatomical structure intended to carry the weight of these organs a large percentage of their work. In consequence, the ligaments and natural supporting devices may lose tone and strength.

In a case of this sort the rapid withdrawal of the accumulated fat may take away the support upon which the body has come to rely. In consequence, the organs drop and may be materially displaced by the removal of the abnormal props.

My warning to fleshy people who have endured their overweight for years is to be extremely deliberate in fat reduction. It is dangerous to go too fast. Dropping—"prolapse," the doctors call it—may be produced if the fat is withdrawn. The fat might better be endured for health's sake than to be dissolved too speedily for the sake of appearances.

The conclusion of the whole matter is this: It is better to stay fat than by violent methods to get thin.

Answers to Health Queries

S. L. C. Q.—What would cause an 8-month-old baby's hands to swell and become hard. Would this be due to the fact that he keeps his hands uncovered at night and is subject to constipation?

2.—What can be done for the latter condition in a baby? Would it be wise to give him fruit juices?

A.—Should have an examination of the kidneys. The fact that he is constipated may have a bearing on the condition, but would not be the actual cause.

2.—See that he has fresh vegetables and fruits as well as their juices in his diet. Prune, orange juice or a little apple sauce would all be suitable, given in small quantity.

M. W. Q.—What can I do for oily hair?

A.—This requires special treatment. A tonic should be used several times during the week and immediately after shampooing the hair.

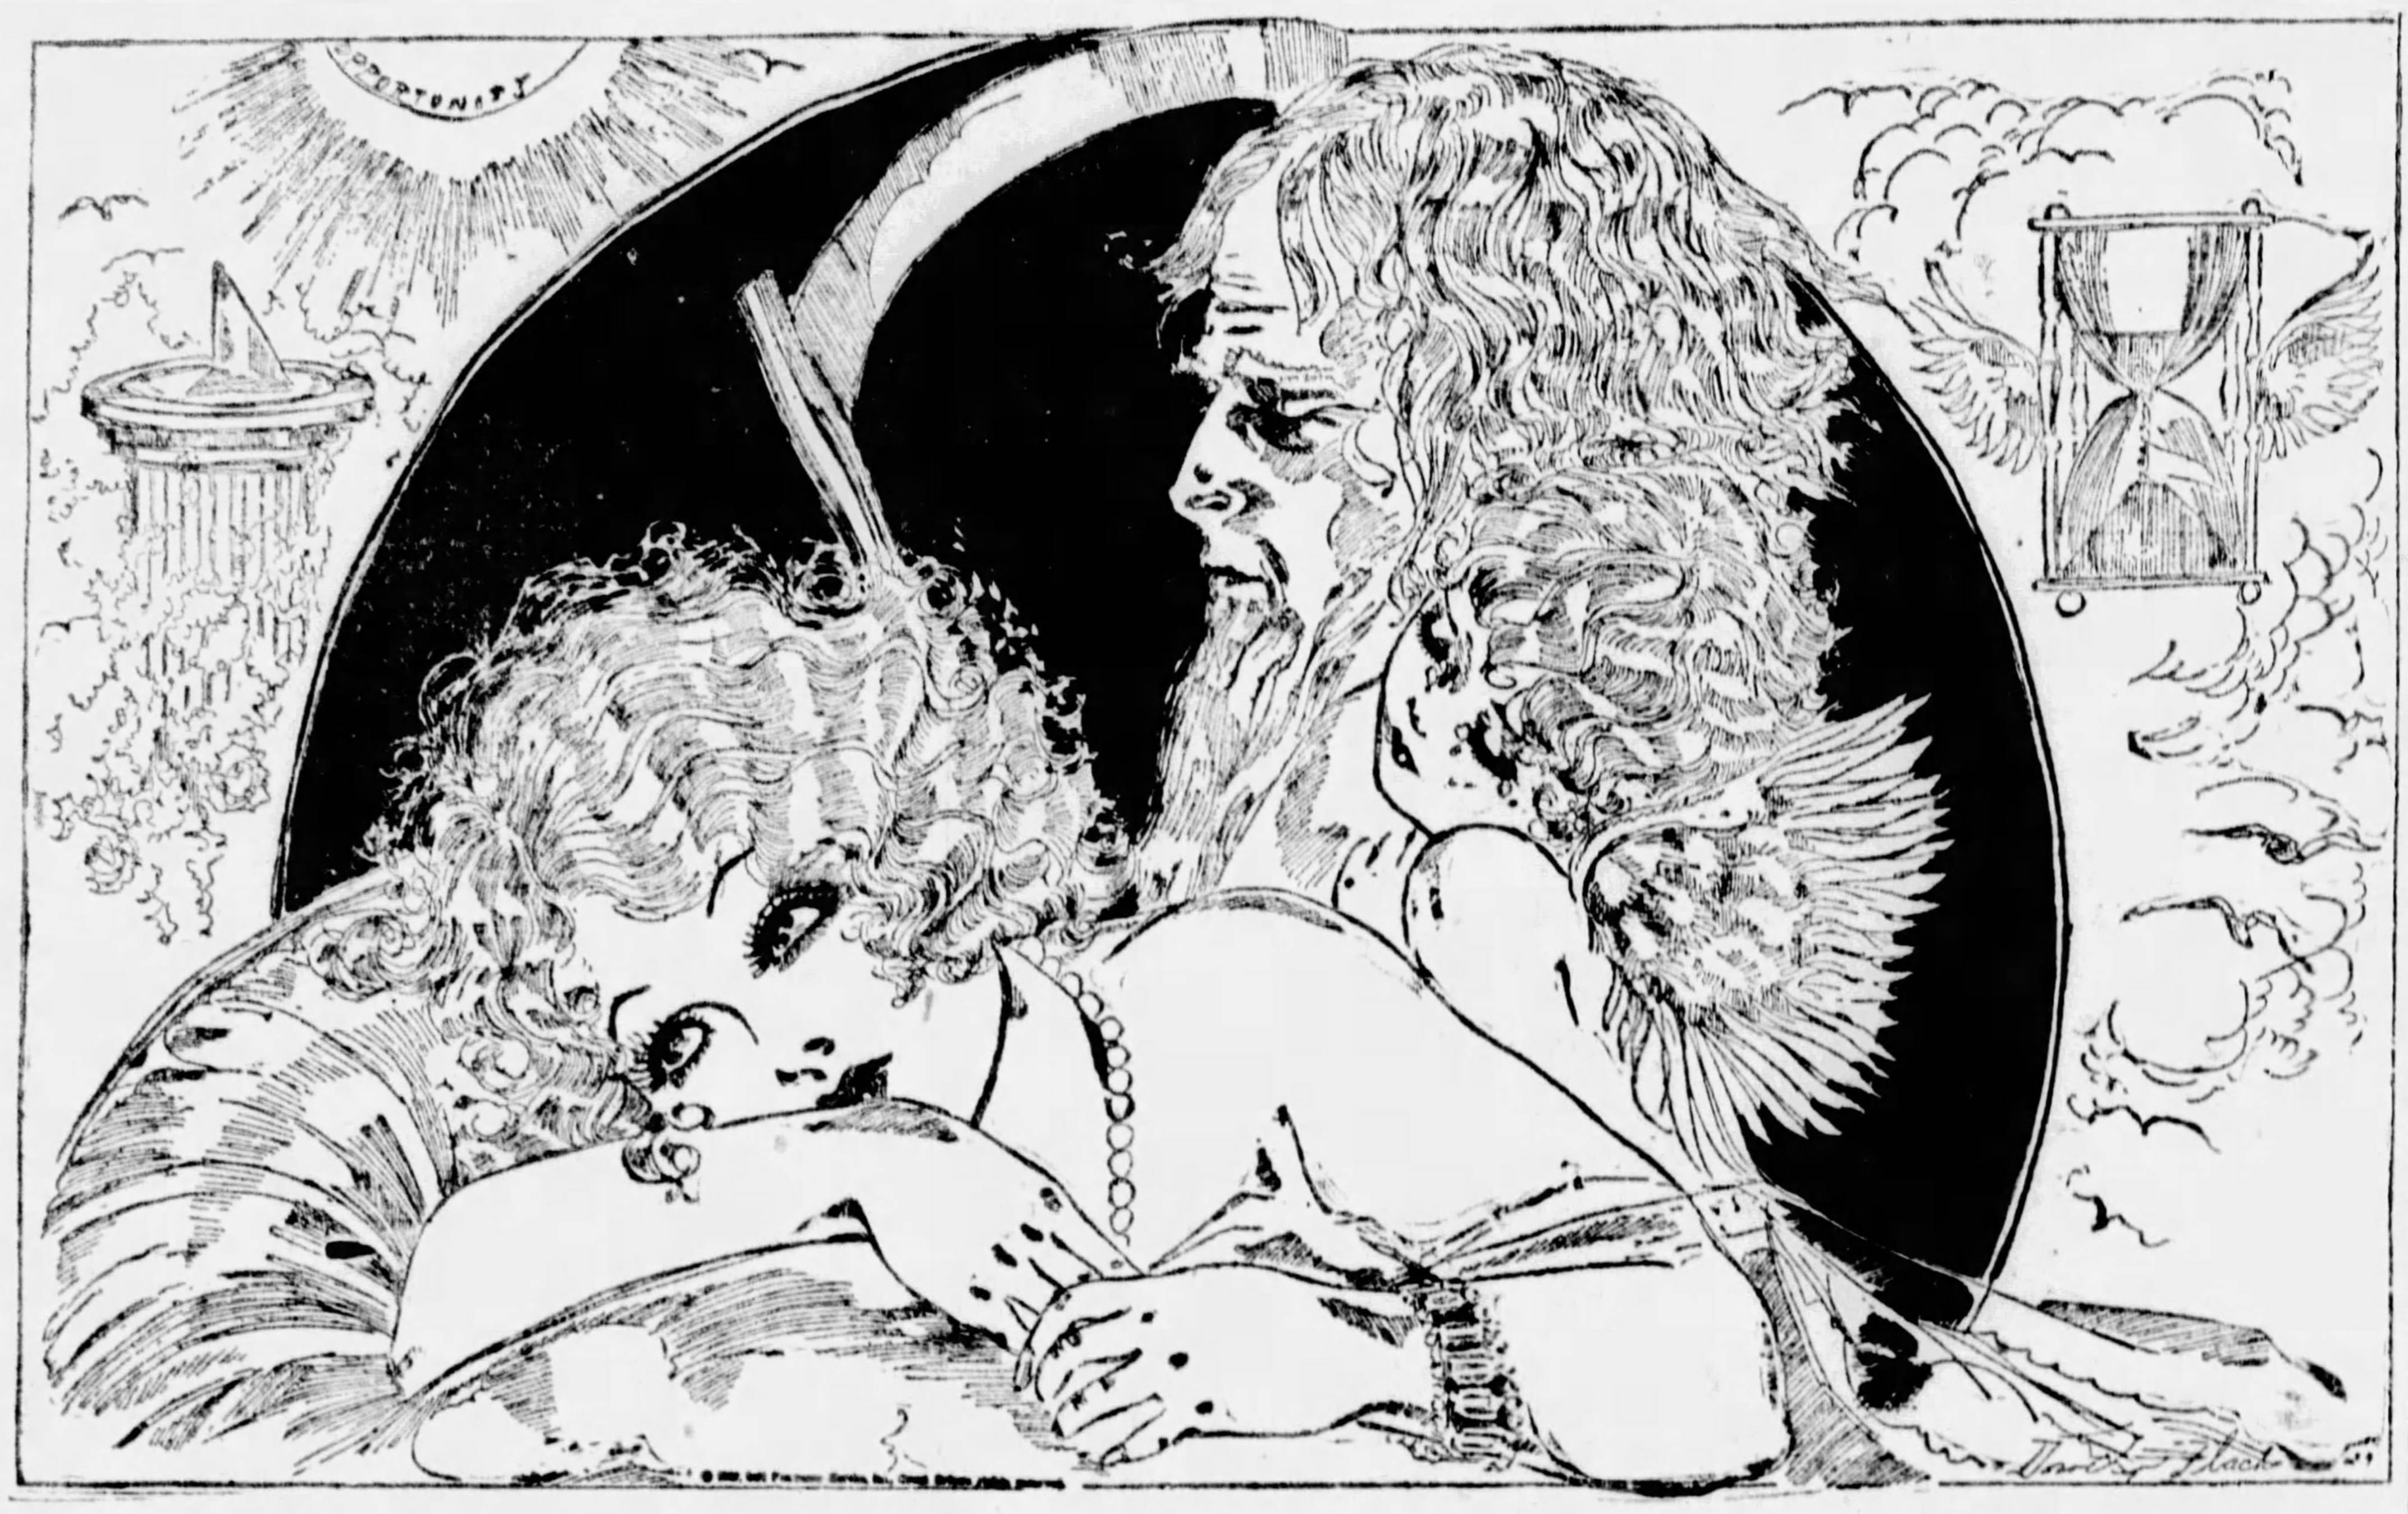
WHEN TIME AND LOVE PASS BY

Drawn by Dorothy Flack



YOUTH, with its golden days of opportunity, is truly the best time of all. For then it is that you find the life of which you have dreamed. But sometimes Youth is too lazy or too heedless of the golden things awaiting it, and when the rosy days have flown it finds that Time has passed and taken Love with him.

For Time and Love are pals! And Time brings Love and Time takes Love away! He stops for awhile when he finds someone along the road who seems to be waiting for him, but when he finds that poor little Love is unnoticed, he tenderly takes his hand and goes on his endless path to eternity.

So watch well, and grasp every opportunity that comes to you. Don't sit idly on the side lines and wait for Love to come and claim you. Go half way along the path and watch and wait expectantly that you will know and recognize him when he comes your way. Let the golden days of Youth build for you the glowing glory of the after years. For Love that comes to you then is the Love that will sustain you throughout the years which Time has decreed for you. And doubly blessed will you be if you travel side by side with Love and Time. For in this way lies the only happiness and the truest joy of Life and living.

Scene of Complicated Drama Now Shifts to City Hotel

I HAD seen the old hotel in which Lillian had her suite of rooms, but had paid it no particular attention upon my visits to her. Now, however, when it was practically settled that Dicky, Mary and I were to live in it during the coming winter, I paused upon alighting from the taxicab and gave it a meticulous scrutiny.

A substantial red-brick structure, 12 stories high, once the tallest and largest structure of the entire neighborhood, and still topped only by two or three of its near neighbors, it gave an impression of permanence, of solidity, and of old-fashioned homey comfort waiting behind its wrought-iron balconies running the full length of the structure, with doors opening upon them from every room.

"That's Mother's suite, away up to the right," Marion told Mary excitedly. "—eight, no—10 stories up, the one on the corner with the balcony all by itself. The long balconies do not go beyond the seventh story, but an occasional suite has one, and we're of the lucky people. It's nice to sit up there and watch the people down on the street—they look so queer. I'll show you what I mean when we get up there—you'll laugh yourself into a spasm."

"Piano! piano!" Lillian warned softly, and her young daughter promptly ceased her distinctly audible remarks as her mother led the way into the hotel. I reserved my own amused comment until the bellboy had ushered us into Lillian's suite and given her the keys of the one she wished to show to me.

"I don't see why they didn't have a band playing 'Hail to the Chief,'" I teased when the door had closed behind the grinning bellboy. "That was the only thing needed to complete your welcome. Every face from the porter's to the manager's held a broad smile of greeting and I expected the bellboys to stage a fight for the privilege of bringing you up here."

"They are nice here," Lillian said. "It's one reason I like the old place. Here are the others."

Adroitly she had forestalled any answering comment upon her popularity, and we followed her as she went swiftly through the rooms of her suite, and then went into the hall and unlocked the door of the next apartment. We found ourselves in a big living room similar to Lillian's, only occupying the opposite corner of the building.

"Come over here," Lillian said, and take a look."

We crowded around her and exclaimed with pleasure at the view of the Hudson and the Palisades above it, which, though several blocks away, seemed almost at our feet.

"We have the same view," Lillian said. "You see these two apartments occupy the entire west end of the building. You have the southwest corner and we the northwest. Each of the bedrooms has a view of the river, too. Come and inspect and plan before the men get here."

We trailed her as she went from room to room, four good-sized bedrooms beside the central living room, and two baths.

"Of course you'll arrange them as you like," Lillian said when we had finished the inspection, "but I want you to see how convenient an arrangement could be made if Harry takes this 'farthest north' bedroom next to our suite. One bath is between that room and the large room next. If Dicky took that, they could share the bath when they wished, though there are two in our apartment, and then the two bedrooms with the bath between on the south side of the living room could be used by you and Mary."

"I don't know whether it's your judgment or mine which is to be credited with clairvoyant powers," I smiled, "but I already had arranged the rooms mentally in that very fashion."

"Then you like it?" Lillian queried, and at my assenting nod she grinned mischievously.

"Then our next job is to make Dicky believe he thought of this arrangement of rooms before anybody else did," she said. "Let's go back to our suite and primp up. We're due in the lobby to meet them in 10 minutes."

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Engagement Ring

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Do you consider it correct or good taste for an unengaged girl to wear the enclosed type of diamond ring on any finger of either hand? My parents have given me such a ring for a birthday present, and it always causes comment when I wear it. What do you think about it? A. G.

I REALIZE that most people are always eager to "scent" a romance, and when they see a girl wearing a solitaire diamond ring on any finger, they immediately begin to comment. But as a matter of fact, really it is the finger on which the diamond solitaire is worn that "makes the difference," and if you do not wear it on the finger-of-fingers, you may feel quite unconcerned and fortified in wearing your lovely present.

Dining Points

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Should pancakes be cut with a knife or should only a fork be used?

2. How should bacon be eaten?

3. In a restaurant when chicken is served usually it is on a separate platter. Is it correct to take it all on your plate at one time?

A READER.

USUALLY only a fork is used. But if you are one of the people who usually use both a knife and fork in eating most things, a knife, too, can correctly be used.

2. With a knife and fork. Never in the fingers, except when necessary, at picnics!

3. No, take a portion of the serving at one time.

Initialing Linen

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Is it proper to use your intended husband's initials on your linens?

A. D.

IT isn't exactly improper, but to my way of thinking, it isn't such good form as the use of the initials of the maiden name. But there is much controversy on this question, as in the affiliated one of the engraving of the silver of the bride-to-be. Nowadays, so great is the discussion, that the bride-to-be must make her own decision.

Personally, I never can see why it is good taste to use the initials of a name that is not yet yours!

He Mustn't!

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I said it was proper for a young man to put his arm around a girl's shoulder or her chair in a theater or any other public place. B said no. Kindly tell me whose idea is correct. V. K.

YOU are not correct, my dear, V. K. The best rule in this case is for a person to keep his or her hands "at home." A man who is a gentleman does not do things that make a girl conspicuous.

For the Lovelorn

Puzzled

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have been reading your column for quite a while and I enjoy reading it very much. I am coming to you for a little advice. I am a girl 16 years old and I am deeply in love with a young fellow 23. He seems to love me as he is always running after me when he is home on leave. He is now a naval officer. I do love him and I have gone with other fellows to try to forget him, but it is so hard. He promised me a ring. If you were I would you accept it? He is very funny; what I mean is that I am not sure of his love. Would you please tell me how I can tell he loves me? He is very kind to me, and he will be going away for a couple of years. And he tells me he loves me. PUZZLED.

You are really too young to think of an engagement, my dear. If you and this boy really love each other, it will last through his two years' absence, and you will both be a little surer of yourselves. Even an 18-year-old girl is too young to marry, in my opinion, but you could at least have an engagement then.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, January 23

A DAY of great activity and much to do with launching new projects is foreshown by the places of the governing planets. And while there are many advantages to be reaped from new undertakings and from contracts with large corporations, yet there is some danger from precipitate moves, journeys or changes. Also there is a sign of a menace of fraud, slander or misrepresentation through letters, writings or unguarded speech. Prudence is enjoined.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very lively year, with new ventures and important contacts, but hasty change, ill-considered agreements or documents as well as speech may precipitate danger of slander or fraud.

A child born on this day may have a keen and clever mind, but it may have an unruly tongue or be given to precipitate acts and unwise changes.

GRAY HAIR IS EASILY DARKENED

Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. E. H. Boots, a well-known resident of Buchanan County, Ia., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Anyone can darken their gray or faded hair, and look twenty years younger with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair every other day until the gray hair is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, is not greasy and does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."

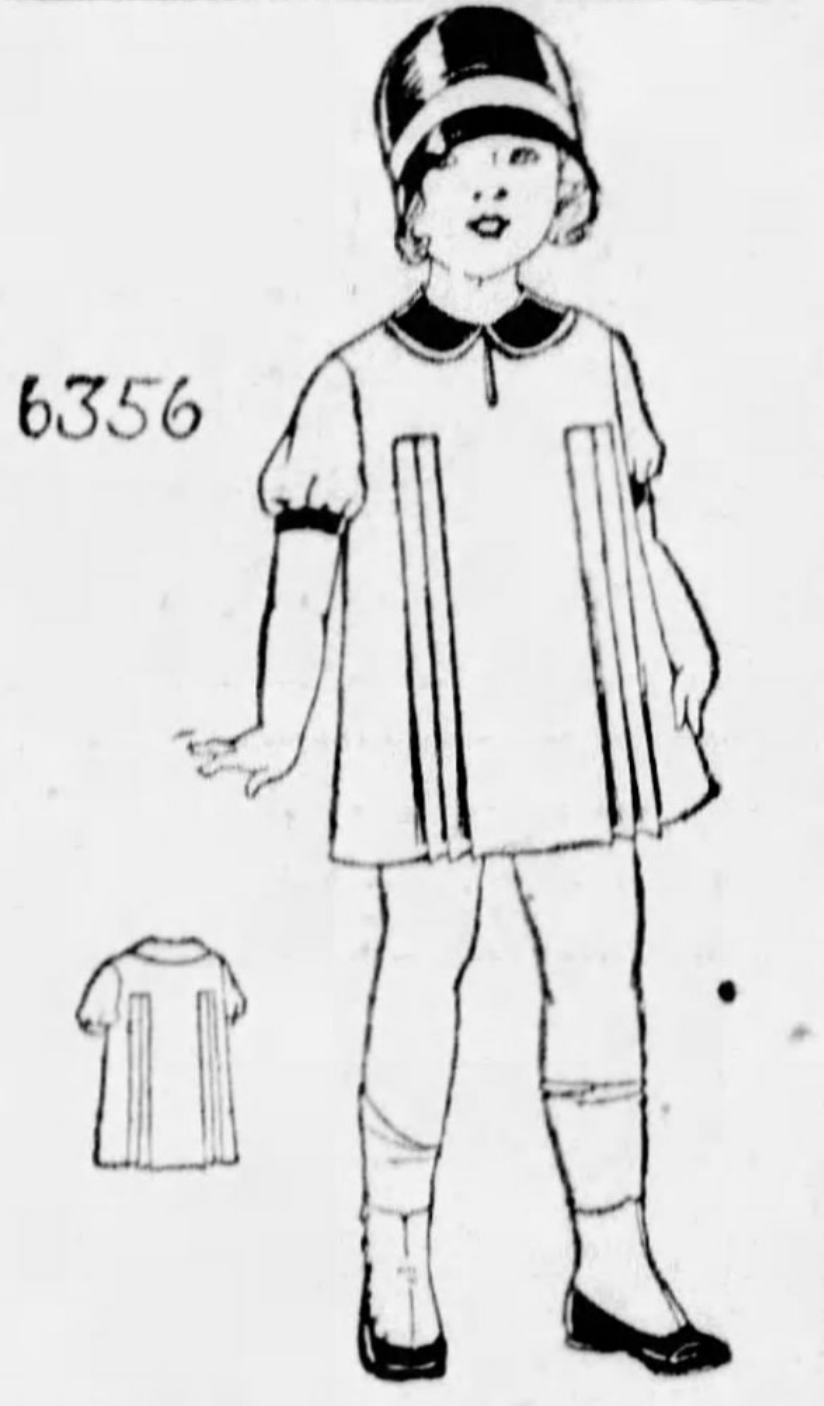
The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A PLEASING FROCK FOR A LITTLE GIRL

Straight from the shoulder hangs this dainty model; from yoke depth groups of plaits become part of the back and front, affording pleasing fullness. A small round collar and short puff sleeves complete this attractive style. Pongee in a natural shade with collar and sleeve bands in light blue or rose will be nice for this design. It is also good for batiste, crepe de chine in white or soft colors. White wool crepe is suggested with collar and sleevebands in a favorite color.

This pattern is cut in five sizes: 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 years. To make the dress for a 4-year size will require 2⅛ yards of 36-inch material. To face collar and cuffs with contrasting material will require ¼ yard 27 inches wide.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

DUKES, GENEVA ON EDGE FOR TILT

SPORT COMMENT

by JAMES J. LONG

Share Riegels' Error.
Many Others Confused.
Cueists Fear Grange.
MacKay Helps Boston.
O'Brien's Fistic Claim.
Farrell Loses Stride.

FEW WINNERS REPEAT IN OPEN GOLF.

ROY RIEGELS has been forced to shoulder all the blame for that famous wrong-way run, because he was the man to carry the ball, but according to a version of the play that has just reached the East, he was by no means the only man on the scene to lose his sense of direction.

Chick Meehan

Chick Meehan, football coach at New York University, who was a spectator at the Tournament of Roses game in Pasadena on New Year's Day, is authority for the statement that many of those present actually made the same blunder as the California center at the time of the happening, and that in criticizing and even laughing at Riegels since they have been guilty of some second-guessing at the expense of the unfortunate player in order to make themselves look good.

Meehan asserts that not only did Riegels' teammates also become mixed up and help him along by clearing a path for him, but that California rooters in the stands thought it was a great play and cheered on the ball carrier for almost half of his disastrous dash.

"RIEGELS wasn't the only California player who lost his sense of direction," says Meehan in defending the goat. "When he started to run the wrong way all the other California players began to take out opponents to clear his path. Lom, who got credit for keeping Riegels from crossing his own goal line, actually ran with him to take out Georgia Tech men whom he looked upon as possible tacklers, but after he had gone half way down the field you could see him hesitate.

"Then Lom evidently decided that something was wrong. He slowed up and looked around. Not until then did he realize that Riegels was running in the wrong direction, whereupon he started after him to head him off. The spectators were fooled, too. Almost everybody was fooled for the moment. It was funny to hear the tremendous cheer from the California stands as Riegels got away. The cheering kept for, say, about 30 yards. Then it began to die away gradually to a dead silence. Riegels was not alone in becoming confused."

THOUGH Edouard Horemans, present title holder, and Jake Schaefer have been ruling as favorites in the advance dope on next month's world championship 18.2 balkline billiard tournament, a dark horse now looms up in the person of Felix Grange, the French star.

Grange, who arrived in this country Saturday to put the finishing touches to his preparations for the titular competition scheduled to begin February 4, in New York, is said to be a much improved player and a contender to be feared.

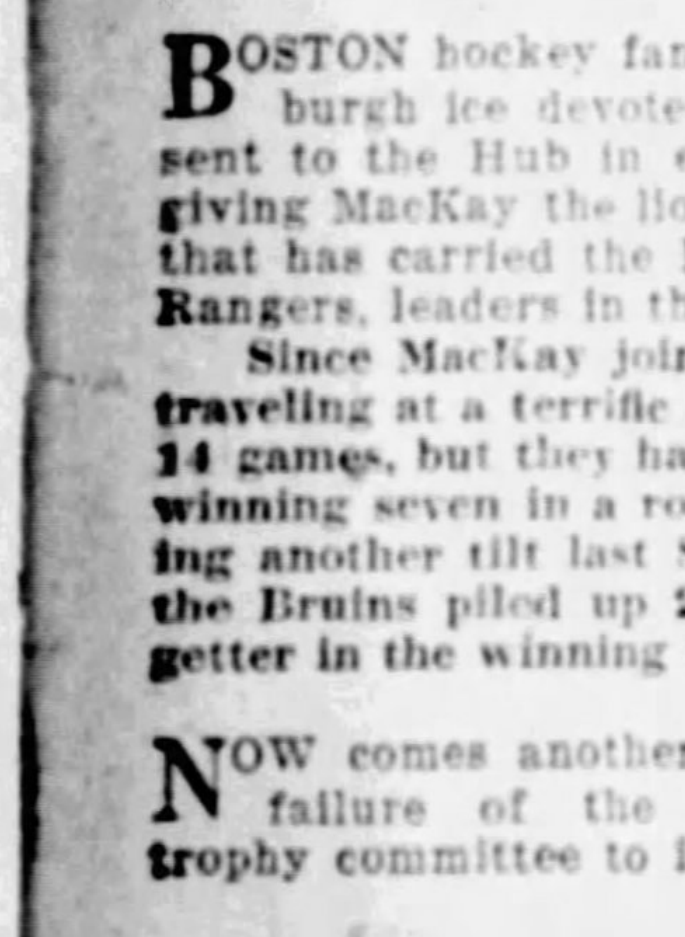
Felix Grange

THIS is Grange's second American visit. The first was made in 1927, when he took part in the 18.2 world title tournament in Washington, finishing fourth. Champion Horemans, who saw Felix perform in several matches in Paris last summer, says that the Frenchman is 10 points per inning better than he was when in this country two years ago. And at that time, it will be recalled, Grange was good enough to finish ahead of Horemans himself, who has since become champion. Grange, Conti and Gerbier have been the leaders in French billiards for many years. Conti formerly was the best known of the trio here, as he played in three world championship tourneys, starting in 1921, but Grange has since forged to the front and is the player to whom France now looks to bring home the title.

BOSTON hockey fans say they are quite as well satisfied as Pittsburgh ice devotees with the deal in which Mickey MacKay was sent to the Hub in exchange for Frankie Frederickson. They are giving MacKay the lion's share of the credit for the sensational drive that has carried the Bruins to within three points of the New York Rangers, leaders in the American group.

Since MacKay joined the club, the forces of Art Ross have been traveling at a terrific clip. The Bostonese won only five of their first 14 games, but they have not been defeated in their last nine contests, winning seven in a row, then playing a tie with Detroit, and capturing another tilt last Sunday night in Chicago. In those nine bouts the Bruins piled up 27 goals. MacKay has been the leading goal-getter in the winning rush, averaging one counter per game.

NOW comes another kick, following the discussion caused by the failure of the Muldoon-Tunney heavyweight championship trophy committee to inscribe the name of Tommy Burns along with those of the other former holders of the big title—Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Johnson, Willard, Tunney and Dempsey.



Jack O'Brien

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien insisted that he, too, is entitled to have his name on the trophy. "Burns should be mentioned, and so should I," he said. "Burns really won the title by defeating me. I had knocked out Bob Fitzsimmons in 13 rounds. Fitz was the champion before Jeffries, and the title really reverted to him when Jeff retired. That made me the champion, didn't it?

"BURNS was a good fighter. He'd have been at least an even thing against Jack Sharkey and he'd have trimmed Young Stribling easily. Even Tunney would have had his troubles beating Tommy, though Gene probably would have proved a bit too clever. Still Burns could hit, and I'd count him even faster afoot than Tunney. He certainly was no Heeney. And he proved his right to the title in his day by meeting and defeating every one who wanted a chance. And, what's more, he was game enough to give Jack Johnson, a classy Negro, a chance to win the title. What more could have been asked of him?"

RAY MILLER, Chicago lightweight, who has become recognized as a real championship candidate in his class since he rang up knockout victories over Sid Terris, Lope Tenorio, Jimmy McLarnin and Tommy Grogan, is getting plenty of work without accepting any of the New York offers made to him. He is booked for three fights in Detroit—with Bruce Flowers on February 1, with Tod Morgan on February 22, and with Sammy Mandell on a date in March or April to be selected by the champion.

Don't get the idea that Mandell is going to risk his title in Detroit instead of grabbing the much bigger financial intake possible in New York. Sammy is playing the same game as the other champions who take no chances with their titles unless they are forced to do so. It is announced that the Detroit affair with Miller will be a non-championship match. Mandell has been publicly proclaiming his willingness to meet Miller, but when it came down to closing the match he insisted on conditions that would keep his championship out of jeopardy.

WHEN Johnny Farrell won the open golf championship last June by defeating Bobby Jones in the play-off he was pointed out as one open winner who would not skid. They said that he was just

HOMESTEAD STARS MEET ROSIES TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN.

THE Cleveland Rosenblum-Celtics, winners of the first-half championship of the American Professional League, will be the attraction in Homestead tonight, opposing an all-star aggregation composed of players from the Homestead District League.

Joe Gubby.

The Homestead District League this winter includes on its club rosters the outstanding independent and professional stars in this section of the state and its all-star quintet is likely to give the American League champions a busy evening.

With three former Celtic stars, Henry (Dutch) Dehnert, Pete Barry and Joe Lapchick, on the team the Rosies present an attractive lineup. All were prime favorites in this section when they appeared in the Celtic lineup and many of their supporters will be out tonight to see them in action against the cream of the Homestead District League.

The Homestead League games have been attracting capacity crowds to Elks Temple and tonight's fray is expected to prove no exception. The appearance of the Rosies in Homestead has stirred up considerable interest in the Milltown and a record-breaking crowd is expected to pack the Elks' auditorium.

Included in the Homestead lineup will be Jacko, Dober, Pfieffer, McGill, Cassidy, Artley, Davies, Henderson, Anderson, Gubby and Minnick.

Tomorrow night South Side Market House likely will draw a packed house when the Goldensons of the County League oppose the famed Clevelanders. Fred Miller, manager of the Goldensons, predicts that the Market House auditorium will be packed to capacity as interest in the game has been high.

The Goldensons have one of the best professional clubs operating in this section this season and will give the American Leaguers a real battle tomorrow night.

DRIBBLES

Reliance Life meets the Miele-Franchinas in an Allegheny County League game tonight at Columbus Temple. The Five Horsemen of Herron Hill meet the Lawrenceville Business Men in the preliminary game.

The Ray Millers of the Homestead District League may be admitted to the P. & O. League for the second half of the season, making that loop an eight-club race.

Immaculate Heart will present several new faces in its lineup in the second half of the P. & O. League race. Manager Joe Dobbs is dickering for the services of several prominent stars to strengthen his lineup.

The Johnstown Y. M. H. A. team will be the attraction of the local Y. M. H. A. tonight in the first of a two-game series. A return game will be played in Johnstown later in the season.

Harry Taylor, former C. M. C. star, has proved himself a valuable addition to the Greenfield Club of McKees Rocks. His work to date has left no room for complaint. The signing of Chick Hood should make the McKees Rocks quintet a dangerous contender for the second-half P. & O. loop title.

Manchester Community Lyceum will meet the Forresters in a Lyceum League game on Thursday night. Manchester started its second-half schedule by defeating C. M. C. Saturday. Manchester will meet St. Mary's at Lawrenceville.

Three games are scheduled tonight in the C. & I. League. Kaufmanns meets National Fireproofing, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie faces Duquesne Light and Peoples Trust opposes the Robertson. All games are scheduled at the Market House.

The Goldensons have signed Dober, Homestead star, for the second half of the Allegheny County League race.

GIZZY EASILY DEFEATS TAYLOR

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 22. — Battling Gizzy, of Donora, continued to add to his local ring successes here last night when he swarmed all over "Bad News Taylor, of Donora, and beat him all the way in eight rounds. Taylor never had a chance, and after being wobbly and tired in the seventh was lucky to finish the final round.

Young Saylor, of Charleroi, stepped in as a sub for Leo Kyberski, of Swissvale, and left-handed Red Ryan to death in a one-sided six-rounder. Saylor's experience and speed were too much for the energetic, but crude, local kid.

Lee Seals pulled somewhat of a surprise when he won the six-round decision over Harry Spencer, of Washington, in a good bout. They boxed a questionable draw here two weeks ago. Joe Rubinisky, of Donora, scored the only knockout of the show when he stopped Howard Copeland, of Swissvale, in the third round.

U. S. C. Signs Jones For Five Years

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Coach Howard Jones has signed a five-year contract to coach football at the University of Southern California, which will keep him in charge of Trojan gridiron activities through the 1933 season. The university broke its precedent in that no previous coaching contracts have been for longer periods than three years.

House Extends Best Wishes To Honus

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—A resolution extending best wishes to John (Honus) Wagner, former Pirate shortstop, who was named assistant sergeant-at-arms of the House, was unanimously adopted last night. It was presented by Representative M. A. Musmanno, Allegheny.

BRAVES TO GET BASE BALL ON SUNDAY

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—A permit to play Sunday baseball in this city virtually has been assured the Boston Braves. John F. Dowd, chairman of a city Council committee, appointed to consider the club's application, has reported his committee as favorable to granting the permit.

Dowd made the announcement before city Council. He said the club would have to file a new application, however, signed under oath and specifying prices of admission to be charged and other details which the committee considered essential. A report to the Council by Dowd's committee could be expected next week, he said.

Another angle of the Sunday baseball question was pursued by Attorney General Joseph E. Warner. He questioned Orris H. Brusse, treasurer of the Outdoor Recreation League at the State House in the morning and again in the afternoon in connection with the league's alleged violations of the corrupt practice act.

VETERAN GOLF PRO DIES

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

One of Pittsburgh's veteran golf professionals has passed into the Great Beyond. Alexander (Alec) Ramsay, 61, born in Scotland, and a golfer all of his days since the time he was able to grasp the end of a club, was buried yesterday in Monongahela Cemetery, Braddock. Until about nine years ago when he retired, he was professional at the old Edgeworth Country Club.

Surviving him are three sons, all more or less prominent in local golf circles. Harry, the eldest, formerly was a member of the Edgewood Country Club, and is an intelligent and skillful player; his brother, Jimmy, one of the present low-scoring amateur players at the Highland Country Club, is better known, while Andy, also showing an inherited instinct for the game, is still devoting most of his time to his scholastic work.

A number of the veteran golf professional's friends attended the funeral yesterday from his late residence, 2133 Monongahela street, Swissvale. He died last Thursday of tuberculosis following an illness of several years.

LANAHAN CHOSEN

Frank J. Lanahan, trustee of Carnegie Tech, one of Pittsburgh's leading sportsmen, has consented to act as toastmaster in the dinner being given to McKees Rocks' four athletes on February 2 in the Miles Bryan High School. The guests of honor are Tommy Sweet, of Carnegie; Toby Uansa, of Pitt; Bobby Angelo, of Grove City, and Elmer Yoter, who goes to the Washington Americans this season.

GAMES TODAY.

Section One.

Schenley at South.
Westinghouse at Fifth.

Section Two.

Carrick at Langley.
Vocational at Oliver.
Perry at Allegheny.

The standings of the teams in both sections of the City League are certain to undergo some changes today. Two of the four teams tied for the top position in Section One will take a drop and in Section Two, Perry High and Oliver can work into a temporary tie with South Hills. The job confronting Perry in downing Allegheny will be tougher than that ahead of Oliver, with only Vocational to beat.

SCHENLEY MEETS SOUTH

Schenley and South, battling on Washabaugh's floor, will present the feature battle of the day in Section One. There are many who think South will eventually win out in the first division. A victory today will go a long way towards boosting South High stock.

Westinghouse and Peabody clash in the second Section One fray, a contest in which Peabody rules a slight favorite.

In addition to the Perry-Allegheny and Vocational-Oliver contests, Carrick and Langley will battle in Section Two. A victory for Carrick and a defeat for Perry will put these two clubs in a tie for third position.

W. P. I. A. L. CARD BIG

There will be action in 10 sections of the W. P. I. A. L., with the Waynesburg-Monessen contest for the supremacy of Section Five heading the card. Both teams are undefeated to date, with Earl Zook's Greene Countians boasting an eight-game winning streak.

Uniontown and Scottdale, fighting it out in Section 10, promise a hectic battle at Uniontown. Ambridge has a chance to stop the title rush of Aliquippa in Section Four when the teams clash at Ambridge.

The complete schedule follows:

Arnold at Freeport.
New Kensington at Verona.
Oakmont at Tarentum.
Parnassus at Springdale.

SECTION TWO.

Aspinwall at Bellevue.
Avalon at Ben Avon.
Edgewood at Wilkinsburg.
Sewickley at Swissvale.

SECTION THREE.

Godfrey, Uzcudun Cuban Bout Off

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The Madison Square Garden Corporation has abandoned plans for a fight at Havana, Cuba, February 18, between George Godfrey, giant Leiperville (Pa.) Negro, and Paulino Uzcudun, of Spain.

Two factors entered into the decision to abandon the bout—opposition of Jack Dempsey and the difficulty in lining up Paulino for the match.

Dempsey, in a telegram to the Garden officials, expressed disapproval of the match on the grounds that it would interfere with his plans for the Jack Sharkey-Young Stribling battle.

GOLDENSONS, LAFAYETTES WIN IN COUNTY LOOP

THE second half of the Allegheny County League got under way last night with victories for the Goldenson and Duquesne Lafayette quintets. In each instance, fans in attendance were rewarded with a fine brand of basketball and interesting combat.

The South Side crew of Goldenson set down the Miele-Franchinas to the tune of a 37-25 count. The Mieles trailed, 18-14, at half-time, and lost, rather than gained, ground in the second half. The contest was staged in Columbus Temple.

The first-half titleholder, Duquesne Lafayettes, found stubborn opposition in the Enoch Rauhs on the Duquesne High floor, but 'twas of no avail, for Peck Minnick and George Ramsay led their mates to a 31-27 triumph. The first half was exceptionally close, a single point, 18-17, being the only margin of difference at its end, with the Lafayettes in the lead. The lineups:

Duncan Says U. S. Press Caused 'Catastrophe'

LONDON, Jan., 22.—(AP.)—George Duncan, captain of the British Ryder Cup golf team, hopes to use a bit of strategy in winning the trophy this year. Speaking at a golfing dinner, Duncan expressed greatest confidence in the ability of his team to win the cup and added that he would try this time to avoid the catastrophe of the last match when "we gave the order of play of our team to the American press, which published it, and gave Hagen the advantage of placing his men against ours. On this occasion," he added, "I shall suggest we make up our sides and announce them simultaneously."

TWO CARL FREYS

Carl Frey, the new Pirate outfielder, a local product, and his 4-year-old son, Carl, Jr. The younger Frey says, he, too, will be a baseball player when he grows up.

CARL FREY, NEW PIRATE, HAS FINE RECORD

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

STEP by step has been the steady progress of Carl Frey, Pittsburgh boy and new Pirate outfielder, since the day the young man decided to take up baseball as a serious profession.

As a kid around the sandlots, Carl starred for the Carrick Firemen, the Otto Jordans, Homewood, Fineview, the Pittsburgh Railways and other clubs of the local circuit.

Young Frey was doing the semi-pro trick for the Pittsburgh Railways in the summer of 1925 when he was observed by one of B. Dreyfuss' agents. In due course of time the lad was showing his stuff at Forbes Field.

But the Pirates of 1925 were so busy winning a flag that Carl didn't get much of a tumble, although he says that Fred Clarke showed him some fine points.

PLAYED FOR JOHNSTOWN

Carl took his first measured tread the following spring when he hooked up with Johnstown in the Class C Middle Atlantic League. He was so successful in his first year that the Buccos purchased him.

The season of 1927 found the Pittsburgher down in Dixie as a member of a Class B outfit. His job with Columbia, Pirate farm, was in the nature of a promotion. Frey had fair success in Columbia, but the Pirates, in some manner, allowed him to go by the boards.

Last year, with the Wichita club of the Western League, Carl enjoyed his banner season. The step from Class B to Class A appeared to enable him to find himself, for he proved to be one of the best performers in the league. So the Buccos, for the second time, purchased this native son.

EXCELLENT RECORD

Frey dislocated a shoulder while playing for Wichita, but he was able to take part in 126 games during which time he compiled a batting mark of .329. Included in his hits were 30 doubles, 15 triples and nine homers. He scored 107 runs in his curtailed season.

His next step, the fourth, will bring him a real tryout with a major league club. Apparently he is facing a hard proposition owing to the fact that he hits from the left side of the plate. The two Waners, Grantham and Brickell, outfield candidates, all bat left-handed.

But you can never tell what a determined boy will do, and Carl is out to give his best at all times. He is a married man with a little son and is therefore anxious to advance.

The new Pirate was born in Homestead, but he went to school for the most part in Carnegie. He is about 5 feet 10 in height, his weight being 175. And he's another speeder.

LEWIS MAT VICTOR

Artist, Writer Medal Won by Rex Beach

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Members of the Artists' and Writers' Golf Association who came South for a quiet little golf tournament, yesterday ran headlong into a stone wall in the person of Rex Beach.

As a result of a startling 73 turned in for the qualifying round by the noted author, the championship crown of Grantland Rice today tottered on its wearer's head.

Boxing Revenue Shows Decrease

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The so-called cauliflower ear industry is one of the few sources of state revenue that is decreasing.

Gov. Fisher's budget, transmitted last night to the legislature, shows actual receipts from licensing of boxers, trainers, managers, etc., and the 5 per cent gross tax on receipts at boxing and wrestling exhibitions in the year ending May 31, 1928, were $23,638. This is compared with the preceding big year of the sesquicentennial world's champion battle, when $179,570 was taken in, and $82,345, $75,274 and $50,029 respectively in three preceding years.

No recovery in the commercial aspects of the manly art are anticipated by the state government, as estimated receipts for the year ending May 31, this year, are $271,599.95 and for the following year $29,900, both not much more than half the income of the first year of the existence of the athletic commission, five years ago.

Eddie Stumpp To Go Under Knife

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Eddie Stumpp, of Wheeling, football and basketball star at West Virginia University, will undergo an operation here Saturday morning for removal of a semilunar cartilage in his knee.

Stumpp sustained a knee injury in the Washington and Lee football game at Charleston last fall and since then has been unable to take part in any athletics.

COVENANTERS MAY INCREASE TITLE HOPE

By JESS CARVER.

It is seldom that an early season conference basketball game has the importance attached to its outcome as tonight's battle on the Bluff between the Dukes and Geneva. Whether you realize it or not, the Covenanters will be almost certain champions if they beat the locals this evening.

A victory for Geneva tonight will give the Covenanters a record of four games won and none lost, with only six more league games to play. An even break in these six games will give the Beaver Falls passers a season record of seven games won and three lost, which will mean that Duquesne will have to take six out of their remaining seven contests and Westminster, the defending champs, five out of the six contests left on the Titan Conference card to tie. Westminster is handicapped in that the United Presbyterians only play eight league games. The U. P.'s do not play Waynesburg.

GAME PROMISING

The chances are that Geneva, strong now and bound to be stronger when Tony Paulsey becomes eligible with the advent of the second school semester, will do better than break even in the six contests. In that event, if they can win tonight, Geneva seems to be out and out favorites in the title race.

Tonight's contest promises to be an extremely colorful one. Athletic relations between Geneva and Duquesne have ever been hectic. The Dukes would rather beat Geneva than any other team in the district, and the same goes for Geneva. The boys broke even in the two-game series last year. It is Chick Davies' earnest hope to do better than that this time.

The new starting time for Duquesne U. games will go into effect tonight, with the contest slated to start at 8:15 o'clock. A preliminary game will be staged beginning at 7 o'clock.

GUSTAFSON TO MARRY

Among the interesting bits of news picked up at lunch time yesterday was the good word from Lee Frank, former Pitt grid captain, that Andy Gustafson, one of Pitt's great fullbacks, is to be married soon.

Andy, head coach of football at V. P. I., will be married on February 19 to Miss Emily Langhorn at Pulaski, Va. Lee and Dr. Zonar Wissinger will assist at the ceremony.

After much fussing and fuming about, canceling and rearranging of the schedule, Wash-Jeff will open its basketball campaign tonight, meeting Bethany College at Bethany. Tomorrow, the Presidents will return home and play Allegheny College on the W. and J. gym floor.

W. and J. is some two weeks behind schedule, the influenza epidemic having wrecked the early part of Andy Kerr's program.

ZOOK FACES TEST

One of the most important W. P. I. A. L. basketball games on the schedule for tonight will be played at Waynesburg, where Earl Zook's crack Waynesburg High quintet, undefeated in eight starts, will face Monessen High in a battle for the supremacy of Section Five.

In Carroll, Hewitt and McCracken, Zook has a trio of sweet scholastic players, about as good as you'll see anywhere this year. This fellow Hewitt is smart and fast, and is a good shot. He resembles Charley Hyatt of Pitt in many respects, and I don't mean by that that he has two eyes and a nose.

HARRIS BILL IS INTRODUCED

HARRISBURG, Jan. 22.—Senator Frank J. Harris last night offered an amendment to the boxing laws, which draws a definite line between the professional and amateur contests. The amendment follows:

"The provision of this act shall not prohibit any duly constituted organization or association, organized for a lawful purpose, from having boxing, sparring and wrestling matches and exhibitions in connection with entertainments, when such matches or exhibitions are conducted not for profit; nor shall this act apply to or be construed to regulate or to impose any tax upon the admissions received from purely amateur boxing, sparring and wrestling matches in which contestants are engaged without pay or pecuniary reward.

"The intent and purpose of this act is to allow and regulate professional boxing, sparring and wrestling matches in which contestants are engaged for pay or pecuniary reward and tax the admissions received from such matches."

Fairmont Favors New Split-Race Plan

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 22.—The plan whereby the date of the losing of the first half of the Mid-Atlantic League's split season would not be revealed until the close of the campaign has been adopted by the directors of the Fairmont club and is to be submitted to the league directors. The rookie rule also was approved, and Fairmont went on record as favoring the proposal that each club post $2,500 as a guarantee that will finish the league race.

County Sportsmen To Revise By-Laws

The Allegheny County Sportsmen's League, affiliated with the Pennsylvania Sportsmen's Federation, will hold a meeting next Monday night in Homestead to revise the present by-laws. D. C. Gilliland, of Elizabeth, is president of the League.

NEW WOMEN'S MARK

BILOXI, Miss., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—A new course record of 80 for women was made yesterday on the Edgewater golf course near here, by Miss Marion Turple, New Orleans, Southern and Pan-American titlist. The former record of 81 for women was held by Glenna Collett, national champion.

BRUINS GET LANE

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The purchase of Myles Lane, former Dartmouth hockey player, from the New York Rangers, has been announced here by C. F. Adams, owner of the Boston Bruins. Adams said Lane would play for the Bruins against Les Canadiens here tonight.

LOCAL FANS SHOW THEY WANT SUNDAY SPORTS

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

SOME idea of the popularity that would be attained by Sunday sports, if they were permitted in Pittsburgh, may be gained from the turnout at Duquesne Garden last Sunday afternoon for the two games played in the West Penn Amateur Hockey League. Close to 5,000 men, women and children sat in on the occasion. Of course, the admission was free, but the incident nevertheless serves as a barometer of public approval.

The day will come when Pittsburgh and all of Pennsylvania will have legalized Sunday sports, and it can not come too soon for many clear-thinking citizens who have little patience for the antiquated Sunday blue laws that hobble the commonwealth.

In case you can pronounce it, you are at liberty to tell your friends that the name of the new Pitt football captain is Dimeolo. Here is a name that has been mis-spelled probably as often as those of Mielziner and Rosenzweig, of Carnegie Tech. It used to appear in the lineups as DeMolia and DeMolio. Those were fairly easy to twist your tongue around, but last season some glutton for accuracy dug up the Dimeolo. The latest report is that the proper way to gargle it is Dim-e-o-lo.

THAT new plan proposed for splitting up the season in the Mid-Atlantic Baseball League is a wow. It would consist of drawing a date out of a hat, which would be the date on which the first half would end. This date would be sealed in an envelope and put away for safe keeping. At the end of the season it would be dragged out and then, for the first time, the moguls would learn which team was the first half winner by referring back to the standing on that date, and this winner would be eligible to meet the second half winner in a playoff for the league championship. The purpose is to keep up interest in the race until the finish through the medium of prolonged suspense.

I have a cuckoo idea of my own along these lines. Why not put nine slips of paper into a hat before each game and at the end of the battle find out which inning decided the game and give it to the team that was ahead at that stage, if any? Or the plan could be carried out even further without being any goofier. There is no limit to the ridiculous extremes possible when novelty is the desired effect.

Weston High Girls Roll Up 65 Points

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The Weston High School girls' basketball team established what may be a season's scoring record for girls last night by defeating the Clarksburg Y. W. C. A. quint, 65 to 6.

RICKARD and the RING

By JACK DEMPSEY,

World's Greatest Ring Idol

Tex's "Toughest Fight"

"WHAT was the toughest fight you ever saw?" I snapped at Tex Rickard one night in New York last fall, when we met up with each other and the subject switched around to the boxing racket.

"It's the first one in which I ever refereed," he answered. "That was long, long ago—I hardly knew the difference between a left hook and a dose of smelling salts then. But the boys insisted I had to referee; told me it would be a nice easy fight and no trouble at all for me, so in I went and I saw that night the most savage and the bloodiest fight I've ever looked at, and I guess, all put together, I've seen close to 10,000 ring battles."

"Tell me about it," I said.

"Funny thing about the fight," mused Tex, "is that even though it was the craziest one of them all it's sort of slipped my mind all these years—until just now.

FOUGHT AT GOLDFIELD

"It happened in Goldfield, Nev., in 1907. One of the fellers (Tex never would say fellows; always 'fellers' with him) was Larry Gardner and the other Bobby Lundy. They were middleweights and they had a grudge against each other. Each of these fellers had a great following and one-half of the town bet on Lundy and the other half on Gardner.

"And in those days, out in Goldfield, the gamblers who won on a certain fighter always tossed that fighter part of their winnings. So, you see, these dudes were fighting for plenty that day: victory and the big end of the purse and a cut on the gambler's winnings—and also they were out to murder each other.

"Seems like as if they wouldn't agree on any of the regular referees around there—too much at stake and they were afraid of getting a raw deal. looked as if the fight was off until somebody kind of connected with the idea that I ought to do the refereeing. I said 'no' and 'no' a hundred times, but they kept coaxing and saying that even if I didn't know anything about the refereeing it would be okay with both fighters; that they knew I'd give 'em a square deal no matter how many mistakes I made.

"Well, finally I said 'yes' and I climbed into the ring so gosh darned nervous you'd have thought I was an opry lady doing her stuff for the first time. I was cool lookin' on the outside, people said, but inside I was all shaky and my old heart got to bouncing around.

"But that feeling didn't last long. I didn't have time for it. As soon as that first gong rattled both birds went leaping into each other like insane fellers and I got so interested looking at them and so busy prying them apart to save them from chewing off each other's necks or scalping each other with their teeth that I didn't have time for anything else.

"In the first round, Gardner hit Lundy with a left to the chin that he picked off the floor. I leaned over Lundy and started to count. I don't know if I gave him a perfect count, a long one or a short one. I wasn't used to that counting thing. But, anyway, before I got to 'nine' this Lundy feller jumped up staggering around but looking for Gardner.

"He located Gardner, who was already leaping at him. They both swung at the same time. Lundy's blow landed. Gardner missed and Gardner went spinning back to the ropes with Lundy galloping after him. Lundy set himself to put over a finisher, but, just as he was about to let loose, Gardner popped him with a short right and Lundy went down again and just managed to get up at nine and finish the round.

ORGY OF KNOCKDOWNS

"In the second, Gardner was on the floor twice and Lundy once. In the third, both were on the floor twice. Almost always they took the full 'nine.' Before the fifth round was over Lundy had been on the floor six times and Gardner five times—and they had hardly warmed up.

"And there I was almost winded from counting and jumping around to get out of the way of wild swings or taking a leap over one or another of the boys as he hit the floor.

"Long before the seventh round came both fighters were smeared with gore from head to foot. The crimson ran down from battered eyes, smashed noses, busted ears, lips that were cut almost to ribbons and cuts on their cheeks.

"And I was a mess. I guess I looked worse than they did, for they got a bath between rounds, I didn't. The gore was in my hair and on my face, arms and hands. My clothes were drenched. In the twelfth I was a terrible sight. And still they fought like wild men.

"I looked at each corner between rounds for some sign that one or another of the fighters wanted to quit. But both wanted to go on.

"I had been asked only one thing of the fellers at the start—that, no matter what happened, I wouldn't stop 'em; that I'd let 'em fight it to a finish. So I let 'em go ahead.

TEX TIRES FROM WORK

"After the thirteenth or fourteenth, I stopped trying to pry 'em apart. When they'd come out I'd just stand in a neutral corner and yell 'break' when they clinched. Usually they broke on call. If they didn't, I let 'em stay in a clinch until they fought themselves out of it. The only time I got out of my corner, was when one of them hit the mat and I had to go over and do some more counting.

"When the nineteenth ended, the tabulators had scored 15 knockdowns for Lundy and 15 for Gardner. That isn't a record, but it's close to it. And don't forget that this was my first time as a referee; that I had gone into it against my better judgment and because the fellers told me it would be nice and easy and I wouldn't have much to do.

"As they came out for the twentieth—and final round—they were the worst human wrecks I ever looked upon. I couldn't tell which was which.

"Soon after the twentieth opened, Lundy hooked a left to Gardner's chin—and down went Gardner. I was so all in myself by that time that I couldn't get to mid-ring to make the count. I did the counting from where I stood, braced against the ropes in a neutral corner. Gardner got up at 'nine' and swung wild, but Lundy wallowed right into it and down went Lundy for knockdown 32.

FINISH IS DRAMATIC

"Lundy got up and Gardner hit him and dropped him for the thirty-third knockdown. Lundy beat the count and went staggering at Gardner, as Gardner, now hardly able to navigate, swayed forward to meet him. They traded right-handers and left hooks and plop! down went Gardner, only to get up at eight. Thirty-four knockdowns, 17 apiece—and the fight had less than 60 seconds to go. Already I had made up mind. Draw, it couldn't be anything else, but then Lundy fooled me. He fell toward Gardner as Gardner reached his feet and swung with the last ounce of energy he had left. The punch hit Gardner on the temple. He teetered a bit and spun—and then he flopped like a dead man.

"I gave him a nice generous count because I hated to see a fellow who had put up such a terrific fight go down and out in the last minute. But that generosity stuff was wasted. For when I reached a slow 10, Gardner was still out.

VICTOR ALMOST OUT

"Lundy's seconds jumped into the ring as my count ended and they grabbed him. It wasn't a second too soon, because Lundy, who was holding on to the ropes during the count, was so far gone that he was just about to fall to the floor. That was a fight—the fiercest I ever have seen, and it was my experiences as a referee in that mixup that cured me of ever wanting to do anymore refereeing, although I took another whirl at it in 1910, when Jack Johnson and Jim Jeffries couldn't agree on anybody else and forced me into the ring again."

BEATTY TO BOX RED RYAN AT M'KEESPORT

The card has been completed for the boxing show to be held in Jim McGirr's McKeesport arena Thursday night, with the signing of the principals for the first two bouts.

Allen Beatty, Negro welterweight, of McKeesport, will meet Red Ryan, of Washington, Pa., in the second bout, while in the opener Harry Spencer, of Washington, Pa., will engage Jimmy Marlowe, of Aliquippa.

Young Rudy, of Charleroi, and Dominick Profio, of Cecil, will box the 10-round main event, and Phil Scello, of McKeesport, is paired with Jack Unglo, of Etna, in the eight-round semi-final.

Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, boxes Jack Gillespie, subbing for Joe Azzarella, in a 10-round non-championship bout at Indianapolis tonight. Joey La Grey boxes Jimmy Abbott in a 10-rounder in New York.

Coast Loop to Vote Today on Split Season

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 22.—(INS.)—Directors of the Pacific Coast League were expected to reach a definite decision here today on whether or not the split season will be continued in the league this season, and also decide upon a president to head the league.

By a ruling made yesterday, Des Moines, of the Western League, will not have the services of Jimmy Cronin, who was sold to the Des Moines club by San Francisco Missions. It was claimed that the Missions failed to ask for waivers on Cronin and he was claimed by the Portland club.

MORRYS AT TOP

The Morrys went into undisputed possession of first place in the P. & O. League last night by defeating the Mangan quint, 34 to 28. The lineup:

Morrys—34.		Mangans—28.
Lanowitz	F	E. Jesko
Barrett	F	Sweney
Cassidy	C	F. Jesko
Schweinberg	G	Clark
Powers	G	Tecky

Field goals—Meade 2, E. Jesko 2, Sweeney, Clark, Tecky, Barrett 3, Lanowitz 4, Schweinberg, Powers 4. Fouls—Morrys, 7 out of 17; Mangans, 10 out of 21. Referee—Ca'lahan.

SLATTERY, TILL WIN

BUCS MAY BE CRIPPLED FOR RANGER GAME

By CARL W. SHATTO.

BENNY LEONARD'S hockey Pirates may be without the services of Frank Frederickson, star center, and Toots Holway, stalwart defense man, when they meet the New York Rangers at Duquesne Garden Thursday night, Manager Odie Cleghorn announced today. Both Frederickson and Holway now are under the care of Dr. Wuerthelle, club physician.

CUT MENDS SLOWLY

The long, deep cut in his cheek which the Buc center sustained in the rough game with the Americans in New York Sunday night is mending very slowly, and his face is badly swollen. Five stitches were required to close the jagged gash just below his cheek bone. Whether or not Frederickson will be able to get into the lineup Thursday will not be known until the day of the game.

Holway is suffering from an attack of tonsilitis, and has developed a slight fever. He has been confined to his room since the Bucs returned from New York Monday. His condition is reported as improved today, and Manager Cleghorn expects him to be in uniform for the battle with the Rangers.

TO SHIFT LINEUP

In the event that Frederickson is not able to play, Hib Milks will return to center in the starting front line, and Harold Cotton will take Hib's place at left wing. Duke McCurry will assume Cotton's position at left wing in the spare line.

All of the Pirates other than Frederickson and Holway came out of the rough joust with the Americans in good condition, and they are confident that they will be able to down the Rangers and chalk up their third straight victory. In their 3-0 triumph over Detroit here Saturday and their 2-0 victory over the Americans on Sunday the locals showed championship form and they now loom as serious contenders for a money and play-off berth.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—The Mickey Walker-Jack Willis match, bringing together the world's middleweight champion and an erstwhile Texas cow puncher, will be staged here on the afternoon of Washington's birthday, it was announced today.

This was decided at an informal meeting in the offices of Charles F. Traung, San Francisco commissioner.

Willie Davies Wins Over Marty Gold

In other bouts, Phil Scello, McKeesport, drew in six rounds with Johnny Pial, Greenville; Tiger Joe Randall won from Joe Corelli, Erie, six rounds, and Elmo the Mighty, New Castle, defeated Tom Farrow, New Castle, four rounds.

LOCAL BOOTERS MAY SHIFT SPARTA TILT

By TOM BIRKS.

The Pittsburgh Soccer Club is seriously considering transferring its game with the Cleveland Sparta Club to Cleveland one week from Sunday. At least one faction of the club is willing to make the change, feeling that a Saturday game in Pittsburgh with a heavy expense is courting disaster.

In many years of active soccer, only two games have been played on Saturday with out-of-town teams in the Pittsburgh district. One was the final of the National Amateur Cup, when Heidelberg defeated La Flamme, and the other was the Akron Goodyear-Dunlevy session about two months ago.

Owing to the nature of the game and the publicity given it, the final contest went over big. La Flamme had an expense list of more than $1,300, but this was paid, and Heidelberg cut in about $500 for its end. Dunlevy paid the Akron team around $250, representing their expenses, but did not make anything on the game for themselves.

The writer feels that Pittsburgh's best bet is to take the game to the Bridgeville Speedway as a Sunday affair. With a flat charge it could be put over big. Of course there might be opposition to this idea, especially seeing that the Speedway is not the registered home grounds of the Pittsburgh club. But, it is just as fair for Sparta as it is for the Blue and White.

Should the game be transferred to Cleveland, past trips to the Forest city indicate that all Pittsburgh can expect to get is traveling expenses.

SPORT COMMENT

By JAMES J. LONG

finding his stride, that his play was sound and that he would not fall off in his game as previous champions had done.

But Farrell failed to live up to those predictions. Whether it was due to his slight build and consequent lack of durability, to being overgolfed, or to some other cause, the fact remains that he has rarely approached his form of last June.

Johnny Farrell

FARRELL'S slump leads a veteran golf man to observe that so many of the other open championship winners have fallen off so greatly in their play after their titular victories that only five have ever succeeded in repeating. The 32 championships decided to date have been won by 25 different golfers. Willie Anderson is the only man who ever won the title more than twice. He won it four times—1901-3-4-5. Alex Smith won in 1906 and again in 1910; J. J. McDermott in 1911 and 1912; Walter Hagen in 1914 and 1919, and Bobby Jones in 1923 and 1926. Jones also was runner-up in 1925 and 1928.

FUGAZY WOULD MAKE DEMPSEY PARTNER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Heretofore in the front rank of rivals of the late Tex Rickard in fight promoting, Humbert Fugazy has announced himself a candidate for Rickard's niche in the sporting world, and has asked Jack Dempsey to be his partner.

Declaring that Dempsey's success as a promoter appeared assured, the New York promoter arrived here to talk over partnership plans. After a conference, Dempsey said he had declined to consider such a project until after his temporary job of putting on the Sharkey-Stribling bout here February 27. He is acting for Madison Square Garden Corporation, whose head Rickard was until his death early this month.

"It is impossible for me to discuss such a project now," Dempsey said in speaking of Fugazy's plan. "After the fight I may have the time to do it, but until that time I can say nothing.

"I do not know whether I will fight again, whether I will be a promoter, or whether I will go into other business ventures that I have under consideration," the former heavyweight champion continued, and added, "I am getting a great kick out of promoting."

Fugazy was accompanied to Miami by his wife, by his attorney, Barth Manfredi, of New York, and Albert W. Luce, of New York. They will be joined today by Ed Cole, New York broker.

Fugazy said he expects to have his own arena in New York within nine months.

NURMI CHARGE TO BE PROBED TOMORROW

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The Amateur Athletic Union has postponed until tomorrow its investigation into charges brought in connection with Paavo Nurmi's scheduled appearance at the Prout Memorial Games in Boston next Saturday night.

Daniel J. Ferris, National secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U., announced it would be impossible to round up members of the Registration Committee of the Metropolitan Association, A. A. U., before then.

The investigation was ordered after Jack Harris, secretary of the committee in charge of the Masonic meet here Saturday, declared Nurmi had been "influenced" to change his entry from the Masonic meet to the Prout games.

The A. A. U. plans to question Nurmi in an effort to uncover all angles of the situation and learn, if possible, whether any undue influence or financial inducements were brought into play. Harris has asserted that Nurmi was given a virtual "order" to compete in the Prout games rather than in New York.

The Metropolitan Association is making the investigation in view of the fact that Nurmi was registered as an amateur by that body.

Hunter, Billiard Star, Plays Tomorrow

Charley (Cowboy) Hunter, of Douglas, Ariz., pocket billiard expert, is to oppose Irving Cronin, local star, in a 75-point match at the Olympic Parlors, 314 Fifth avenue, at 8:30 tomorrow night. In addition to participating in the match game, Hunter will give an exhibition of fancy and trick shots, and will conduct a brief "good fellowship" tournament.

Hunter played in Pittsburgh district rooms two years ago. He boasts high run records of 210, 188 and 152.

Alexander Named In Divorce Suit

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 22.—(AP.)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran major league pitching star, has been named in a divorce complaint filed by his wife, Aimee Marie Alexander, in court here.

Mrs. Alexander, who charged cruelty, asked for attorney's fees and "suitable alimony," but did not name the amount sought. Likewise, Alexander's income was not listed.

Why Chrysler, $1,000,000-A-Year Man, Has Reached Top.

By B. C. FORBES

SOME business and financial giants succeed in capturing the public's imagination, many others fail. Ford is a shining example of the first type. So are Edison, Owen D. Young, Charles M. Schwab, John D. Rockefeller, the Van Sweringen brothers, Capt. Robert Dollar, W. C. Durant, Charles Gates Dawes.

Would you not now include, also, Walter P. Chrysler, who single-handedly, has become the third-largest motor manufacturer in the world, has acquired the famous Dodge Brothers concern, has developed capacity for producing three-quarters of a million cars this year, has seen his stock attain a market value of half-a-billion dollars, and is building the world's highest skyscraper?

CHRYSLER'S career is rich in suggestion. So is his business philosophy. His success really is not hard to explain.

Inheriting a mechanical turn of mind from his father, a locomotive engineer, young Chrysler, at a very early age, entered a railway shop and quickly began to exhibit extraordinary curiosity concerning the whyfor and wherefor of every process and every piece of machinery in the place. While still an apprentice, he constructed a locomotive model complete in every detail, built a miniature track for it and gave thrilling exhibitions of its speed. (He still has that model.) Eager to go hunting, but having no money to buy a gun, he made one.

One day an emergency arose. Unless a locomotive could be repaired in less time than it seemed humanly possible to repair it, a mail train would be held up. The foreman turned to the husky young Chrysler as his best bet—Chrysler is a broad-shouldered six-footer. He had the job finished on time.

That made Chrysler a marked man. It won him promotion then and caused him to be recommended for a bigger job on another road later. Meanwhile, Chrysler took correspondence courses on engineering, made the Scientific American his Bible, and worked as hard as he studied.

ACCOUNTS of horseless carriages fired his imagination. Individual transportation, he reasoned, possessed infinite possibilities. He resolved to fit himself some day to build motor cars.

To the Chicago automobile show of 1905 he went and, although he had only $700 in the savings bank, he bought the finest car in the show, borrowing $4,300 to complete the purchase price of $5,000. For such "extravagance" his wife wouldn't talk to him for a fortnight.

But, instead of dashing about in it, the ambitious young man carefully took it completely apart, studied every particle of its make-up, put it together—and repeated the operation until he knew every bolt and nut in it. He saw where he could make important improvements in its construction.

WHEN earning $12,000 a year as manager of the American Locomotive Company he was offered a job with Buick and instantly accepted it, though the pay was only $6,000. His first "raise" was to $25,000 and such was the record he made with General Motors that banking interests offered him $1,000,000 a year to put another automobile company on its feet—perhaps the highest salary paid up to that time.

TEN THOUSAND invested in 1923 in Maxwell stock, later exchanged for Chrysler stock, now represents a total market value of one-third of a million dollars and has yielded dividends and rights worth $26,000 more.

Chrysler attributes his success as a motor manufacturer mainly to having sensed that the public had become eager to add to quality the very best in design, beauty, style, also quick-acceleration and high speed—all at a lower price than ever before named.

"Learn to make decisions promptly."

"When I tackle a new job I tell myself I am going to win."

"I have always worked hard, very hard. I have never shirked any task because I was disagreeable."

"Be enthusiastic."

"Do more than the boss expects and he will reward you. If he doesn't, find another boss."

"To be born poor is a great advantage over being born rich and finding pleasure only in spending money."

"I have never hesitated to give up a larger salary to take a smaller one where opportunities looked bigger."

"Have faith. Have courage. Don't be too content with your product."

"In this glorious country a man can do anything he wants to do if he wants to do it hard enough—and uses plenty of common sense."

"Above all else, a man must have courage. Back up courage with a mastery of your business, with love of work, with a spirit of fairness, and with an unconquerable will to win—and you will win."

SUGAR MARKET.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The raw sugar market was steady, but no sales were reported early today and prices were unchanged at 3.80c for spots, duty paid.

The raw sugar futures market opened 1 point higher to 1 point lower, but soon eased off under liquidation and selling of the distant positions by houses with European connections. Prices at midday were unchanged to 3 points net lower. The volume of business continued of limited proportions, with the trade as a rule still inclined to hold off and await developments in Washington relative to the sugar tariff situation, which are again under discussion today.

The market for refined was unchanged with a good withdrawal demand, but no business reported. Prices are quoted at 5.10c for fine granulated.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

J. & L. Earned $20 in 1928.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation and subsidiaries report for the year ended December 31, 1928, net income of $15,568,687 after depreciation, depletion and bond interest, equal, after preferred dividends, to $20 a share on the common stock. This was the company's greatest year since 1920 and was well ahead of the $15,149,094 reported for 1926, the highest heretofore since the post-war boom. Net for the year 1927 was $11,238,939. Net for the fourth quarter of 1928 was $3,919,234. The consolidated income account for the 12 months ended December 31, 1928, compares as follows:

	Dec. 31,'28.	Dec. 31,'27.
Total earnings after deducting all expenses incident to operations, including repairs and maintenance of plants and estimated provision for all local, state and federal taxes	$21,659,953	$16,559,319

Steel Resumes Rise.

United States Steel resumed the advance today following yesterday's interruption, when the stock sank back a few points on profit-taking attracted by last week's 21-point rise. The same definite upward action was in evidence again today as huge blocks changed hands, with the price moving steadily higher. Above 190, the stock had crossed another notch in the advance from December's low of around 150. Right under 191 the stock hesitated to take the selling naturally forthcoming at the newly reached round-figure top. The price sagged back moderately under the offerings, but the Street felt certain the stock was consolidating the gain for a further push to the 200-level, where it will probably meet the heaviest selling of the swing. There has been nothing added to the rumors and gossip current at the end of the week other than that the corporation plans retirement of its 5 per cent bonds. Most observers place little stock in the bond redemption story, but the Street holds to its previous feeling that a stock dividend, probably three shares for every seven held, will be announced in the comparatively near future. A dividend of this size would represent a 100 per cent melon to those who had the shares prior to the last previous stock dividend of 40 per cent, as those original holders now have 140 for each 100 held formerly, and with a three-for-seven distribution they will have 200 shares as compared with 100 prior to the 40 per cent stock dividend in June, 1927.

At the close of 1927 U. S. Steel reported surplus of $633,044,914. Present surplus, including $26,000,000 back tax payment just received, is in the neighborhood of $700,000,000. It is likely that working capital position at present is around $575,000,000.

Anaconda-Chile Terms Announced.

A special meeting of Anaconda stockholders has been called March 14 for the purpose of considering a proposal to increase the capital stock to 12,000,000 shares, $50 par, from present capitalization of 6,000,000 shares of $50 par. The company states there is unissued Anaconda stock sufficient to complete the exchange for outstanding Chile interest. The proposed increased issue is to enable the company to carry out further plans of expansion and general corporate purposes. Anaconda has offered 73 shares of its stock for 100 shares of Chile copper. Anaconda already owns over 51 per cent of the outstanding stock of Chile Copper Company. Chile has 4,415,497 shares outstanding. After reaching new record highs in the stock market, Anaconda and Chile sold off on profit taking following the announcement. Chile directors raised the dividend again today, declaring a quarterly payment of 87½ cents as compared with the last previous payment of 75 cents. The 75 cent payment three months ago was also an advance as the company had been paying 62½ cents prior to that declaration.

Big Pool in Anaconda.

It is reported that a new 300,000-share pool has been formed in Anaconda Copper shares during the past week by interests which hitherto paid little attention to the stock. Anaconda's rise to the highest levels in history was due to buying by interests believing the stock was in position to duplicate the recent extensive upswing in steel. Insiders have been adding to their holdings rather than selling on the rise, and Anaconda appears to be in strong technical position. Copper metal buying is good on both foreign and domestic account. Some producers are asking 17 cents delivered in the domestic market, while others are refusing to sell, and it seems probable price will be advanced to 17 cents this week.

New Smelters Crosses 100.

American Smelting and Refining new stock was not long in joining the "Century Club" on the Exchange. The stock was admitted to the official list a short time ago after a few days on the Curb. It entered the big market around 90 and did not do anything for several days. This week it began to show strength and dashed over the 100 hurdle with ease around noon today. The new stock represents a three-for-one split-up of the old Smelters shares.

Prospects Favor Money Ease.

Money was in supply today with funds available outside at 5 per cent and on the exchange at 6 per cent. This condition should continue for a day or two, barring some unusual increase in demand. The effect of high money rates with its resulting weakening of foreign exchanges has at last brought a shipment of $2,500,000 gold from England. The shipment is significant especially in relation to the New York bank rate. News of the purchase of gold in London for New York account caused considerable relief in quarters where fears had been entertained regarding an advance in the New York bank rate. In view of the fact that sterling was already at a point where gold exports from England were made profitable to American bankers, it was evident that a higher rediscount charge at this center would be decidedly embarrassing to the Bank of England. Consequently, it was believed that no advance would be made at New York unless it became imperative and existing conditions in the credit markets indicate no such necessity. This situation gave impetus to the buying movement in the main body of stocks and many active issues swept ahead vigorously.

Pittsburgh Steel Earnings.

The Pittsburgh Steel Company reports for six months ended December 31 net profit of $1,743,270 after all charges, depreciation and federal tax, equivalent, after preferred dividends, to $5.43 a share on the common stock. The company is in strong financial condition. The current assets are $21,365,376, which are 10 times current liabilities of $2,150,419.

December quarter net profit was $837,448 after charges, equal, after preferred dividends, to $2.58 a common share, as against $905,448, or $2.85 a share, in the preceding quarter.

Republic Steel Improvements.

Republic Iron and Steel Company is reported to be improving its Youngstown factories this year as part of an improvement program to be carried out from the sale of new common stock producing $7,000,000 cash.

Independent steel producers in the Youngstown district are reported to be on a better basis than in the last quarter of 1928, the best period of that year, as result of price firmness and strong demand for steel. No signs of a letup are seen.

Coolidge Expects Surplus.

President Coolidge expects the government to close the fiscal year 1929 with a surplus and will make every effort to accomplish that end, it was learned at the White House. The margin on which the government is operated is small, and the President feels that great care will be necessary in bringing about a surplus.

Oil Investment Trust.

Formation of an oil investment trust is viewed as favorable for the oil shares. It is believed that only dividend paying stocks are to be purchased and this may reduce the floating supply of many of these shares. Naturally an improved technical position in the market for these stocks eventually must find reflection in higher prices. The situation in the oil industry is not yet as satisfactory as many had hoped for, but it is the belief that constructive steps will continue to be taken by leaders in the industry and that in time conditions will be favorable for the industry and for the securities of the leading companies.

December Rail Earnings.

Railroad earnings for December will begin to come out this week and are likely to be favorable for many of the leading roads. It is possible that the railroad group will be affected by the results, and this department may show more resistance to profit-taking at the moment than the industrials. Long range views on the rails continue optimistic, especially in quarters which should be familiar with fundamental conditions affecting the carriers. Interest has been created by the estimate of the Atlantic States Shippers' Advisory Board that business to be moved by basic industries in Atlantic states territory during the first quarter of this year will approximate 805,700 carloads, compared with 764,794 actually shipped in the same period a year ago. This will mean larger earnings for the eastern carriers.

Motor Shorts Trimmed.

Shorts in the automobile stocks received a trimming today and were forced to bid actively for stocks the greater part of the session. The move in the automobile division was led by General Motors. Strong buying of this issue, Chrysler, Nash and one or two of the accesories frightened the shorts and they covered quickly, although there was not much news to stimulate a buying wave in the stocks.

Brokers' Loan Ratio Down.

The New York Stock Exchange announced the total borrowings by members against stock collateral on January 1 amounted to 9.54 per cent of the value of all listed shares, a decrease of twelve hundredths of 1 per cent from the ratio as of December 1. The market value of listed shares increased during December by $1,358,797,983, totaling on January 1 $67,472,053,300. During the same period loans to brokers increased $48,096,246 to $6,439,740,511. The average market value of all shares, however, declined 4 cents during the month from $89.13 on December to $89.09 on January 1.

United States Steel's Bonds.

In connection with the continued accumulation of Steel common, a story is being circulated to the effect that the corporation plans to retire its 5 per cent bonds, and that common stockholders will receive the right to subscribe to additional stock at 105 to provide funds for this purpose. United States Steel has outstanding $171,572,000 5s of 1951, callable at 115, and $154,516,000 sinking fund 5s of 1963, callable at 110. However, it is noted that both issues are selling substantially below their callable prices, indicating that there are no immediate plans for their retirement.

Stock Trend Upward

WITHEROW SLIPS BACK IN STOCK MARKET HERE

The market quieted down somewhat on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today with prices in the early session showing no material changes except in Witherow Steel, which dropped back a few points following yesterday's sharp advance.

Witherow directors are scheduled to meet today to consider plans for the acquisition of another concern here and also to propose a change in the capital set-up through increase in the common stock. There are 75,000 shares of common at present outstanding. This, it is expected, will be increased and additional shares will be offered to present stockholders at $31.50 or $32 a share, according to rumors in the Street.

Pittsburgh Screw and Bolt continued to sell around the best level of the current movement. Demand and supply seemed to be fairly well balanced today, but the Street believes the supply is limited, and any new buying demand would push the stock on up to further new high levels. Bulls on the stock have placed a price tag of 100 on Screw and Bolt, and are confidently holding their stock awaiting developments. These are believed to include the announcement of acquisition of patents on a new airplane propeller and a merger with another industrial unit here. Gossip in connection with the latter angle is that Screw and Bolt will take over the Colona Manufacturing Company on an exchange basis of one Screw and Bolt for two Colona. Colona is not listed, but has been quoted nominally at 38 bid, 40 ask.

Pittsburgh Plate Glass was in steady demand around the new high levels attained in yesterday's market, when the stock took a further spurt in response to the imposition of higher import duty on polished plate glass. These higher tariffs average about 25 per cent above previous duties and will benefit Pittsburgh Plate and other plate glass producers substantially.

There was not much doing in the fuels. Prices were steady and the group displayed a slightly better tone than yesterday, but traders apparently were content to let the market rest.

Directors Double Anaconda Capital

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(INS.)—The Anaconda Copper Mining Company will increase its capital from $300,000,000 to $600,000,000 as soon as the proposal agreed upon by the directors of the corporation today is ratified by the stockholders of the company. The directors have offered minority stockholders of the Chile Copper Company, in exchange, 73 shares of Anaconda for every 100 shares of Chile held by them.

Back Home

THERE are friends and relatives back home you haven't seen for years. They'd like to hear from you once in a while.

Why not call them up for a little chat? (That's next best to seeing them.) It would take you so little time and trouble—and it would mean so much to them.

Expensive? Far from it.

You can go twenty-five or thirty miles by telephone for a quarter—up to sixty miles for a half dollar—a hundred miles for seventy-five cents—one hundred and fifty miles for a dollar.

STEEL CLIMBS TO NEW HIGH AT 190

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(AP.)—The stock market responded to slightly easier money today with a vigorous upturn, particularly in the metal and motor shares and specialties. More than a score of issues were lifted to new high ground, the old Dupont stock recording a maximum gain of 60 points.

Call money was in supply at an official rate of 6 per cent, which was shaded to 5 in the outside markete and bankers expressed the opinion that higher rates would be improbable until the end of the month. The inflow of gold from England was resumed for the first time since November with a shipment of $2,500,000, which inspired considerable bullish enthusiasm, although the Bank of England is expected to raise its rediscount rate before permitting the loss of any considerable amount of gold.

The attitude toward the credit situation in banking circles remained rather gloomy, however, as time money held at 7¾ per cent for the shorter maturities, and bankers' acceptance rates in some cases were higher than the rediscount rate. A rise in the rediscount rate of one of the interior reserve banks is regarded as likely at any time, paving the way for an increase at New York.

The day's news was largely favorable, including the second increase in the dividend rate of Chile Copper in three months, placing it on a $3.50 annual basis. It was reported that Anaconda had offered to exchange 73 shares of its stock for every 100 shares of Chile which it does not already hold. M. A. Hanna Company resumed dividends on the first preferred stock after a lapse of four years. An unfavorable development was further reductions in gasoline prices.

The old Du Pont stock touched 600 for the first time in its history. In initial trading on the big board, the new stock first sold at 155¾ and rose to 173. The old stock will be stricken from the list February 5.

A number of soft spots cropped out, as many traders were unwilling to follow the upswing under the present credit conditions. Otis Elevator and Case Threshing each lost about 10 points, Pillsbury Flour preferred 7, Warner Brothers Pictures and St. Joseph Lead 2 and 3 points. Wright Aero dropped 5 points, but rebounded 7.

The profit-taking in U. S. Steel appeared to have been absorbed and it again leaped forward, touching a new high for all time at 190, up 7 points. Some of the utilities forged ahead, Peoples Gas jumping 17 points to a record price at 240. Johns Manville, which sold under 100 last year, moved up more than 12 points to a new peak at 216. Motor Products jumped nearly 10 points in response to reports that current earnings are running at an unusually high rate.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The cotton market opened steady today at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 2 points. Near months were relatively easy under liquidation incident to the circulation of notices estimated at a little over 7,000 bales. January sold off to 20.11c right after the call, or 4 points net lower.

Other months eased a few points also, but there was enough buying from trade or local sources to steady prices around 20.18c for March and 17.79c for July. The general market ruled about net unchanged to 7 points higher at the end of the first half hour.

Private cables said that trade calling and Manchester buying had absorbed Bombay selling in Liverpool and that the cloth demand from China was well sustained but that from India poor.

MIO-QUA-COO-NA-CAW

IF Mio-Qua-Coo-Na-Caw, principal village chief of the Shawanee Indian nation, had possessed prophetic vision, he might have foreseen a magnificent "white man's tepee" rising twenty-five stories above the ancient burying ground of his ancestors. More than two hundred years after Mio-Qua-Coo-Na-Caw left for the "Happy Hunting Ground," the Oliver Building was erected on the very site where the Indian Chief was laid to rest.

Of strong steel and masonry, the Oliver Building presents a strange contrast to the diminutive Indian tepee of animal skins. The site upon which it was built was used by the Indians for a burying ground until the coming of the white man. Subsequently it was cut up into building lots on which fine residences were erected, later to be replaced by small shops of two and three stories. The Oliver Building was one of the first skyscrapers in Pittsburgh, and is still one of the two largest buildings in the Golden Triangle.

To the Tenants of the Oliver Building: The Mellon National Bank is only a few steps from your office. Here, under one roof, you will find every banking facility. Financial transactions, involving either foreign or domestic business, can be completed here with the utmost dispatch. Officers of the bank are always at your service.

DIVISION BASIS OF RADIATOR ANNOUNCED

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company announced yesterday that it has made a firm proposal to the officials of the American Radiator Company for a merging of the interests of the two companies on a basis of exchange of one share of American Radiator Company common stock for three and two-thirds shares of Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company common stock.

This was the first official statement of the terms. Standard Sanitary closed yesterday at 52 and American Radiator at 205. The stocks have been maintaining this approximate relationship to each other for several weeks, indicating that the general impression on the Street was that the exchange would be a one for four proposition.

ON THE basis announced yesterday Standard should be selling at about 55⅞ when Radiator is at 205.

It must be remembered, however, that the tentative plan has not been acted upon by the boards of directors of the two companies. American Radiator directors will meet on January 29 and Standard Sanitary directors on January 31.

No statement was made as to the probable distribution of preferred stock of the companies. It was pointed out by an official that the preferred issues of both companies are small so that little difficulty should be experienced in providing for them. The preferred issues of both companies are non-callable so that complete retirement of the issues is unlikely.

STANDARD SANITARY common stockholders still are likely to take a loss in dividend return. At the present annual rate the dividends on three and two-thirds shares of Sanitary common would be about $6.15. Radiator is paying $5 annually, but it is understood that this might be increased to $6.

It is generally believed that the future prospects of the combined companies would more than compensate for the reduction in dividend to the Standard Sanitary stockholders. Savings in operating and distributing costs in addition to the sales advantages to be secured make the outlook for greater earnings and increased dividends in the future very bright.

During the past few months there has been much talk of the growing export market for automobiles. Other American industries have been showing a similar development.

SHIPMENTS of electrical equipment from the United States in November established a new high record since the war and exceeded those of the corresponding period of 1927 by $789,607 according to the Department of Commerce.

Shipments for the month amounted to $10,851,811. The value of electrical goods exported during the 11 months was also high. This amounted to $100,472,387, a gain of $8,183,839 compared with 1927.

Refrigeration sets, up to one-ton capacity, showed the largest gain during the month. Exports rose from $471,805 to $799,872. Radio apparatus made the next gain over November, 1927, rising $361,687.

AUSTRALIA was the largest customer of American electrical goods during November. Exports to that country alone showed an increase of $358,488 alone.

The Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh has had exceptionally good results with the sale of its new offering of $20,000,000 of Pittsburgh Coal 6 per cent debentures yesterday. Within five minutes the offering was oversubscribed by dealers and the books were closed. This does not mean that all of the bonds have found their way to the hands of the investment public but it does indicate that the dealers have the utmost confidence in the demand for the offering. The yield of 6 per cent was unusually high for a security with such great assets behind it.

Obituary

Joseph C. Grooms.

Joseph C. Grooms, 68, died yesterday at his home, 5811 Wayne road. Mr. Grooms was born at Carmichaels, Greene county. He entered the service of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in 1881 at Brownsville. In 1890 he was appointed general agent for the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company at Elizabeth, and in 1895 he was made general real estate agent of that company at Pittsburgh, which position he held at the time of his death. He was a member of the Emory Methodist Episcopal Church. He was secretary and treasurer of the Pittsburgh-Erie Saw Company, member of Stephen Bayard Masonic Lodge No. 526, F. & A. M.; Syria Temple and Pennsylvania Consistory, Valley of Pittsburgh. He leaves his wife, two sisters, Mrs. W. W. Blayney, Pittsburgh; Mrs. John Van Voorhis, Monongahela, and a brother, C. E. Grooms, Brownsville.

Major Funeral.

Funeral services for Samuel Dunn Major, 62, who died Sunday at South Side Hospital, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at his home, 1220 Chelton avenue, Brookline. Burial will be made tomorrow in Mt. Royal Cemetery. Mr. Major was born in County Down, Ireland. He was in the mercantile business in Washington County for 20 years. He was a member of Richard Vaux Lodge, F. & A. M., of Burgettstown, and the Pennsylvania Consistory. He leaves his wife, Mary Fondersmith Major; two daughters, Mrs. Mildred Farner and Miss Ruth Major; three sons, Dr. S. Glenn Major, of Rochester, Minn.; Ralph and Paul Major; four sisters and two brothers.

Mrs. John Beck

Funeral services were held today for Mrs. Elizabeth Beck, 73, wife of John Beck, who died Saturday in her home, 132 Pius street, South Side. Services were held in St. Michael's Church this morning and burial followed in St. Michael's Cemetery. Born in Germany, Mrs. Beck came to Pittsburgh when a girl. She was a member of St. Michael's Church and several church societies. She leaves her husband, three sons and three daughters.

For the furnishing and delivery of one (1) lot of violation tags for the Bureau of Traffic Planning.

For the furnishing and delivery of buckets, sponges, chamois, towels, white and red lead and nails for the Department of Supplies Warehouse.

For the furnishing of Asphalt, Asphalt filler, cable, cast iron pipe and special castings, castings (street, sewer and miscellaneous) fire hydrants and parts, fire and police alarm equipment, gate valves and parts, pig lead, sand and slag for the year 1929.

Bids to be accompanied by a bond of two freeholders of Allegheny County, probated before the City Clerk or the Assistant City Clerk or the bond of a surety company which has complied with the ordinance relative to the furnishing of bonds for City contracts.

The Mayor and the Director of the Department of Supplies reserve the right to reject any or all bids submitted.

CHARLES H. KLINE,
Mayor.
BERTRAM L. SUCCOP,
Director.

BUGS BAER Says

Arthur "Bugs" Baer

ROBBERY in New York has now reached a stylish pitch as high as the top button on Beau Brummel's best vest.

The boys who recently put the finger on Park avenue's most exclusive jewelry garage were such splendid mannikins that they would make a finale hopper look like a cake-eater's crumbs.

The boys have been calling on the retail trade and doing very well.

Their exquisite choice in personal adornment caused them to pass up the half-million dollar Nassak diamond as being too vulgar.

They looked over the Nassak chunk of ice and discarded it. The leader said:

"Too big. There should be a polar bear on it."

If it had been a ruby they could have used it as a tail light.

There are no more gangs in New York. They are well dressed cliques.

They had left their pearl-handled evening gats at home.

Their walking sticks were slightly weighted on the southern end with six pounds of lead. The extra ballast enabled them to point out objects of interest.

There were four members of this latest pilgrimage of serious thinkers. The leader had just sent Dapper Dan home because his spats didn't match his necktie.

They then scooped up a couple of hundred dollars worth of rare and costly building material and marched out in double-breasted splendor.

The proprietor, not to be outdone in Oriental politeness, asked them to call again as he was expecting a new load of fresh Koh-i-noor berries.

By the time the police got there with their dancing shoes, the orchestra had left.

The police strong-arm squad is anxious to get in touch with this quartet. Object, singing lessons.

BAA BAA BLACK SHEEP!

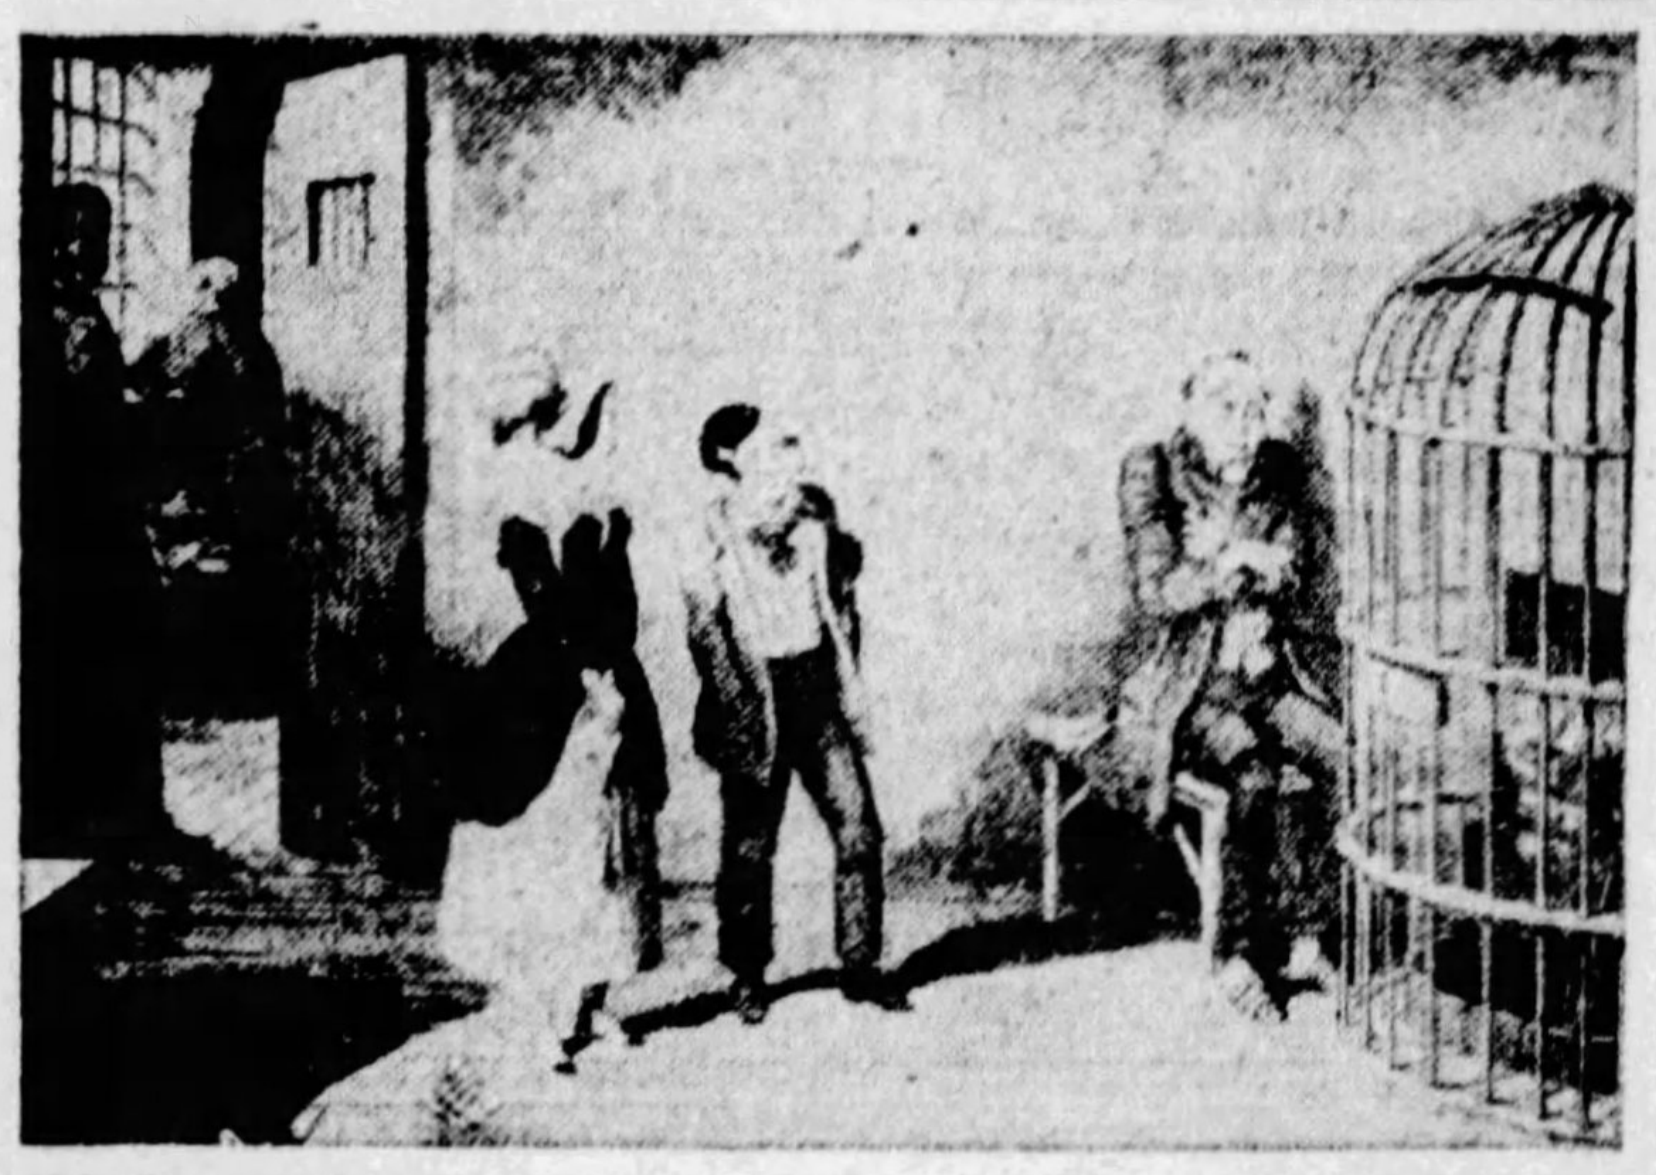

PLATE VIII.—The moral of this pictorial sermon is simply this: Pay up your back dues to the Anti-Saloon League or go to jail. Study this etching carefully. Slavery to the bottle does not pay, although—although—papa will still admit, with a twinkle in his eye, that it was a whole lot of fun while it lasted. But what of the children? Yes, what of the children! Here they are, making wise cracks and turning deaf ears to their father's moral advice. Have a care, my pretty creatures—or tomorrow you will find yourselves in the papers. And the publicity will be none too good for you!

This morn at breakfastide I did expostulate on marriage and quote from Lord Chesterfield thus—

"There be but two objects in marriage, love and money. If you marry for love, you will certainly have some very happy days, and probably some very uneasy ones; if for money, you will have no happy days and probably no uneasy ones."

And it please me to see my poor zaney's eyes pop at my greate wisdom, albeit she did call me an "maxim-monger who prefer the prettiness to the justice of an thought."

6,000,000 New Cars in 1929. GET YOURS

Save TIME, Increase WEALTH, Build HEALTH, See Your Country, ENJOY LIFE With Your Family

This is written for two kinds of families, two kinds of people—those that have a car and ought to get another or a better, and those that HAVEN'T any car.

This nation is ahead of all others in wealth, so far ahead that there is no comparison.

It is ahead of others in health, constantly lowering the death rate.

For the wealth and the health the nation is largely indebted to 25,000,000 automobiles now running in this country, saving time, effort, supplying fresh air, cheerfulness and the mental happiness that prolong life.

Automobile makers, amazingly efficient, forever dissatisfied with things accomplished, every year producing greater results and greater values, will manufacture this year about 6,000,000 new automobiles, perhaps more. GET YOURS.

The richest country in the world has by several hundred per cent the greatest number of automobiles possessed by any nation.

Extravagance consists not in buying an automobile but in not HAVING an automobile.

The automobile contributes in health by taking its owners out into fresh air and sunshine.

It contributes to mental health, because it brings cheerfulness, keeps the family united, all its members, from the grandfather and grandmother to the new baby, enjoying happiness at the same time TOGETHER.

When you go to see the Automobile Show take your children, and especially your wife. Take an interest in the new cars, the latest achievements; teach your children to be interested in them.

Study and understand the new devices, brakes that make 60 miles an hour safer for yourself and for the pedestrian than 20 miles an hour once was.

Investigate and understand new, marvelous, automatic oiling systems, that protect your car from wear, protect it even from your own or your chauffeur's neglect.

Above all, make yourself acquainted with the extraordinary values in actual PRICE and the more extraordinary values in LONG WEAR that automobile makers offer you.

The good car of today, if you give it care, will last almost a lifetime. Fortunately for the automobile makers, whose prosperity is the nation's prosperity, the average American wants something new, THE LATEST, and passes on his car, that still has 50,000 or 100,000 "miles" left in it, to some other user. That helps a great industry, adds to employment, and is all for the good of the country.

The value of the modern car is amazing, whether you pay the highest price for a machine that will run smoothly 250,000 miles, or whether you pay a low price for another machine that will ALSO run smoothly for 250,000 miles.

Investigate, understand, talk to those that know.

Not to have a car in these days is practically to be IN PRISON. You wouldn't stay in prison if you could help it; don't remain without an automobile if you can help it. And you can help it.

Cars can be bought on easy instalments. There was never a better purchase.

Every dollar that you pay on the purchase of your car you get back in health, clearer thinking, a more intelligent interest in the world.

If you can afford a big car, GET a big car, and also a small one to use less gas and give cheap transportation.

If you can't afford a big car, then get a SMALLER car. IT WILL HELP YOU TO AFFORD A BIGGER ONE.

First, see the big Automobile Show at Motor Square Garden. Take all your family.

Second, BUY YOURSELF AN AUTOMOBILE.

Naval Bill Failure Would ake It People's Duty to Discipline Republicans

Let us not forget a few salient facts that bear directly upon the naval replacement bill now before the Senate.

In the first place, this bill marks no departure from our naval policy. It is only a belated step in the carrying out of that policy.

If we build the 15 10,000-ton cruisers authorized by this bill, our Navy will then have only 305,000 tonnage in cruisers.

And this total is nearly 90,000 tons less than the British tonnage in cruisers.

Therefore, even after all the modern cruisers authorized by the pending bill have been added to our fleet, it will still be far below the 5-5-3 ratio agreed upon by the United States, Great Britain and Japan under the Hughes naval treaty as the relative strength of their naval forces during the life of that treaty.

For the Senate to permit the pending bill to be defeated by a filibuster would, as Senator Swanson of Virginia said the other day, give great satisfaction to certain British politicians. They would promptly hail the defeat of this bill as an abandonment by the United States of equality with the British as the permanent naval policy of this country.

On the other hand, the passage of this bill would prove the determination of the United States to adhere to the naval policy outlined in the Hughes naval treaty. And that treaty could never have been ratified by the Senate but for the solemn promise of its supporters that for the future the United States in exchange for naval SUPREMACY had accepted naval EQUALITY with the British.

Sixty-eight senators have signified their intention of voting for the pending bill and supporting our naval policy of equality with the British. Only 18 senators have thus far refused to do likewise. And of the 18 not more than 12 will dare vote in open Senate against the pending bill.

All that is needed to pass this bill, which has the overwhelming support of public sentiment in this country, is for the Republican leaders of the Senate to give the 68 senators in favor of this measure a chance to vote upon it before adjournment.

It was a REPUBLICAN President and a REPUBLICAN Congress which surrendered our naval supremacy eight years ago. And under a REPUBLICAN administration, REPUBLICAN congresses for the last eight years have deliberately refused to perform the constitutional obligation of the Congress "to provide and maintain a navy."

If the present Republican Senate fails to bring the naval replacement bill to a vote at this session, that failure will only add to the disgraceful record of the REPUBLICAN PARTY in dealing with the Navy ever since the Republicans were restored to power at both ends of Pennsylvania avenue in March, 1921.

It is up to the Republican party, therefore, to prevent the defeat by a filibuster of the naval replacement bill.

And the failure of the Republican party to do that will make it the duty of the American people to discipline that party for unpatriotic neglect of duty at the next election.

If Only Every Boy Could Understand the Truth of Jaworski's Last Message!

Jaworski has met the extreme fate the law provides for those who outrage it as he did. His going marks above other things the fact that crime does not pay. So thoroughly was he convinced of that that he pleaded with newspapermen to do something to keep the wandering feet of youth off the crooked pathway that leads to destruction.

His message is doubly impressive because he spoke as a man without moral compunction. No belief in hereafter ever restrained him in the desperate acts of his life nor consoled him at his end. What effect crime has on the soul was not thought of as a factor. Only hard, matter-of-fact consideration of one mode of life over another.

Life had netted him nothing, he said—that is, nothing of value—only unhappiness, suffering, anguish. Only the life of a hunted creature. Separation from those whom he loved and by whom he was loved.

"It was hell—black hell," are the words he used to describe it.

And he asked the newspapers to help to keep the youngsters from following his example. We hope that each boy in danger of becoming a gangster will read his message and that it will be burned deeply into his consciousness.

Even "successful" crime is hell.

Oh, if only every boy, with life before him, could be made to realize that!

Another significant thing about Jaworski's end is that it pleased him far more than life imprisonment. He said he committed no "jobs" in Michigan because he was afraid of the life imprisonment law. He came into Pennsylvania instead, a state where murder is punishable by death.

Is not this sufficient evidence that our way of punishing the murderer is less humane than life imprisonment and no more effective—if as effective—than the less harsh penalty?

Tales That Are Told

Spendthrifts

A SCOTCHMAN, his wife, and two sons paid a visit to London. After visiting a museum they wandered through the streets, and then walked boldly into a fashionable restaurant. A waiter handed a menu card.

"Take that away an' bring us two bottles o' lemonade and fower tumblers," ordered the Scot.

The two bottles were brought, whereupon his wife opened a capacious handbag and produced several sandwiches, which she proceeded to share out among the family. Dumfounded, the waiter reported the occurrence to the manager.

The latter advanced to the table and, pointing to the two empty lemonade bottles, asked if that was all they intended to order.

"Well," said the Scot, "we're a' sports, an' if you ask your band to play a Scotch selection we'll maybe hae anither bottle o' lemonade!"

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

IT ain't true, of course, that all fathers and mothers think their new babies are beautiful, while everybody else thinks they're terrible. Why, a lot of people will admit, years afterward, that maybe their kids weren't very pretty when they were only a few days old.

But one of these fathers you hear about in the stories was taking all his friends from the Rotary Club up to see his new kid at the hospital. One fellow that owed him money felt like he had to go, but he was a bachelor and didn't like any kind of kids, especially new ones.

The father says, "say, ain't that a fine kid, Bill? Tell me the truth, now, which side of the house do you think he gets his features from?"

"Well," says the debtor, getting kinda independent, "if you ask me, I'll say he gets his face from the top side of the barn."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

MY friend Isabelle has written a wise and beautiful verse. Here it is:

"Courage is a tall, straight tree,
"Happiness is a bird in the air—
"Faith and courage grow forests around us—
"Happiness lights sometimes, here and there."

We can plant many things in those plots.

We can plant flowers—or weeds
Tall trees of courage or tall thistles of fear.

BUT WE CANNOT PLANT HAPPINESS.

Courage is within our control—
Tenderness is within our control—
Wisdom and industry are within our control—
Even peace is within our control—

BUT HAPPINESS IS NOT WITHIN OUR CONTROL.

We cannot grow happiness nor trap it nor tame it to our needs.

A burst of light—
A glimpse of God—
But it is only a glimpse, an echo, a flash—

HAPPINESS CANNOT BE HELD.

And because we will not recognize this fact we spend our lives in resentment, disappointment and rebellion.

We are sure that if we could meet the right person, find the right job, live in the right place, we could be happy. So we go on making endless experiments — always hoping to make happiness a constant, abiding condition.

BUT HAPPINESS WILL NOT ABIDE CONSTANTLY.

And that is well. For if we could hold happiness, if we could always be joyful and content we would never grow, never adventure, and life would cease.

WE CANNOT TRAP HAPPINESS.

But we can prepare a resting place for happiness if it should come our way.

We can make our lives fit for happiness.

We can make them noble with the tall trees of the spirit and the gracious flowers of the mind—

Then some day that lovely bird may rest awhile in passage and fill our garden with the wonder of its song.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

"JUST like a man; you want something and you expect it to jump up and say 'here am I!'"

A married woman spoke thus to her husband who was complaining that he could not find something that he wanted.

Does this case aptly apply to you?

You become irritable if you cannot immediately find what you are seeking.

Perhaps it is close at hand but your impatience prevents you from seeing it or from making as thorough a search as you should to find what you want.

If the house is to retain a tidy appearance they don't remain there. Someone hangs them up.

Unless there is a regular place for your things they cannot be found readily by anyone but the one who put them away.

Bible Passages

Jesus Arraigned

(John 18; 28-40.)

THEN led they Jesus from Caiaphas unto the hall of judgment: and it was early; and they themselves went not into the judgment hall, lest they should be defiled; but that they might eat the passover.

Pilate then went out unto them, and said, What accusation bring ye against this man?

They answered and said unto him, If he were not a malefactor, we would not have delivered him up unto thee.

Then said Pilate unto them, Take ye him, and judge him according to your law. The Jews therefore said unto him, It is not lawful for us to put any man to death:

That the saying of Jesus might be fulfilled, which he spake, signifying what death he should die.

Then Pilate entered into the judgment hall again, and called Jesus, and said unto him, Art thou the King of the Jews?

Jesus answered him, Sayest thou this thing of thyself, or did others tell it thee of me?

Pilate answered, Am I a Jew? Thine own nation and the chief priests have delivered thee unto me: what hast thou done?

Jesus answered, My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, then would my servants fight, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence.

Pilate therefore said unto him, Art thou a king then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth. Every one that is of the truth heareth my voice.

Pilate saith unto him, What is truth? And when he had said this, he went out again unto the Jews, and saith unto them, I find in him no fault at all.

But ye have a custom, that I should release unto you one at the passover: will ye therefore that I release unto you the King of the Jews?

Then cried they all again, saying, Not this man, but Barabbas. Now Barabbas was a robber.

Neutral Ground

By Herbert Kaufman

THE Declaration of Independence was the first Bill of Spiritual Rights—a Magna Charta of tolerance, which proposed that no citizen should be privileged or trammeled by his beliefs. And that decision was the nation's cradle-cry.

Pilgrim, Quaker, Covenanter and Cavalier colonization were launched on waves of persecution.

Rankling memories of ancestral suffering, humiliation and fanaticism warned the architects of this Republic against the intrusion of religious authority into state affairs.

They foresaw how clerical power might some day control legislative judgment and employ the forces of government to humble and degrade minority sects.

Old World experience had taught them that discrimination against one creed was simply a method of imposing the absolutism of other creeds: that the exclusion from office of any one creed would, in effect, be the limiting to office of dominant creeds.

Should this come to pass, bigotry would soon be offering the bribes of leadership and distinction to strengthen its grasp upon national control, thereby debarring from national service vast areas of talent, genius and capacity.

Such a consummation would violate all guarantees of equality, and brand dissenting groups with civic and, ultimately, with social inferiority.

It is not the interest of religion in politics that need alarm us, but, rather, the intimidating investment of politics by religion.

The introduction of a hierarchy is the first stone in the foundation of an aristocracy.

If the granting of highest honors may be decided and monopolized by any commanding church influence, religious nepotism must inevitably perpetuate its chosen succession of favorites.

And finally establish a caste able to lift its own members exclusively to power. Also, permanently sentence non-conformists, first to a politically and then to an economically inferior estate.

Lest we create pariah classes in a democracy, patriotism demands the constant re-statement of the faiths in which our liberties are sealed.

We cannot too often cry the shibboleths composed to beat of drum and peal of cannon on Boston Common and at the Crossroads of Lexington: "Freedom for all, opportunity for all, and the unprejudiced right of each American to think according to his convictions and his conscience."

O. O. McINTYRE

AT Sea—Old Lady Atlantic, the hussy, has settled down after acting up and showing off the way she did yesterday. The big liner moves with the placidity of a swan on a lake. A marvelous red sun, like a bloated tangerine, hangs high, dappling the spray with prisms of pink. It is a nice buggy ride.

Everybody seems in a mood, tra, la, to leap for buttercups. But a slight squall and back we go to our cabins to look pale and interesting and nibble at a water cracker. Such is the way of the ol' debbil sea. Booming voices in the bar are demanding whisky sours, dry martinis and such.

Deck chair loungers are becoming acquainted. Mr. Roy Burton, of the Olathe, Kan., Burtons, is parading in his new plaid golf pants. Miss Minnie Clark has turned to her lorgnetted neighbor—listed as "Duchess de Polivine and maid"—and inquired brightly: "First trip?" and received a curt: "one hundred and eighteenth."

And the usal voyage romances are burgeoning. Young people are pairing off and by dusk will be quitting the promenade for the top deck to await the moon and the old, old story. The eagle eyed card sharks are spotting their prey. And the poor gent across the companionway still has the heaves.

Our cabin boy Charlot, in his flaming red uniform and tambourine cap is 16 years old and cannot remember how many times he has crossed the ocean. Some day, he says, he is going to be master of a ship, and he blushes delightfully at the suggestion he has a girl in every port, the little Romeo.

Among the familiar faces are those of Mrs. Irvin Cobb, Prof. John Erskine, C. F. Bertilli, George Ullman, a gentleman who once pushed me off a New York sidewalk for stepping on his foot, and another gentleman who owes me $30. Small world, mates. And then there is Henry Villar, the purser.

M. Villar abandoned a great legal maritime practice to follow the sea. He is the supreme essence of French politeness. For every lady he has a jack-knife bow and a hand kiss. His voice is a silken caress and he seems more fitted for a Lonsdale boudoir drama than the rough and tumble life of the ocean.

I like to round up in the Grand Guignol in the late afternoon to see the Punch and Judy show for the children. Other old rams are there explaining they come merely to watch the children—the liars. They come just as I to see the show. The maestro is a venerable Frenchman—M. Antoine—who is winding up his days as a magician with a traveling circus amusing the kiddies. He tells me he has a son who is a ranch owner in Montana. He is 81.

At the Guignol are many little children of the rich with their governesses. At five and six these American tots understand and speak French perfectly which is quite confusing to those of us who have struggled for years to master enough phrases to order a meal and then when handed a menu always go up in our lines.

* * *

It seems to me steamship lines should abandon the custom of listing passengers as first, second and third class. That is rank undeserved snobbery. As a matter of fact, some of the most distinguished and certainly the most interesting passengers travel second class. Among them you find no glittering questionables and new rich showoffs. They are mostly the seasoned travelers who know the ropes and have learned they can travel just as comfortably at a cheaper price. If it weren't for this distinction nearly all of us would travel second class. Just a fussbudget.

On the promenade deck today two Frenchmen with glistening spade-shaped beards seemed to be in the throes of epileptic seizures—waving their arms, rolling their eyes and exchanging torrents of conversation. Then they stopped suddenly, held each other at arm lengths and bestowed kisses on each cheek. I don't know whether it was a fight or frolic; but it was dandy fun to watch. Nor was it nice for a passing cloak and suiter in a big plaid cap to cry out: "Get hot, boys!"

Lady (rather enthusiastically)—I hear Adolph Menjou is among the passengers.
Gentleman (rather bored)—Yeah? What am I supposed to do—run a temperature?

And I have found an admirer in a San Franciscan in the smoking room. "I read everything," he said, "that you and Neysa McMein write."

Isn't It So?

It is just as well to keep your trouble to yourself till you meet someone who is out looking for it.

A hick town is a place where nobody dares to be mayor except the man who hasn't any business to lose.
